WHO ATTENDS?

Historically, professionals from all realms of the public sector attend the AACE Conference including new and veteran Code Officers, Inspectors, Managers and Supervisors, Building Officials, Fire Officials, Animal Control Officers, Health Officials, Municipal Attorneys, Law Enforcement, Division and Department Heads, Elected Officials, and individuals thinking about a career in the code enforcement profession. While many attend for continuing education units (CEUs) to maintain certifications, others attend because they may be thinking about improving or expanding an existing code enforcement program or even starting a new program in their community.
