CRIMINAL JUSTICE SCIENCES

March 27 - 30
The Palmer House
Chicago

Theme:
The Politics of Crime and Criminal Justice
ACADEMY OF CRIMINAL JUSTICE SCIENCES

Dear Colleagues:

Welcome to the 1984 Annual Meeting of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences. In addition to a variety of panels, workshops, and round-table discussions, this year’s program includes several sessions that focus specifically on the program theme, The Politics of Crime and Criminal Justice. Three plenary sessions are also included.

Registration, an employment exchange, exhibits, and a message center are centrally located in the Palmer House Lower Exhibition Hall. Papers presented at the meeting and information on ACJS are also available in this area.

Several social activities have also been planned including a cash bar on Tuesday evening, a reception on Wednesday evening, and an awards banquet on Friday. A dinner at the well-known Serbian restaurant, Miomir’s, and a number of tours are also available. Check with the ACJS staff at the registration desk for more information on these activities.

Please check with one of the ACJS hosts if you have any questions about the program or need additional information about the hotel or Chicago. Local ACJS hosts can be identified by the green name tags.

Finally, the 1984 ACJS Program Committee would like to thank you for participating in this year’s program.

INTRODUCTION TO CRIMINAL JUSTICE, 3E
Joseph Senna/Larry Siegel

Balanced coverage of the practical, legal, and sociological aspects of criminal justice. Includes new topics such as changes in the insanity defense, biocriminology and psychological orientations, victims and victimology, exclusionary rule, etc.

CRIME AND JUSTICE IN AMERICA: THE HUMAN DIMENSION
Harold J. Vetter/Leonard Territo

Presents the criminal justice system and process as a human activity. Brief cases, current news articles, and a special "Issue Paper" feature examining a current issue in CJ add depth and bring the human aspect to life. Victimology is discussed in Ch. 17, Victims of Crime.

CRIMINAL LAW
Joel Samaha

Incorporates a historical perspective in the discussion of basic principles of criminal law. Includes 73 cases plus current issues, e.g. criminal homicide, economic necessity as a defense, etc.

CRIMINOLOGY
Larry Siegel

Balanced overview of criminology, covering basic concepts, theories, and types of crimes. "Pros" and "cons" of controversial issues and the various approaches to the study of crime causation are objectively presented.

Search Dog Training
by Sandy Bryson

How to train a police dog in the modern state-of-the-art methods of finding lost persons, fleeing felons, and evidence, (drugs, explosives, etc.)—anything that has any odor, however faint. All this is described in detail, with actual cases, in this new book. Topics include: selecting a puppy, breeds, training methods, care of search dogs, transportation, cooperation of laymen and police, legal aspects, records, sample forms, etc. $12.50.

New, innovative teaching tool for courses in criminal justice, Human Relations & Police Work utilizes a case study approach—a powerful vehicle for challenge and stimulation!

- 49 realistic situations representing recurring and serious problems routinely faced by police officers.
- Fascinating exploration of the seven most frequently encountered areas of conflict in law enforcement.
- Encourages decision-making through analysis of readable, contemporary cases.

FOUR NEW CRIMINAL JUSTICE TEXTS

1. CRIMINAL JUSTICE IN AMERICA: Process and Issues,
   Second Edition
   Peter Kratcoski, Kent State University
   Donald Walker, Kent State University

   This second edition of a very successful text for the first course in criminal justice presents the most up-to-date and systematic treatment of the components of the criminal justice process and the critical issues surrounding each process. Special chapters on juvenile justice, ethical issues, cross-cultural comparisons, and future trends in criminal justice make this one of the most complete introductions to the field now available.

   Random House March 1984 512 pages hardcover, Order Code: 5555 (text)
   5556 (text)

2. CRIMINAL INVESTIGATION, Third Edition
   Charles R. Swanson, Jr., University of Georgia
   Neil C. Chamelin, Police Standards and Training Commission
   Leonard Territo, University of South Florida

   This bestselling standard text for courses in criminal investigation is now updated and revised. The text is organized to follow the actual chronology of an investigation, allowing students to see the relationship and importance of various sequences and learn who has responsibility at each stage.

   Random House January 1984 512 pages hardcover, Order Code: 15741 (text)
   15742 (text)

3. THE COURTS, Fulcrum of the Justice System,
   Second Edition
   H. Ted Rubin, Institute for Court Management

   The second edition of this highly respected, clearly written text offers an unusually comprehensive presentation of state and local court systems.

   Random House October 1984 256 pages paperbound, Order Code: 1387-12

4. ORGANIZED CRIME: Crime Control vs. Civil Liberties
   Robert Rhodes, Edinboro State College

   Rhodes in-depth analysis of organized crime, his discussions of control and of the related civil liberties issues will be of great interest to criminal justice professionals as well as to college students.

   Random House January 1984 252 pages paperbound, Order Code: 33440A

GRADUATE STUDY at the UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH FLORIDA
Masters Degree in Criminal Justice

The University of South Florida offers a Masters program in Criminal Justice that is not for everyone, but it just might be right for YOU.

We offer an educational program that blends the practical street application of knowledge with theory and research. While others fight ice and snow, you could be in Florida in one of three tracks: Urban Law Enforcement Administration, Community Corrections, or Planning and Evaluation. Programs can also be tailored to students whose eventual goal is law school or doctoral work. The classes are small and include a sizeable enrollment of in-service professionals and minorities.

Graduation requires 33 hours with a thesis, or 35 hours with the non-thesis option. The Department also hosts active chapters of the American Criminal Justice Association and Alpha Phi Sigma. Our distinguished faculty offers a diverse and interdisciplinary approach to criminal justice education, with degrees and experience in psychology, sociology, education, law enforcement, corrections, and law.

USF is located in Tampa, on the central Gulf coast where beautiful beaches as well as other Florida attractions are close at hand. Career opportunities abound in the area as population trends dramatically move to the South.

For information contact: Dr. William Blount or Dr. Robert Taylor

EMOTIONAL FIRST AID
A Journal of Crisis Intervention

Editor-in-Chief: James L. Greenstone, Ed.D.
Senior Editor: Edward S. Rosenbluh, Ph.D.

Articles in EMOTIONAL FIRST AID will discuss such topics as:
- Control of physically violent individuals
- Techniques in managing suicide attempts, spouse abuse, and alcoholism
- Making crisis intervention referrals
- Basic intervention safety procedures

This new and innovative Journal, although designed for professionals from many areas of specialization, represents a distinct discipline in its own right. Its issues offer authoritative discussions on a wide range of topics, both theoretical and practical, related to crisis intervention. Topics covered include: controlling physical aggression during intervention; techniques in managing suicide attempts; grief due to loss; spouse abuse; and alcoholism; making crisis intervention-related referrals; client management in physical crisis; training and prevention techniques in crisis management; crisis intervention programs in both rural and urban areas, and more. The Journal also presents actual crisis intervention vignettes and discusses the techniques used by those professionals involved in them. Reviews of important new professional books related to topics of crisis intervention are a regular feature of this unique Journal. Published Quarterly. Sponsored by the American Academy of Crisis Interveners and the Southwestern Academy of Crisis Interveners.

Theory and practice: the best of both worlds

The CUNY Ph.D. program gives students the theoretical background and research capability needed for leadership roles in criminal justice and university teaching and research positions. At the same time, our doctoral students have the unique opportunity to work with the largest and most sophisticated criminal justice agencies in the country.

In addition, the doctoral program in criminal justice offers a number of other significant advantages, including an internationally distinguished faculty drawn from John Jay College and other City University campuses, superb on- and off-campus research facilities, including John Jay's own library collection of more than 120,000 items, a variety of advanced computer systems, and access to the abundant resources of a wide range of criminal justice agencies found only in New York City.

A number of financial assistance programs are available to students in the Ph.D. program in criminal justice, including university scholarships, fellowships and adjunct teaching opportunities.

A bachelor's or master's degree in criminal justice or a related field with a strong demonstrated academic potential is required for admission.
