AATSP MEMBER SEEKS INTERVIEWEES FOR DISSERTATION RESEARCH ON ACCESSIBILITY

My name is Liane She, and I am a Spanish and French Instructor and Global Education Coordinator at Stanly Community College as well as a doctoral candidate in Educational Leadership at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte. I am in the process of writing my dissertation, and I am looking for language faculty to participate in a 60- to 90-minute interview.

My dissertation aims to examine language faculty’s experiences, who have had or are currently having one or more experience/s, teaching one or more student/s with any type of visual impairment, in an online setting. Faculty can be from any language, and they can have been teaching students with visual impairments either synchronously or asynchronously.
Have you taught a visually impaired student online? Do you know any other language colleagues who have? If you answered yes to either of these questions, please email me at lshe@uncc.edu.

Each participant will be entered in a drawing for a chance to win a $50 Amazon gift card upon completion of the study, which should be no later than May 2023. Thank you very much in advance for your collaboration and for supporting this timely accessibility topic!
