

Balancing Act

Balancing work-life issues was the topic on a recent panel discussion sponsored by the Women Lawyers Association of Los Angeles. Speaking to an audience of 75, panelists explored strategies for building a successful law practice and managing a fulfilling personal life. The panelists included Stacy Phillips, far left, of Phillips, Lerner, Lauzon & Jamra in Los Angeles; Harriet Posner (obscured) of Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meager & Flom in Los Angeles; Los Angeles County Superior Court Judge Patricia Schnegg; Loyola Law School professor Ted Seto; ADR Services President Lucie Barron; and Los Angeles-based lawyer Joan Kessler (not pictured). Kessler moderated the May 18 panel discussion, titled "Get a Life and Stay Successful: Balancing Work, Life, and Family," held at Skadden's offices.

JENNIFER HAMM / Daily Journal