ASSOCIATION FOR PLAY THERAPY

TWENTY-FIRST ANNUAL ASSOCIATION FOR PLAY THERAPY INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE

OMNI INTERLOCKEN RESORT
PRE-CONFERENCE OCTOBER 5 • 6 • 7
CONFERENCE OCTOBER 8 • 9
The 21st Annual Association for Play Therapy International Conference

Play Therapy: Reaching New Heights in the Rockies!!

Introduction

The mission of the Association for Play Therapy is to advance the psychosocial development and mental health of people through play and play therapy by promoting the understanding of play and play therapy, the effective practice of play therapy through training, research and support, the recognition, incorporation, and preservation of diversity in play and play therapy and the development and maintenance of a strong professional organization to accomplish these objectives.

Conference Goals

The 2004 Conference provides opportunities for US and non-US psychologists, social workers, counselors, marriage & family therapists, and other mental health professionals to 1) earn continuing education credit for licensure or credentialing purposes, 2) learn more about play therapy research, theories, and techniques, 3) network with play therapy authors, presenters, peers, APT leadership and staff during post sessions, facilitated dialogues, and various special events, 4) acquire new play therapy publications, play room toys, and other products from exhibitors, and 5) attend the Annual Meeting and other business forums. Presentations will address new concepts such as using music, working with teens, brain research, and include ideas borrowed from other specialties, e.g. sandtray, psychopharmacology, and professional development—all under the blue Colorado sky!

Conference Objectives

Following conference attendance, participants will:

- Be informed of the most recent research on the importance of play.
- Be aware of the current research in the field of play therapy.
- Have met some of the training requirements for play therapist registration and continuing education for licensure.
- Appreciate the variety and diversity in the field of play therapy.
- Have laughed, played, and shared vital information and ideas with others who sincerely believe in helping others heal through play.

Audience

The Association for Play Therapy International Conference is intended for a multidisciplinary audience, including professionals in the fields of Social Work, Counseling, Psychology, Family Therapy, Child Life Therapy, Psychiatry, Nursing, Education, and Graduate Students. For more information on APT, please visit our website at www.a4pt.org.

Pre-Conference Workshops
tuesday, October 5

7:30 am - 9:00 am  Registration Open
8:30 am - 4:00 pm  Pre-Conference Workshops

Tu-1  Using Play Themes in Play Assessment and for Understanding Play Therapy Processes
(I/A) Helen Benedict (Cognitive-attachment)

Overview: A systematic approach for identifying play themes and relationships will be presented. Data from studies, supplemented by case materials and video, will be used to describe ways to use play themes both in play assessment and therapy.

Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) describe the ways children use metaphorical themes and relationships in play therapy and be able to list several common themes seen in children's play; 2) describe the patterns of themes used for boys and girls in various groups defined by their history; 3) describe the use of play themes as an assessment technique; 4) describe several therapeutic responses based on cognitive-attachment theories to children's play themes.

Tu-2  Learning the Language of Play: It's All in The Translation
(I/A) Linda Homeyer (Adlerian)

Overview: This presentation will provide a format through which play therapists can "translate" the child-client's non-verbal play communication. A structured format, including worksheets, will be explained and practiced. Actual play therapy sessions will be viewed, analyzed, and summarized.

Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) use a structured format to interpret play therapy sessions; 2) list the guidelines for "translation" of non-verbal play communication; 3) experience an increase in feelings of competency for intermediate play therapists; 4) identify several themes and sources of same; 5) identify the limitations of this model.

Tu-3  Sandtray Storytelling and Mental Integration
(B/I/A) Theresa Kestly (Eclectic)

Overview: Participants will explore concepts of sandtray storytelling for therapy with groups in both clinics and schools. Applying ideas from current brain research and case studies, play therapists will learn how clients use images and sand to resolve problems.

Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) describe ways to articulate the necessity of play for brain development; 2) develop a rationale for using sandtray play with groups to enhance the storytelling process; 3) discuss briefly how current brain research informs the behavior of the play therapist when witnessing the storytelling of clients who play in the sand; 4) identify ethical issues related to sandtray play with groups.

Tu-4  Foundations of Play Therapy: Theory & Practice
(B) Charles Schaefer (Prescriptive)

Overview: Participants will be introduced to various therapeutic powers of play, theoretical approaches to play therapy, as well as the application of theory to practice. An overview of the history and characteristics of play therapy and rationale for the use of play in therapy will also be presented.

Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) understand the nature and importance of play and history of play therapy; 2) identify the major theoretical approaches to play therapy; 3) describe a variety of practical play therapy materials and techniques.

Community Outreach in Denver!

Tuesday, October 5 from 6:00 pm - 7:30 pm

APT is proud to announce that we will, again, be providing a community night forum as part of our public service commitment to educating professionals about the theoretical value of play. Barry Chaloner, MEd, will present to early childhood teachers and day-care professionals. Continuing education will be available and everyone is invited to attend.

Help 2-to-6 Year Olds
Learn to Manage Anger with Cutting Edge Brain-Based Strategies That Work!

Barry Chaloner, MEd, is an adjunct faculty at Adams State College, director of the Center for Early Intervention, and the early intervention coordinator and play therapist for Bloomfield Schools. Mr. Chaloner is a frequent presenter at national conferences, a researcher, trainer, and consultant to elementary and preschools on early intervention, social-emotional development, violence, bullying, early character education, and play therapy. He is the creator of the PALS Early Intervention Model, an author, and is licensed as professional counselor, school counselor, and school psychologist with over 24 years experience. He is well known for his fun, effective training style.

Intergenerational Sandtray-Worldplay Therapy:
Bonding Teenagers and Parents

(I/A) Gisela DeDominico (Phenomenological & Child Centered)

Overview: Sandtray-Worldplay Family Therapy teaches meaningful relationship and honest communication between adolescents and estranged parents. Heartfelt sharing of individuals and joint sandplays often heals the oppressive and alienating encounters that shaped the family’s negative belief system.

Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) identify two ways of structuring a parent-adolescent ST-WP session; 2) facilitate listening and sharing skills of parent and teenager; 3) know how to apply the multiple World ST-WP method; 4) be familiar with the phases of the Sandtray-Worldplay Family Session.

Camp PlayMore - A Playground for Learning and Professional Discovery

(I/A) Teri V. Krull and Joyce Mills (Cognitive & Child-centered)

Overview: Play Therapists frequently do not take time for themselves. This workshop intensive is designed to realign the professional with the valued self care, and highlight how professional learning and discovery occur best when the individual is balanced personally and professionally.

Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) identify their professional style; 2) apply new techniques for playroom use; 3) experience methods of professional self tending; 4) take specific organization information and apply it to their professional practice.

Ecosystemic Play Therapy: A Goal Oriented Approach

(B/I) Kevin O’Connor (Ecosystemic)

Overview: Ecosystemic Play Therapy (EPT) is an effective, multi-systemic, developmentally-focused, goal-oriented treatment modality. This workshop presents an alternative approach to traditional methods for professionals. Participants will learn the basic elements of EPT theory and practice heavily illustrated with case material.

Best 100 Techniques: 10 Years & 20 Nations

(B) Janine Shelby (Prescriptive)

Overview: In this presentation, the most consistently effective 100 play therapy techniques will be described. These clinical tools, from a variety of theoretical orientations, were selected for their practical value and ease of use across a variety of developmental levels, cultures, and settings.

Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) understand the selection of appropriate techniques for each child’s problem or diagnosis; 2) expand their clinical repertoires by reviewing 100 play therapy techniques; 3) have a better understanding of the various techniques through opportunities to role play the various clinical techniques.

Theory and Application of Child-Centered Play Therapy

(B/I/A) Garry Landreth (Child-centered)

Overview: Child-centered play therapy is a well-thought-out, philosophically conceived, developmentally based, and research-supported approach to helping children cope with and overcome the problems they experience in the process of living their lives. Basic propositions of the child-centered play therapy approach will be explored and procedures, methodology and skills essential to the application of the theoretical constructs will be described, and demonstrated.
Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) describe basic propositions of the child-centered play therapy approach; 2) describe methodology and skills essential to the application of the theoretical constructs; 3) describe procedures essential to the child-centered approach.

Th-7 Experiential Family Therapy with Adolescents
(I/A) Scott Riviere ( Directive & Cognitive behavioral)

Overview: This workshop will cover a structured six week family program that the practitioner can utilize immediately. Participants will explore the use of experiential activities to engage the adolescent and family in the healing process. Outdoors adventure-based activities will be presented with a focus on helping the family gain insight through exploring the process by which the activities were completed. Special attention will be given to working with the resistant adolescent.

Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) identify benefits of adventure-based counseling with families; 2) identify a primary need of adolescents; 3) apply six structured adventure-based activities; 4) identify the rationale for using process-based interventions.

Th-8 Reattachment Play Therapy:
Using Play with the Adopted Child/Parent Dyad
(I) Carla Sharp (Neurobiology & Attachment)

Overview: The use of family therapy with the parent/child dyad will be examined with the emphasis on aiding the newly adopted child to re-attach to new parents.

Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) identify the theory of limbic resonance and understand very basic neurological function; 2) understand the relationship of limbic resonance to psychotherapy; 3) identify specific techniques which strengthen the parent/child bond; 4) apply these techniques with parent/child dyads.

6:30 pm - 8:00 pm 21st Annual Opening Reception/Poster Presentations

Network with peers, enjoy refreshments and view the many poster presentations as we kick off the 21st Annual Conference. Registration and Continuing Education desks will be open during the reception for your convenience. See page 12 for a complete list of poster presenters and topics.

F-1 Assessment and Treatment of Inappropriate Sexual Behavior in Play
(I) Ruth Ouzts Cash (Adlerian)

Overview: The presentation will discuss using the Child Sexual Behavior Inventory and other assessment measures with children who have experienced maltreatment and are involved in play therapy. The goals of children's sexual behavior and therapeutic limit setting will also be explained.

Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) understand the 9 domains of sexual behavior measured by the Child Sexual Behavior Inventory; 2) determine the goal of children's inappropriate sexual behaviors when expressed in various play themes; 3) learn how to set limits in the playroom when inappropriate sexual behaviors are demonstrated.

Not Just for Little Kids: Expressive Play Therapy Techniques for Adolescents, Adults, and Families
(B) Jannette Sturm-Mexic, Karen Daboval & David Olguin

Overview: Through experiential learning, this workshop will introduce attendees to use of expressive play therapy techniques that can be used with adolescents, adults, couples, families and groups. Techniques will include art, music, drama, movement, dream work, imagery, writing, and narrative.

Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) identify expressive play therapy techniques to use with adolescents; 2) identify expressive play therapy techniques to use with adults; 3) understand theory and process when using expressive art techniques in play therapy with clients of varying ages older than pre-teenage.

F-2 Family Theraplay with Three Siblings and Their Parents
(B/A) Evangeline Munns (Theraplay)

Overview: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) understand the 9 domains of sexual behavior measured by the Child Sexual Behavior Inventory; 2) determine the goal of children's inappropriate sexual behaviors when expressed in various play themes; 3) learn how to set limits in the playroom when inappropriate sexual behaviors are demonstrated.

Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) understand the 9 domains of sexual behavior measured by the Child Sexual Behavior Inventory; 2) determine the goal of children's inappropriate sexual behaviors when expressed in various play themes; 3) learn how to set limits in the playroom when inappropriate sexual behaviors are demonstrated.

F-3 Play Therapy Supervision: Legal, Ethical, and Clinical Issues
(A) Reo N. Leslie, Jr. (Systemic)

Overview: Participants will be introduced to simple, yet powerful music therapy interventions that a play therapist can use in the therapeutic relationship. We will explore the common themes/principles and research theory between the worlds of music psychotherapy and play therapy.

Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) reduce and manage risk in play therapy supervision; 2) illustrate the supervisory relevance of legal, ethical, personal, systemic, and cultural issues in play therapy supervision; 3) apply the increased understanding of play therapy supervision issues in clinical vignettes.

F-4 Play Therapy: The Therapeutic Use of Music in the Therapeutic Relationship
(I) Kim McMillin (Music therapy)

Overview: Participants will be introduced to simple, yet powerful music therapy interventions that a play therapist can use in the therapeutic relationship. We will explore the common themes/principles and research theory between the worlds of music psychotherapy and play therapy.

Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) reduce and manage risk in play therapy supervision; 2) illustrate the supervisory relevance of legal, ethical, personal, systemic, and cultural issues in play therapy supervision; 3) apply the increased understanding of play therapy supervision issues in clinical vignettes.

F-5 Cultural Dimensions of Sandplay:
Ethnic Identify and Cross-Cultural Dynamics
(B/A) Dee Preston-Dillon (Cross-cultural & Jungian)

Overview: Efficacy with culturally different clients requires sensitivities to cultural dimensions of the symbolic, historic, and mythic. When using sandplay it is essential. This workshop presents culture-specific perspectives for reducing ethnocentric bias in sandplay therapy.
Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) identify representations of ethnicity and culture-related issues in sand scenes; 2) understand how ethnocentrism seeps into play therapy; 3) gain insight into personal suppositions about ethnicity in sand therapy; 4) increase competency with diversity issues in play therapy.

F-7 Using Play Therapy Techniques with High Risk Young Children in the Childcare Setting
(I/A) Jane Robinson and Linda Hunter (Child-centered)
Overview: Experiential workshop with videos introduces play therapist to a comprehensive model of creating positive child-centered pre-school environments. Combined filial and kinder therapy trains teachers, parents, and other professionals, while on-site play therapy groups are provided for high-risk children.
Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) use play therapy techniques as applied to special needs young children in a group setting; 2) have working knowledge of “transdiscipline” and the impact play therapy techniques can have on professionals of other disciplines working with the young child; 3) plan a workshop for preschool teachers and others working with the young child.

F-8 Grief As A Journey: More Tools and Techniques to Help Grieving Children
(I) Sharon Rugg (Systems approach)
Overview: In this presentation, conducted by an LCSW, author, and certified grief therapist, participants will learn about children’s grief and how to help, using hands-on play and learning activities such as games, art, storytelling, music, and puppetry.
Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) understand the tasks of grief within the concept of grief as a journey; 2) understand the unique ways in which children grieve; 3) gain ideas for helping grieving children.

12:15 pm-1:00 pm  President’s Welcome to New Members and 1st Time Attendees

(NC-3) 2004 Student Research Award Recipient Research Presentation

1:30 pm - 3:30 pm  Session II: Sectionals F-9 to F-16

F-9 Mindfulness: A Key Element in Relationship-Based Approaches to Play Therapy in School and Clinical Settings
(B/I) W. Barry Chaloner (Developmental)
Overview: Mindfulness is the practice of interacting in the “here and now” without analyzing and is central to meditation and Eastern psychology. When applied to play therapy it enhances the therapist-child relationship, promotes healing and attachment, and restores a “freshness” to the practice of play therapy. This session will explore various applications of mindfulness to play therapy.
Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) understand brain and attachment research, the developmental rationale for early intervention using play; 2) understand the nuts-and-bolts of counselors applying meditative principles and practices in play therapy; 3) understand how counselors can reduce their stress while enhancing the healing process for the child.

F-10 The Identification and Treatment of Relational Aggression Among Girls
(B/I/A) Myra M. Lawrence, Kristin Condon, and Emily Nicholson (Psychodynamic & Developmental)
Overview: This workshop will focus on prevention/intervention programs and play therapy techniques that address relational aggression among school-age and adolescent girls. A role-play developed by high school girls, and a model 10-week intervention program will be described.
Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) recognize the behavioral characteristics and impact of relational aggression; 2) identify “Best Practices” for intervention, prevention and treatment of relational aggression; 3) adapt these programs and treatment techniques to various play therapy settings.

F-11 The Use of Play In Family Assessment: The Build-a-House Technique
(I) Carla Sharp (Family Systems and Directive)
Overview: This is a simple technique that uses play to reduce the family’s anxiety. It allows the therapist to gain powerful insights into family dynamics, roles and communication patterns within a 50 minute session. It serves as a family assessment tool to complement individual child assessment or to stand alone as a family assessment tool.
Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) understand how the power of play lowers defenses and allows family members to respond more naturally to each other; 2) identify a simple technique by which very young children can join their family in an assessment session; 3) identify specific behavioral characteristics to look for as they assess family dynamics.

F-12 Child-centered Play Therapy with Attachment-Disturbed Children
(I) Misty Solt and Yumoko Ogawa (Child-centered)
Overview: This presentation will address child-centered principles and provide a general overview of attachment related concepts. Participants will observe the power and effectiveness of child-centered play therapy in facilitating healthy attachment for attachment disturbed children through video.
Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) have a basic understanding of Reactive Attachment Disorder; 2) identify play behaviors unique to attachment disturbed children; 3) understand the process of child-centered play therapy with attachment disturbed children.

F-13 Group Supervision/Consultation Specific to Play Therapy
(A) Elaine Wittmann (Psychodynamic)
Overview: Play Therapy Specific Supervision/Consultation is introduced as an alternative/adjunct to verbal supervision. Drawing, sandplay, storytelling, and dramatic play are facilitated in group supervision to increase a clinician’s ability to perceive dynamics of presented cases and grow as a play therapist.
Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) define and identify components of Play Therapy Specific techniques in Supervision/Consultation; 2) identify when and how to introduce these techniques; 3) build on confidence in using techniques and ability to use Play Therapy Specific methods.

F-14a Basics of Psychopharmacology
(B/I/A) Frank H. Kirchner and Kathrin Hartmann (Psychopharmacology)
Overview: This presentation will present basic psychopharmacology, including mechanisms for referral, mechanisms of drug action, and classes of medications for use. It is anticipated that the audience will primarily be non-physicians at all levels of training and indications.
Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) identify appropriate reasons for referral to a physician for medication evaluation; 2) identify different types of medications used in the field of child psychiatry; 3) identify medication effects that might be observed in subsequent play therapy sessions.
F-15a Creative Interventions for Sexually Abused and Traumatized Children
(I/A) Liana Lowenstein (Prescriptive)

Overview: This workshop is designed to familiarize participants with an innovative model for working with sexually abused and traumatized children. This will include interventions that can be used in individual or group therapy sessions with preschool, latency, and adolescent victims of sexual abuse.

Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) understand the latest trauma research; 2) identify new and innovative treatment activities for sexually abused and traumatized children; 3) apply strategies to engage resistant children in the therapy process.

F-16a Play Therapy in the Courtroom “Ethical & Legal Issues”
(I) Marilyn S. Snow, Erin E. Martin and Heather M. Helm (Legal)

Overview: Therapists who counsel children are often required to testify in civil and criminal court cases. This workshop examines the issues of testimony concerning the meaning of play themes and disclosures and issues of the use of videotaped play therapy sessions as court testimony. Ethical, legal and HIPPA issues involved in court cases will be examined.

Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) identify the use of video play therapy sessions in court testimony; 2) understand the roles of the play therapist in court testimony; 3) understand the ethical and legal obligations of the therapist/client in the courtroom.

4:00 pm - 6:00 pm Session III: Sectionals F-14b to F-21

F-14b Basics of Psychopharmacology
(B/I/A) Frank H. Kirchner and Kathrin Hartmann (Part 2)

If you registered for F-14a, you must also register for F-14b.

F-15b Creative Interventions for Sexually Abused and Traumatized Children
(I) Liana Lowenstein (Part 2)

If you registered for F-15a you must also register for F-15b.

F-16b Play Therapy in the Courtroom “Ethical & Legal Issues”
(I) Marilyn S. Snow, Erin E. Martin and Heather M. Helm (Part 2)

If you registered for F-16a, you must also register for F-16b.

F-17 Play Therapy and Traumatology: Perspective and Procedures for Trauma Resiliency
(A) Jennifer Bagggerly (Child-centered)

Overview: In this perilous era of terrorism, play therapists need to facilitate trauma resiliency in children and themselves. This session provides play therapists traumatology perspectives of brain response, procedures of a tri-phasic model, grounding, and containment, and compassion fatigue resiliency strategies.

Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) discuss traumatology perspectives of brain response and trauma symptoms as they relate to play therapy; 2) explain how to implement Herman’s tri-phasic model within play therapy; 3) demonstrate two grounding skills and two containment skills that can be implemented in play therapy.

F-18 Play-Based Early Interventions for Preschool, Head Start and Kindergarten Classrooms with Behaviorally At-Risk Students
(I/A) W. Barry Chaloner (Developmental)

Overview: Overview: Based on attachment, brain, and play research this session offers Pre-K-K teachers, and professionals who serve them, a developmental rationale and set of research-based interventions that integrate play-based applications with other developmentally appropriate practices to successfully address significant behavior problems in these settings.

Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) understand brain and attachment research and the developmental rationale for early intervention; 2) understand the key differences in applying play therapy in school programs versus newer play-based classrooms applications; 3) understand how counselors and other professionals can more effectively coach teachers and integrate play therapy and methods derived from it into “school” behavior intervention plans.

F-19 A Picture is Worth a Thousand Words
(B/I) Elaine Ptacek (Child-centered)

Overview: This experiential workshop helps the therapist recognize life experiences and trauma in children’s artwork using the Human Figure Drawing and the Kinetic Family Drawing as assessment tools.

Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) identify the Human Figure Drawing and the Family Kinetic Drawing used as assessment tools; 2) understand the scoring techniques in those tools; 3) recognize the effective use of Mask making as a valuable tool for self expression of external and internal feeling of the client.

F-20 Dynamic Dimensions of the Play Therapy Relationship
(I/A) Garry Landreth, Sue Bratton and Dee Ray (Child-centered)

Overview: The play therapy process is critically affected by the play therapist’s understanding of and response to significant issues related to the therapist, the child, the relationship, and therapeutic structuring. These issues will be explored in a position statement by each presenter followed by responses to questions.

Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) identify four critical issues in the play therapy process; 2) identify two personal issues they need to work on; 3) identify two relationship issues they need to work on.

F-21 Culturally Competent “Game” Therapy with the Mexican Child and Family-- a narrative approach
(B/I) Roberto Robles (Narrative)

Overview: This interactive workshop will discuss how to use traditional Mexican games by using narrative therapy principals. It will also introduce the 1st bilingual and bicultural child therapy game called Historia de Loteria-Lotto Story©, to help meet the needs of Spanish-speaking child.

Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) engage the Spanish speaking Mexican child and family in “game” therapy using a Narrative Therapy approach; 2) identify ways to treat the Mexican child and family by using culturally appropriate games; 3) understand the different ways to use La Loteria, and other games in a therapeutic manner.

S-1 It Makes You Feel Better: Children Talk About Play Therapy
(I) Jo Carroll (Attachment)

Overview: This presentation will involve participants in research processes by thinking about the challenges inherent in a study of children’s opinions and engaging the data in order to find meanings we consider the implications for practice.

Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) understand the importance of research in play therapy, and begin to engage with methodological challenges; 2) understand narratives children develop for themselves about play therapy processes and implications for practice; 3) identify with children who did not enjoy their play therapy and consider lessons we’ve learned from their experience.

S-11a Strategies for Effective Supervision of Play Therapists
(A) Teri V. Krull (Cognitive directive)

Overview: Supervision styles vary within the play therapy field. This workshop is designed to review the tasks of supervision as it relates to play therapy and explore the unique challenges of the play therapy supervisor.

Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) identify their supervision styles; 2) demonstrate supervisory techniques useful in play therapy supervision; 3) understand the basic legal, ethical and organizational requirements for supervision in play therapy.

S-12a Cross-Cultural Issues in Play Therapy
(B/I/A) John Paul Lilly, Eliana Gil, and Athena Drewes (Jungian, Prescriptive, & Psychodynamic)

Overview: Play therapists have a responsibility to think through an approach for delivery of cross-cultural service through self-evaluation, knowledge-gathering, and social application. This workshop will help participants understand play and symbols across and within cultures and utilize a broad-based assessment and practice approach which honors culture, race, ethnicity, religious affiliations and acculturation. Didactic, experiential, professional and personal observations will be presented.

Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) identify assessments to use in cross-cultural play therapy; 2) self-evaluate in order to catch any personal biases and limitations in conducting cross-cultural play therapy; 3) identify three necessary components in setting up a cross-cultural play therapy room; 4) identify the historical perspective of the importance of play across cultures; 5) identify symbols unique to the cultures they are working with.

3:30 pm - 5:30 pm Session V: Sectionals S-10b to S-17

S-10b Adventures in Play Therapy: Using Active Games and Adventure Techniques
(B/I) Terry Kottman and Jeff Ashby (Part 2)
If you registered for S-10a, you must also register for S-10b.

S-11b Strategies for Effective Supervision of Play Therapists
(A) Teri V. Krull (Part 2)
If you registered for S-11a, you must also register for S-11b.

S-12b Cross-Cultural Issues in Play Therapy
(B/I/A) John Paul Lilly, Eliana Gil, and Athena Drewes (Part 2)
If you registered for S-12a, you must also register for S-12b.

S-13 Neurosequential Development and Experiential Play Therapy with Traumatized Children

Overview: The neurosequential development and trauma model provides critical insights regarding traumatized children. Experiential Play Therapy offers a powerful approach to incorporate these insights. Its theoretical foundation provides the nurturing backdrop for re-experiencing patterned, developmental sequences necessary for disregulated children.

Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) understand the relationship between neurosequential development and trauma; 2) learn which experiential activities facilitate development of neuro organization; 3) learn to access which neurological levels were disorganized by trauma.

S-14 Augmenting Your Practice by Offering Short-Term, Secondary Prevention Services
(A) Kevin O’Connor (Ecosystemic)

Overview: Focused, short-term play therapy can help children face impending stresses: a divorce, birth of a sibling, relocation or a medical procedure with confidence greatly reducing their chances of later becoming symptomatic and can be professional and financially rewarding for play therapists.

Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) list potential life stresses for which preventative play therapy would be appropriate; 2) describe a model for developing a set treatment plan for delivering preventative services to children individually or in groups; and 3) describe at least 3 sample preventative play therapy interventions.

S-15 So They Won’t Fall Through the Cracks...School Based Adaptations of Play Therapy for Prevention
(B/I) Mary Anne Peabody (Child-centered)

Overview: The critical development task of early childhood is successful school adjustment. Participants will learn about the nationally recognized “Primary Project” which helps detect and prevent children’s social, emotional, and school adjustment problems, improves learning skills and other school-related competencies. Primary Project adapts a filial therapy approach using paraprofessionals supervised by school based mental health professionals.

Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) understand the connection between social emotional well being and academic readiness in the early grades; 2) identify the five key components of Primary Project; 3) understand successful implementation strategies to engage stakeholders from the very beginning.

S-16 School Based Gestalt Play Therapy with Children of Divorce
(I) Cynthia Reynolds (Gestalt)

Overview: This presentation is designed to help counselors utilize a variety of play therapy techniques with children of divorce (ages 8-12) in an individual and group setting. A Gestalt framework is used to explain divorce from a theoretical and practical standpoint.

Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) understand the frequency of divorce in today’s society and its emotional impact on children; 2) appreciate both the positive and negative effects of divorce on children; 3) identify the basic gestalt concepts.

S-17 Emotional First Aid Using EMDR in Play Therapy to Help Children Transform Trauma
(A) Jan Yordy (Cognitive Behavioral)

Overview: In this helpful workshop the therapy technique called Eye Movement Desensitization Reprocessing (EMDR) will be introduced. Four play therapy techniques which can be combined with EMDR to enhance trauma processing will be described. Several Play Therapy/EMDR case examples will also be shared to illustrate how EMDR effectively helps children process their trauma. Note: One workshop does not qualify participants to use EMDR. Additional study is needed.

Learning Objectives: Following the workshop the audience should be able to: 1) describe the EMDR Technique and how it helps reprocess traumatic memories; 2) identify four effective play therapy techniques that can be adapted to incorporate EMDR to help with trauma processing; 3) discuss how an integration of EMDR and Play Therapy Techniques help children process very different types of trauma effectively.

Registration cancellations must be made in writing. A refund of the registration fee only will be made if received or postmarked by September 1, 2004, minus an administrative charge of $50. No refunds will be made after September 1, 2004 as guarantees are made for your participation which are non-refundable to APT. Refunds will not be made to participants who register, but do not attend. Registrations may be transferred to another person without penalty upon notification to APT by the original registrant. APT reserves the right to cancel this conference in event of unforeseen circumstances. In such an event an attempt will be made to notify registrants at least 10 calendar days prior to the conference and the full registration fee will be returned. In all instances, APT’s liability is limited to refund of registration fees only.

First-time Conference Attendees and Conference Escorts
Attending the APT conference for the first time may be a bit confusing for participants. If you would like to have a conference escort (someone who has attended the conference for a number of years) please contact Diane Leon at dleon@apt.org or 559/252-2278. More information will be provided via email.

If you have attended the conference for the past few years and would like to help a “first-timer” navigate their way thru the conference, please contact Diane Leon at dleon@apt.org or 559/252-2278.

APT Marketplace
The APT Marketplace is the hub of it all! The marketplace is where you will find the latest in therapeutic toys, books, videos, products and APT logo sportswear. Over 40 exhibit booths are sure to meet your every need!

For information on Exhibiting at the APT Conference, contact Kathryn Lebby at kklebby@apt.org or 559/252-2289.

Session Audiotapes
Each attendee will receive one complimentary tape with paid registration. Audio Archives & Duplicators, Inc., will be recording many of the conference sessions on audio cassettes & audio CDs. The cassettes will be available approximately 20 minutes after each session conclusion. The audio CD’s will be available via mail post-conference. Visit the Audio Archives sales desk in the APT Marketplace for information and costs.

Conference Attire and Local Weather
Due to individual temperature preferences, it is recommended that you bring a light sweater with you to the conference as room temperatures will vary.

Average Early October temperature is:
High 70° / Low 40°
Denver is in the North American Mountain Time Zone

Business Meetings
Several business meetings will be held by the Association for Play Therapy, the Foundation for Play Therapy, committees, and chartered branches. These meetings are typically conducted during breakfast, lunch, and dinner periods. For details, contact APT after Aug. 31.

Continuing Education

Dr. Russ has devoted her research time to creativity and children's play. In her new book, “Play in Child Development and Psychotherapy” she describes how play relates to many aspects of adaptive functioning in children such as creativity and coping.

CHUCK WAGON DINNER AND DANCE
Foundation for Play Therapy Fundraiser
Friday, October 8, 2004, 7:30pm - 10:00pm

Join your fellow Play Therapists in boots and jeans as we play for a good cause. Dinner, dancing and games are only part of the excitement as the Omni creates an authentic old time Chuck Wagon themed night. Dinner includes BBQ beef and chicken and all the fixin’s. Live music by The Back Seat Rodeo Band will entertain us as Foundation Officers, Janine Shelby, Hilda Glazer, Lessie Perry, and Scott Ryan host this fun-filled dinner dance. Bring a pocket full of change, but beware of the “Change Bandit” who has been known to “hold-up” folks when it comes to a good cause.

Price Per Person: $40 / $50 on site
A portion of this charitable non-profit fund-raiser is tax-deductible; please consult your tax advisor.

AN EVENING AT THE CABARET!
Saturday, October 9, 2004, 6:00pm - 10:00pm

It’s the best of the big Broadway Musicals. It’s dinner, drinks, and dessert. It’s Boulder’s Dinner Theatre! Tonight, you will enjoy a fantastic performance of the Broadway classic Cabaret. A compelling story of love and politics, destruction and decadence becomes a biting musical set in the heyday of Berlin at the start of the Third Reich. Your evening includes a gourmet dinner served at your table by the stars of the show, followed by a colorful, full-length Broadway musical, complete with the lavish costumes, sets, and lighting for which the theater has become famous. You’re sure to enjoy every minute of your evening at the Theater!

Price Per Person: $83.00 / Tickets will not be available on site.

A CELESTIAL DAY IN BOULDER
Sunday, October 10, 2004, 9:00am - 1:00pm

Board our motorcoach to experience Boulder’s distinct and unique personality. Enjoy the scenic foothills and the grand red rock formations, known as the Flatirons, located just thirty minutes Northwest of Denver. First, you’ll visit Celestial Seasonings—the largest, fully integrated herb tea manufacturer in the United States. Tour this fascinating plant with large, colorful artwork gracing the walls and look for the famous “Sleepytime Tea” bear. Complimentary samples of your favorite tea will revitalize you at the open tea bar. Next stop is the unique Pearl Street Mall in downtown Boulder. There you will find more sky than buildings, more talk than traffic, and benches for the weary to watch the street performers. For those who love to shop, there are plenty of unique boutiques and delightful coffee shops and cafes for a snack! Or, you may decide to explore Boulder’s art world in many of the galleries scattered throughout. You will find everything from Western art to colorful modern day sculptures.

Price Per Person: $37 / $42 on site
