Justice Sciences

Reciprocal agreement

The Australian and New Zealand Society of Criminology (ANZSOC) welcomes reciprocal arrangements with similar societies elsewhere. This document, which has been agreed by the ANZSOC Committee of Management, sets out the Society's policy on reciprocal agreements with the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences (ACJS), and should be referred to in the process of establishing and maintaining the agreement.

This reciprocal agreement takes a standardized form, and adheres to all ANZSOC policies to include the following elements:

- ANZSOC members will be able to attend ACJS annual conference at their reduced rate for members, and vice versa;
- Information will be exchanged on an informal basis, including the newsletters of the respective societies and links/logos via websites;
- A one page advert will be made available by each party in relevant newsletters for no charge to advertise respective annual conferences.

The following conditions will apply to this reciprocal agreement:

1. Reciprocal agreements do not constitute a legal transaction. They are undertaken informally and in good faith between the ANZSOC and the ACJS.
2. Reciprocal agreements will be terminated whenever a breach of good faith occurs, or under any other circumstance in which either the ANZSOC Committee of Management or the ACJS Executive Board decides that an agreement negatively affects their existing membership (e.g. a significant 'migration' of members from one organization to the other). Reciprocal agreements will be terminated whenever such an agreement is declared by the ANZSOC Committee of Management or the ACJS Executive Board to reflect negatively upon ANZSOC's or ACJS's mission or general image.
3. Reciprocal agreements do not involve any direct or indirect exchanges of monies between the ANZSOC and the ACJS, excepting reduced members' rates for conference attendance.
4. Reciprocal agreements will be kept under review by the appropriate ANZSOC or ACJS Committee (reporting to the Executive where appropriate).
5. Reciprocal agreements will not involve joint responses to consultations/representations without approval from the respective organizations' Executives/Councils/Boards/Management Committees.
6. Reciprocal agreements will not involve any other mutual agreement between the ANZSOC and the ACJS except where this has been discussed and agreed by the ANZSOC's or ACJS's relevant committees or sub-committees and ratified by its Executive or Committee of Management as required.

This agreement is ratified by the ANZSOC Committee of Management and the ACJS Executive Board and signed by the Presidents of each respective organisation. The President of ANZSOC and the executive director of ACJS will be involved as facilitators in ensuring the long-term maintenance of these agreements and to coordinate practical aspects such as the exchange of information about conferences.

Links between the respective management or executive committees should be encouraged, in order to:

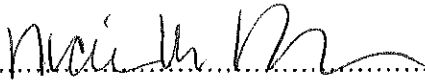

- facilitate diplomatic exchanges;
- facilitate international networking; and
- share problems/solutions on a variety of criminological issues.
