Indiana law provides that both individuals, as well as corporations and labor organizations, may contribute to political actions committees. For individuals, there is no limit on the level of contributions. For corporations, aggregate annual limits are imposed as follows:

$ 5,000 among candidates for statewide offices
$ 5,000 among state committees of political parties
$ 2,000 among all State Senate candidates
$ 2,000 among all State House candidates
$ 2,000 for State Senate legislative party caucuses
$ 2,000 for State House legislative party caucuses
$ 2,000 among candidates for local offices
$ 2,000 among central committees other than state committees

A corporation may contribute a total of $22,000 per calendar year either directly to candidates or through political action committees. Contributions to the ACEC Indiana PAC count toward these limits.
