Dear Friend,

On behalf of the 5th World Parkinson Congress (WPC 2019) Fundraising Committee, we invite you to support the WPC 2019, to be held at the International Conference Center in Kyoto, Japan from June 4 – 7, 2019.

The WPC 2019 will once again unite the global Parkinson community for a high-level, scientific, and educational program. Organized into four days of pre-congress courses, plenary sessions, workshops, and discussions, WPC 2019 will explore the most recent and cutting edge basic science and clinical research as well as advances in treatments designed to improve care and quality of life for people living with Parkinson’s disease.

We expect delegates to come from more than 60 countries and to represent neuroscientists, movement disorder specialists, geriatricians, clinicians, nurses, rehabilitation specialists, people with Parkinson’s, care partners, policy makers and others. The WPC 2019 follows on the success of the most recent WPC 2016 in Portland, Oregon, USA, which attracted 4,546 delegates from 67 countries. The triennial World Parkinson Congresses provide a unique opportunity for the Parkinson community to learn about the latest developments in the field of Parkinson’s disease and for sponsors to meet some of the world’s leaders across the Parkinson space form the researchers, clinicians, and patient advocates. The experience for sponsors is unparalleled in the world of Parkinson conferences.

We look to our supporters in the pharmaceutical industry, corporate world, and nonprofit community to ensure the success of this very important meeting through contributions and partnerships.

Please review the attached prospectus and consider supporting the WPC 2019. Many of the items are limited and offered on a first-come, first-served basis. Don’t miss out!

We look forward to seeing you in Kyoto and to thanking you in person for your generous support.

Each World Parkinson Congress is a highly scientific international forum for the latest scientific discoveries, medical practices, and care initiatives related to Parkinson’s disease. Each Congress brings movement disorder specialists, physicians, neuroscientists, neurologists, nurses, rehabilitation specialists, care partners, family members, people with Parkinson’s, along with government and policy representatives together under one roof, for an engaging dialogue to help expedite the discovery of a cure and identify best treatment practices for this devastating disease.

The official language of the World Parkinson Congress is English. WPC 2019 is open to citizens of ALL countries. A special track will be offered in Japanese to families and people with Parkinson’s in Kyoto.

Congress Objectives
- To provide a forum for the presentation of high quality and original basic and clinical scientific research.
- To promote the exchange of clinical, practical, and scientific ideas.
- To provide an educational program appropriate for all those interested in Parkinson’s disease.
- To offer continuing education opportunities for health professionals.
- To give delegates the opportunity to network with colleagues and peers from the global PD community.
- To allow those living with Parkinson’s disease the opportunity to interact with and influence those involved in the treatment of, or research into, PD, and conversely, to give clinicians and scientists an insight into the perspective of someone living with the disease.

Founded over 1,200 years ago, Kyoto enjoys a unique combination of outstanding traditional architecture and beautiful nature alongside a cutting-edge culture of learning, research, and business. Proud conservators of Japanese heritage, from tea ceremony and sake brewing to kimono wearing, swordsmanship and more, the city’s 1.5 million inhabitants are also knowledge leaders and innovators, with 12 of the country’s 22 Nobel laureates having a direct connection to the city and her institutions.

Amidst the dynamic modernity of today’s Japan, this ancient capital offers a plethora of temples, gardens, palaces and shrines to explore, including 17 UNESCO World Cultural Heritage Sites. Compact and accessible with an excellent transit system, Kyoto is a safe and friendly destination for travelers.

The 5th World Parkinson Congress will be held in the Kyoto International Conference Center (ICC Kyoto), located at Takaragaike, Sakyo-ku, Kyoto 606-0001 Japan. While based on traditional Japanese styles, the architecture has a modern, richly individual sense, including three-dimensional and spatial art forms as part of the interior and a comfortably spacious lobby and lounge. With a splendid Japanese-style garden facing the Takaragaike Lake for delegates to walk through, everything is unified into a conference center that stimulates rich exchange and interaction.

The Kyoto International Conference Center is centrally located and easily accessible from the airport by train.
To make your trip to Kyoto a seamless experience, we are working with a Japan-based company to manage the official WPC 2019 Housing Bureau and coordinate all hotel needs for people attending the congress. We encourage all participants to visit our website WPC2019.org to connect to the WPC 2019 Housing Bureau and book their rooms for all individual and group requirements.

http://bit.ly/2pbDHMg
- Tim Hague, RN, WPC Committee member, and Person with Parkinson's

“That was my first experience at a conference of that level. I was extremely pleased. Only wish I could have gone to every session.”
- Non-Profit Worker

“It was my first experience in the Parkinson’s world and it was a very positive experience for me. Moving me to tears, to laughter, and aha moments. Being among Parkys and scientists was PERFECT. Please keep that aspect. I think it is part of what makes WPC shine.”
- Post-Doctoral Student

“This was a very well organized congress with lots of variety. The committee who put this together are to be commended. I think it was one of the best conferences I’ve been to.”
- Speech Language Pathologist

“I’ve gone to many professional conferences. This one was by far the best planned in just about every way. I will never part with my copy of the 131-page Final Program (or the disclosure list). It is a testament to all of the planning that went into this Congress.”
- Care Partner

“I really enjoyed this conference and was happy to have been informed about it and glad that I attended. I would have liked to have spent more time at the entire event and hopefully, in 2019, I will be able to do that”
