An estimated $305 billion in justice system expenditures was spent by all levels of government in 2017.

In 2019, over 4.3 million adult men and women were supervised in the community, either on probation or parole.

In 2019, state and federal correctional authorities had jurisdiction or legal authority over 1.4 million prisoners. Additionally, 735,000 inmates were held in custody in local jails.