

EMERGENCY PREPAREDNESS

Thursday, February 21, 2019
11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. (February Only)
Studio Cellar
912 Lady Street (in the Vista)
Columbia, South Carolina 29201

Our panelist will include WIS TV-10 Chief Meteorologist Dominic Brown along with staff member from Richland County Emergency Preparedness Division, the State EMD office and the American Red Cross.

The importance of preparing ourselves for disasters is universal. Emergencies can happen anywhere - at home or at work - and everyone must take action to prepare for emergencies in case something unexpected happens. However, the truth is there's no one-size-fits-all solution to being prepared. Supporting community preparedness is a big part of our mission, and the AAGC is hosting a luncheon with local officials to help us better assist your company, community and residents in the event of an emergency.

As part of a federal flood recovery grant, the AAGC has partnered with Richland County to provide free emergency preparedness brochures and accompanying display holders that can be shared with your customers and/or residents. The "Be Emergency Ready" campaign aims to ensure residents, especially those lacking daily access to computers, smart phones or other mobile devices, have information readily available to plan for a disaster. Many of our residents continue to recover from the devastating effects of the October 2015 flood. The free brochure has information on developing a personalized disaster plan, a list of items to include in an emergency kit and numbers to call for assistance. Richland County appreciates the assistance of the Apartment Association of Greater Columbia in ensuring the community we serve has access to this life-saving information. Brochures and holders will be available at the February meeting or you may pick up at the AAGC office.
