ATTEND EVENTS AND NETWORK WITH THE MEMBERSHIP.
Even when the seminar subject matter may not seem to impact your business, it’s an opportunity to share ideas. This is also a good time to ask a consulting engineer member why the topic is important to them and learn more about their business!

SERVE AS AN AMBASSADOR FOR NEW MEMBERS (OR NEWLY INVOLVED) AT OUR EVENTS.
Invite new members to events, introduce them to existing members and answer any questions that may arise. By building that relationship from early on, the member may come to you when their firm is seeking your business’ services.

SUBMIT ARTICLES FOR THE SHORTLIST NEWSLETTER, WEB SITE CONTENT AND WEEKLY E-NEWSLETTER.
Confer with ACEC staff if a topic or issue is beneficial to the membership. Then, write and submit content to staff@acecinindiana.org.

HOST SEMINARS, PRESENTATIONS ETC., CONTINUING EDUCATION OFFERINGS.
Professional engineers have a mandatory requirement to complete 30 hours of continuing education every 2 years. That puts information that you can present to consulting engineering firms in high demand. Contact ACEC staff on how to capitalize on this growing need.

BECOME AN ANNUAL SPONSOR.
Reach thousands of consulting engineers and clients through marketing pieces distributed throughout the year, such as the annual membership directory, and recognition at all ACEC Indiana events.

GET OUT ON THE GREENS AT THE ANNUAL SCHOLARSHIP GOLF OUTING.
Sponsoring a hole or playing in a foursome offers ample networking opportunities with ACEC members in an enjoyable and casual setting.

If you have positive experiences with other organizations and have additional ideas for getting involved, ACEC staff would like to hear about it! For comments, suggestions or follow up on any of the items listed above, please contact Beth Bauer or Colleen Merkel at (317) 637-3563.
