COMMUNITY PROFILE

The economy of the District has an urban and a rural component. The urban portion represented by the activity in and around the City of Casa Grande is based upon manufacturing, government, and commerce. The rural portion is based upon agriculture, mining, and tourism.

The City of Casa Grande plays an important role in the District's economy. The City has an estimated population of 45,000. The most significant component of the City of Casa Grande's economy is manufacturing. A convenient location midway between the major metropolitan markets of Phoenix and Tucson, as well as its excellent access to major rail lines, freeways, and highways, enabled the City to make a successful transition from an agriculturally based economy to one based more on manufacturing and trade. The people of Casa Grande put together a successful industrial park and in recent years, first class manufacturers have moved into the area. Among the companies located in Casa Grande are Frito-Lay, Inc., SRP Energy, Hexcel Corporation, Daisy Brand, Wal-Mart Distribution Center, and Ross Laboratories.

Casa Grande is the retail center for Western Pinal County's approximately 100,000 consumers. Local retailers include J.C. Penney, K-Mart, Wal-Mart, Home Depot, Lowes, and many other specialty retailers. The Promende, which opened in the fall of 2007, is a major shopping mall complex adding many major chain retail outlets including Dillard's, Kohls, Bed, Bath & Beyond, Target, Harkins 14 plex movie theater, and various restaurants including Mimi's, Olive Garden, and In-N-Out Burger.

Outside the City of Casa Grande, the District's most significant economic component remains agriculture. Over 100,000 acres in the valley are under irrigation, producing cotton (the area's principal crop), grains, alfalfa, vegetables, and citrus fruits. Farming is supplemented by the presence of several large cattle ranging and feeding operations in the area.

The top priorities of the Governing Board and the administration are:

- To provide strong programs for student and staff learning
- Promote strong parent and community relations
- Maintain a high level of organizational effectiveness
- Maintain a high level of safety within our District.

Casa Grande Union High School District is located at the intersection of I-8 and I-10 just 35 minutes south of Phoenix, in the western part of Pinal County, which is in the south-central portion of the State of Arizona. The District was organized in 1919 and presently encompasses 1280 square miles. The current population for the District is estimated at 100,000. Each school site generally reflects the ethnic makeup of 52% Hispanic, 32% Caucasian, 8% American Indian, 6% African American, and 2% Asian.
