Do you have knowledge to share with your fellow community members? Are you passionate about a certain subject in our industry? Knowledgeable professionals who share their expertise are a big part of what makes ACCT conferences great, and we’re looking for presenters for the 2020 conference in Raleigh, N.C.

Can your passion be boiled down into a 10- to 15-minute talk that would captivate during our opening ceremony? With the growth in the industry recently, we’ve seen value in steering away from the traditional “keynote speaker” concept and presenting a slate of speakers with expertise in different sectors and disciplines.

Think TED talks – topics that expose you to concepts and approaches you might not have considered. These aren’t sales pitches. They’re food for thought. We call them TECH talks. We’re looking for both conventional session speakers (90-minute sessions) and featured Tech Talkers (those selected will do a deeper dive into their subject area in the form of a conventional 90-minute in-conference presentation, or a pre-conference workshop).

Your audience comes from around the world. You’ll present to passionate experiential educators, academics, adventure park operators and staffers from around the world – from first-year to executive level.

The standard ACCT Workshop Call for Presenters is still LIVE. We are currently seeking speakers in the following categories:
- Canopy and Zipline Tour operations
- Facilitation and Programming
- Industry Business
- Operations and Management
- Technical topics

Things to consider when submitting:
- Does your topic reflect emerging techniques and cutting-edge industry-related content?
- Will it stimulate and provoke discussion and audience engagement?
- Are you able to deliver model practices using approaches for different types of learners?
- Will you use a multi-media approach to enhance attendee learning?
- We encourage student participation in presentations from the collegiate level!

All submission must be received via the online submission form. The deadline for both Tech Talk proposal and conference workshop is May 31, 2019. Submit Here
Bonus points: Are you a Raleigh native? We like to add local flavor to each conference, and would like to appoint at least one Conference Ambassador who can help attendees coming from all over the world enjoy your wonderful city! Think food. Think entertainment. Think outdoors activities.

The Ambassador(s) will help conference planners provide local insight to the work group during planning and on-site visits. They'll help us identify and share the best the city has to offer, and enhance the visitor experience for our attendees.
