

Sacred Spaces: The E-Journal of the American Association of Pastoral Counselors

Mission: Sacred Spaces is a journal that endeavors to include a variety of theological and human science perspectives as well as quantitative and qualitative research in addressing issues and topics relating to pastoral counseling. It is our hope to encourage students, clinicians, supervisors, and teachers to write scholarly and reflective articles on topics relating to pastoral counseling.

Guidelines for Contributors

Contributors: Send copy via e-mail to Ryan LaMothe [rlamothe@saintmeinrad.edu].

1. Submission signifies that the manuscript has not been published previously and is not currently under consideration for publication elsewhere. A statement transferring copyright from the authors (or their employers, if they hold the copyright) to AAPC will be required before the manuscript can be accepted for publication. The Editor will supply the necessary forms for this transfer. Such a written transfer of copyright, previously implicit in submitting a manuscript, is necessary under the U.S. Copyright Law in order for the publisher to carry through the dissemination of research results and reviews as widely and effectively as possible.
2. Submit the article as an attachment via e-mail to the Editor of Sacred Spaces. The preferred format is Microsoft Word.
3. Double-space with generous margins on all sides. Manuscripts should not exceed 30 pages, and all identifying information should be omitted. Include identifying information in your e-mail (e.g., the title of the article, author's name and title, author's affiliation, mailing address, telephone number, and fax number). The affiliation should comprise the department, institution [usually university or company], city, and state [or nation]. If the article is accepted for publication the author must inform the editor if she or he does not wish to have the above information published.
4. The suggested running head should be fewer than 80 characters (including spaces) and should comprise the article title or an abbreviated version thereof.
5. An abstract is to be provided, preferably no longer than 150 words.
6. A list of 3-5 key words is to be provided directly below the abstract. Key words should express the precise content of the manuscript, as they are used for indexing purposes.
7. List references alphabetically at the end of the paper and refer to them in the text by name and year in parentheses. References should include (in this order): last names and initials of all authors, year published, title of article, name of publication, volume number, and inclusive pages. The style and punctuation of the references should conform to strict APA style — illustrated by the following examples:

a) Journal Article

Tissue, R., & Korz, A. (1998). Making a successful transition: Effects of a treatment-based and school-based program on emotionally troubled children and their adjustment to new placements. Child Psychiatry and Human Development, 28, 199-210.

b) Book

Barone, D. F., Maddux, J. E., & Snyder, C. R. (1997). Social cognitive psychology: History and current domains. New York: Plenum Press.

c) Contribution to a Book

Kazdin, A. E. (1984). Integration of psychodynamic and behavioral psychotherapies: Conceptual versus empirical syntheses. In H. Arkowitz & S. B. Messer (Eds.), Psychoanalytic therapy and behavior therapy: Is integration possible? (pp. 139-170). New York: Plenum Press.

8. Footnotes should be avoided. When their use is absolutely necessary, footnotes should be numbered consecutively using Arabic numerals and should be typed at the bottom of the page to which they refer. Place a line above the footnote, so that it is set off from the text. Use the appropriate superscript numeral for citation in the text.
9. In general, the journal follows the recommendations of the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (Fourth Edition), and it is suggested that contributors refer to this publication.
10. Authors submitting book or movie reviews will follow the same procedures with the following exceptions: a) the review should not exceed ten pages and b) an abstract is not required.
11. After a manuscript has been accepted for publication and after all revisions have been incorporated, manuscripts should be submitted to the Editor's Office by e-mail (rlamothe@saintmeinrad.edu). Confirmation will be provided by the Editor. Prior to publication the author will sign and return copyright forms.
