MIZUNO WGCA COACHES POLL RANKINGS ANNOUNCED

CORAL SPRINGS, Florida (May 6, 2022) – The Women's Golf Coaches Association (WGCA) has announced the results of the most recent Mizuno WGCA Coaches Poll. This is the fourth and final poll of the 2022 spring season.

In Division I, Stanford University remains No. 1 with 10 first-place votes while University of Oregon trails closely behind at No. 2 after receiving the remaining seven votes. The rest of the top-five remains unchanged with University of South Carolina at No. 3, followed by Wake Forest University and San Jose State University at No. 4 and No. 5, respectively.

Dallas Baptist University continues to hold the top spot in Division II with all but one first-place vote, followed by Lynn University at No. 2 with the remaining vote. Limestone University moves up one spot to No. 3, while Anderson University moves up two spots to No. 4. Barry University rounds out the top-five.

Emory University received all but three first-place votes to remain atop the Division III rankings, while Carnegie Mellon University holds steady at No. 2 with one vote. Methodist University received two first-place votes to remain at No. 3, while George Fox University moves up one spot to No. 4. University of Redlands and Williams College finish in a tie for fifth-place.

In NAIA, Oklahoma City University remains the unanimous No. 1, Keiser University and Dalton State College each hold steady at No.2 and No. 3, respectively.

About the Women's Golf Coaches Association

The Women's Golf Coaches Association, founded in 1983, is a non-profit organization representing women's collegiate golf coaches. The WGCA was formed to encourage the playing of college golf for women in correlation with a general objective of education and in accordance with the highest tradition of intercollegiate competition. Today, the WGCA represents over 650 coaches throughout the U.S. and is dedicated to educating, promoting and recognizing both its members and the student-athletes they represent.
