Fort Jackson is where most soldiers are trained to be Army Strong! They are the Army's largest basic training installation and also provide advance initial training for other military occupational specialties. The Office of Housing Services assists soldiers in finding suitable and affordable housing in the local community.

They also compile the most up to date information available on renting or purchasing a home in the surrounding area. Leon and his staff will provide us with an overview of the Fort Jackson Housing Office and off best practices when providing housing to military personnel. If you have a burning questions that you would like answered, please forward it to the AAGC's office via E-mail to aagc@capconsc.com. They will be shared in advance with the Housing Office Staff.
