AAHCM Preconference, presented by the Home Centered Care Institute (HCCI)

House Calls: Achieving Clinical Excellence and Sustainability

The AAHCM Pre-Conference is designed to help you enhance your medical knowledge, patient care, and interpersonal and communication skills by illustrating the complex care needs of homebound patients with serious illness and their caregivers through case-based discussions, mini-lectures and question-and-answer sessions. Our faculty of national experts will help you to elevate the clinical care you provide to your home-based primary care patients, as well as to enhance your practice's sustainability in both the current fee-for-service world and the ever-evolving value-based delivery system.

Topics in the Clinical Session will include: treatment of homebound or home-limited patients with moderate- to late-stage dementia including behavioral disturbances; transitions of care and care coordination; palliative/supportive care and end-of-life care.

Topics in the Practice Management Session will include: advanced coding and billing, including HCC scoring; efficiency strategies to enhance practice operations; creating a value proposition to tell your practice's story to payers, ACOs, and health systems.

Registration Fees

	One Session	Both Sessions
