Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences

47th Annual Meeting

Beyond Our Boundaries:

The Inclusivity of Criminal Justice Sciences

February 23-27, 2010
Town & Country Resort and Convention Center
San Diego, CA
Pursuant to the ACJS Code of Ethics and ACJS Policies, all ACJS Annual Meeting attendees should be aware of the following:

1. All attendees at the ACJS Annual Meeting shall abide by the ACJS Code of Ethics. A copy of the Code of Ethics can be found on the ACJS website, www.acjs.org.

2. No attendee shall have on his or her person a weapon of any type.

3. Any organization hosting an event in an ACJS meeting room or any Annual Meeting attendee assumes entire responsibility and hereby agrees to protect, indemnify, defend, and save ACJS and its employees, officers, volunteers, and representatives from and against all claims, losses, and damages to persons or property, governmental charges or fines, and attorneys fees arising out of or caused by the use of meeting or other space, excluding any liability caused by the sole negligence of the Boston Marriott Copley Place or ACJS, its employees, officers, volunteers, and representatives. This includes participation in events held at the Annual Meeting where alcohol is served.

4. No Annual Meeting attendee shall, on the grounds of race, color, religion, gender, age, handicap, national origin, marital status, sexual orientation, pregnancy, or veteran status be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to, discrimination at this Annual Meeting.

5. No attendee shall be a disruptive influence in panel sessions, section meetings, or any other annual meeting events.

6. All individuals attending the Annual Meeting must pay a registration fee. Admission to all meeting events will be by badge or registration receipt only.

7. The following fees will be imposed for returned checks, and replacement badges and receipts:
   - Returned Check $20.00
   - Replacement Name Tag $ 5.00
   - Replacement Receipt $ 5.00

Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences

It is a pleasure to extend my greetings to everyone gathered for your annual meeting, and welcome to California.

I applaud your outstanding contributions to public safety. You and your members are at the forefront of research and activity in the criminal justice field, and our state is grateful for your dedicated efforts. Your wide range of programs and services enables your members to realize their professional goals, and I commend your devotion to them and to promoting education, research and policy analysis. Thank you for taking action to help ensure a bright future not only for the field of criminal justice, but for our nation as well.

Please accept my best wishes for a fantastic event and every continued success.

Sincerely,

Arnold Schwarzenegger
GREETINGS

"Beyond Our Boundaries: The Inclusivity of Criminal Justice Sciences"

February 23-27, 2010

Welcome to our community! San Diegans are tremendously proud of their city, a city known worldwide for its warm hospitality and sunny disposition. You too, I’m certain, will be impressed with all San Diego – America’s Finest City – has to offer.

Best known for its near-perfect climate, natural beauty and a bevy of fun-filled outdoor recreational activities, San Diego is consistently rated among the nation’s top leisure travel and convention destinations.

San Diego is blessed with a wealth of riches not bestowed on many places, including a relaxed and friendly spirit that characterizes the best of the Southern California lifestyle. The pulse is decidedly creative, entrepreneurial and energetic.

Once you’ve experienced what millions of visitors love about our community, you are destined to fall in love with San Diego. With miles of breathtaking sandy beaches, beautiful parks, renowned family attractions, sophisticated and eclectic dining, rich arts and culture, a dynamic nightlife and the sights and sounds of nearby Mexico, San Diego’s many charms are hard to resist.

We are truly delighted that you have chosen San Diego as the venue for your Annual Meeting. On behalf of the city of San Diego, I wish you all the best for an enjoyable and productive visit.

Sincerely,

Jerry Sanders
Mayor
City of San Diego
Welcome to the ACJS 2010 conference in San Diego and the Town and Country Resort and Convention Center. I also would like to extend a warm welcome to our international colleagues who have made the long journey to the U.S. to attend this conference. Special thanks to the Chair, Wilson Palacios, and members of the Program Committee for their commitment and dedication to the task of organizing the conference. I am indebted to the members of the ACJS 2009-2010 Executive Board, ACJS Executive Director, Mittie Southerland, and ACJS Manager, Cathy Barth, for their support during this past year. They helped to make my experience as President very rewarding. I am also grateful to the local arrangement team which organized a number of activities for the conference.

The Program Committee has done an outstanding job in planning this conference; and the members have created a number of great sessions, activities, and networking opportunities. In keeping with the theme of the conference, Beyond Our Boundaries: The Inclusivity of Criminal Justice Sciences, the program lists over 450 events, including panels, roundtables, workshops, the research showcase and pictorial session, and various meetings. Virtually every room in the convention center has been scheduled for the ACJS conference.

Highlights
A pre-conference workshop entitled “Criminal Justice Program Evaluation: An Introductory Overview to Evidence-Based Accountability and Performance Assessment” will be held on Tuesday, February 23, beginning at 4:00 p.m. A new section, the Victimology Section, will be formally recognized at our 2010 ACJS Annual Meeting. This latest addition makes the ACJS home to 11 sections.

The keynote speaker for the conference is Nontombi Naomi Tutu whose presentation is entitled Beyond our Boundaries: South Africa’s Truth and Reconciliation Model of Restorative Justice. Her presentation will take place on Thursday, February 25, 2010, from 11:00 a.m.-12:15 p.m. Ms. Tutu holds a master’s degree in international economic development from the University of Kentucky and an honorary doctorate from Bentley College in Waltham, Massachusetts. She is a consultant for the Spiritual Alliance to Stop Intimate Violence (SAIV).

A tour of the San Diego State University Visualization Laboratory (VIZ Lab), a research lab associated with San Diego State University Graduate Program in Homeland Security, is scheduled for Thursday, February 25, beginning at 1:00 PM.

On Friday morning, February 26, the Research and Pictorial Showcase and Brunch will take place between 10:00 a.m. and 12 p.m. Unlike the fast pace of a panel session, the showcase will allow presenters to discuss their work individually with participants and answer questions in a more informal setting. This session also provides a venue for networking, exchanging innovative ideas, and obtaining useful feedback. I encourage you to attend.

As part of the conference activities, ACJS will host an Awards Ceremony and Reception on Friday night, February 26, from 6:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. This event recognizes our members for their excellence in scholarship, teaching, mentoring, and service. It also provides an opportunity for socializing.

This ACJS Annual Meeting offers a warm and friendly atmosphere for all participants. The diversity of colleagues will undoubtedly lead to new friendships, professional inspiration, and connections for the future. With the natural beauty and unique charm of San Diego, I hope that you will have a stimulating and memorable conference.

Finally, I would like to thank the members of ACJS for their support and encouragement. It has been truly an honor and a privilege to have had the opportunity to serve as President. Have a pleasant stay in San Diego and thanks for participating in the conference.

Sincerely,

Janice Joseph
President, ACJS
On behalf of President Janice Joseph and all of the members of the ACJS 2010 Program Committee, Bienvenidos (Welcome) to San Diego! The theme for this year's conference, “Beyond Our Boundaries: The Inclusivity of Criminal Justice Sciences,” is reflective in the nearly 500 events scheduled over the next four days. I encourage you to review the program and take note of the diverse array of assembled research panels, workshops, and roundtables that you, the membership of ACJS, submitted and that has led to one of the most thematically eclectic programs to date. Overall, this year’s program reflects both national and international collaborative efforts in “cutting-edge” research and innovative pedagogical practices which surely you will find enriching, instructional, and perhaps even inspiring. To all our participants, you are encouraged to take this opportunity to network with the finest scholars in the field, reconnect with former professors and/or students and colleagues, and forge new professional connections. To this end, you will find the accommodations provided by the Town and Country Resort and Convention Center most conducive to a rewarding conference experience.

In keeping with our program’s theme, the Research and Pictorial Showcase offers over 100 progressive and interactive presentations, carefully assembled by Jeffrey Scott McIlwain (San Diego State University) and Paul Kaplan (San Diego State University). As in the past, no other events have been scheduled during this time and a “top-self” brunch will be available to all participants and attendees.

Furthermore, the Local Arrangement committee, Stuart Henry, Dana Nurge, Paul Kaplan, and Paul Sutton (San Diego State University), are facilitating a tour of the San Diego State University Visualization Laboratory (VIZ Lab): “Science, Technology, and the Visualization of Criminal Justice, Disaster Response, and Homeland Security.” VIZ Lab, the research lab associated with SDSU’s Graduate Program in Homeland Security, is a global leader in applying scientific, technological, and policy research and analysis to real-world, real-time challenges on the local, state, national, and international levels via data collection, management, analysis, sensors, data fusion, visualization, communication, and decision support for Humanitarian Assistance Disaster Relief (HADR) and homeland security applications. The tour will be led by SDSU’s Dr. Jeffrey McIlwain and Dr. Eric Frost. In addition, the SDSU Team provided a cadre of student workers in order to ensure your participation in this year’s program would be one to remember.

As your Program Chair, I must say I have been humbled by both the process and the people I was fortunate enough to have worked with during this past year. First, the ACJS Association Manager, Ms. Cathy Barth, whose commitment in ensuring that each and every program participant and attendee have a positive experience while attending is just herculean and her level of energy is to be admired; a very sincere thank you “Miss Hannigan”. Second, Mittie Southerland, ACJS Executive Director, was never more than an email away and somehow always knew when to provide the needed “pep” talk. Third, the members of the Program Committee are the ones who did the yeoman’s work in organizing the program materials and networking with members in order to ensure that each had an opportunity to participate in this conference. I thank each Program Committee member for their commitment to ACJS and their collegiality. Fourth, words are simply not available which convey my sincerest admiration and respect for the passion, leadership, and work ethic I witnessed in President Janice Joseph during my 18-month collaboration. It was honor having served as her Program Chair. Fifth and in true “Murphy Law’s” tradition, as we met in late October to review and, by hand, assemble the program you see before you, it became very apparent that certain items still needed to be resolved and it was because of the collective effort and patience of President Joseph, Mittie, Cathy, Leanne Alarid (Deputy Program Chair), and Barb Sims that the program actually came together. Sixth, my graduate assistant, Mr. Michael Caudy (A.B.D.), provided much needed technical support at the local level while Ms. Lauren McDermott, ACJS Webmaster extraordinaire, provided critical IT support at the national level and to both I am extremely grateful for their efforts.

Lastly, my department chair, Dr. Tom Mieczkowski and my departmental colleagues at the University of South Florida provided me the resources and social support necessary to fulfill my role as your Program Chair.

Thank you for attending and for contributing to this year’s Annual Meeting - truly one of the best meetings to date and it is largely due to your efforts. I have no doubt the professionalism and collegiality I was fortunate to have both witnessed and experienced will continue onward to Toronto and beyond. In the meantime, enjoy your conference.

The past presidents listed below are the ones who responded to President Janice Joseph’s request for information about their presidency.

PAST PRESIDENTS

W. Wesley Johnson, President 2008-2009
W. Wesley Johnson was Professor of Criminal Justice at the School of Criminal Justice, University of Southern Mississippi when serving as President of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences.

Specific Items Initiated or Completed During Your Presidency and Who Was Involved In Accomplishing Them (all work was done with the guidance of and input from the ACJS Executive Board, Cathy Barth, and Mittie Southerland).

- We reviewed and proposed changes to ethics policy; presented to membership on November, 2009 ballot (in coordination with Ethics Committee).
- We surveyed membership on their opinions on ACJS journals (ACJS Publications Committee).
- I facilitated 2nd five year contract with journal publisher Taylor and Francis.
- I began negotiations with Taylor and Francis on increases in JQ page space
- We established a contract with ACJS and SAGE for Junior Faculty Professional Development Awards in Teaching (Mittie Southerland, Executive Director); 1st Teaching Workshop conducted at 2009 annual meeting.
- I continued support of ACJS’ NGO status and participation with UN.
- I worked with ACJS Security Section to improve the administration and quality of their journal.
- We facilitated a new section on Restorative Justice.
- I implemented a MOU with Alpha Phi Sigma.
- I facilitated new contract with Experient to improve conference hotel contracts and conference delivery.
- I established a task force with ASC to foster recognition of “field” by National Science Foundation.
- The annual conference had second largest attendance in ACJS history.
- ACJS membership reached new record.
- I expanded Research Showcase (poster sessions) via Program Chair Barbara Sims and Janice Ahmad.
• I emphasized, in communications with membership, the need to improve the quality of panel presentations including providing papers or executive summary of findings to chair/discussant prior to conference.
• I established a survey of program chairs to evaluate no-shows by presenters (Program Chair, Barbara Sims).
• I represented ACJS at three regional association conferences.
• ACJS was represented at one international conference (ESC) and one national conference (NAMI).
• I supported and promoted recognition of Criminal Justice Month by U.S. Congress (Ronald “Chip” Burns and John Smykla).
• The Assessment Committee, with approval of the ACJS Executive Board, initiated an online forum for publishing assessment related manuscripts.
• We sustained increased student participation in annual conference.

Ronald D. Hunter, President 2007-2008

Ron Hunter was Professor of Criminal Justice, Department Head, and Interim Associate Dean at Western Carolina University when serving as President of the Academy of Criminal Sciences.

Specific Items Initiated or Completed During Your Presidency and Who Was Involved In Accomplishing Them

• We strengthened our relations with our sister organizations at both the international and national levels. We had representatives at the International Police Executive Forum, United Nations meetings in Geneva, the Stockholm Prize Symposium, the British Society of Criminology, the European Society of Criminology, and the Australia-New Zealand Society of Criminology. We continued to have working relationships with the American Society of Criminology and the American Correctional Association.
• We sought to become an even more “student friendly” organization. We continued our supportive relationship with Alpha Phi Sigma. We sponsored student luncheons at the annual meeting. We allowed students to “work off” their registration fee by helping at the registration desk. We are strengthening our efforts in recruiting graduate students through enhanced relations with the doctoral granting institutions, continued membership inducements for doctoral students, and initiating the restoration of the Directory of Graduate Programs.
• Our Membership, Affirmative Action, and Student Affairs Committees continued ACJS’s efforts to encourage new members to join with us by stressing our uniqueness as an organization, our commitment to diversity, and our inclusion of new members in organizational activities. We are also exploring options to enhance career development opportunities for our membership beyond our Employment Exchange. This included an agreement with Sage Publications to provide financial support and training opportunities for junior faculty members at our meetings.
• We continued to promote program certification by offering information sessions and reviewer training at the regional meetings. We are also working to better explain the purposes and benefits of program certification to our membership.
In an effort to recognize the professionalism of our members, (particularly those who may work in non-teaching positions or at institutions that will not seek program certification), I created an ad hoc committee to explore the potential for establishing a Diplomate in Justice Science. The committee found limited support for this concept and recommended that for the time being that it not be pursued.

Rick Tewksbury and the Program Committee created a great program set up for the annual meeting in Cincinnati. The Hyatt and Hilton properties were excellent conference facilities. The University of Cincinnati and the Cincinnati Police Department provided us with great local support.

Lastly, we continued to enhance our website in order to make it more informative and user friendly.

We received a petition with the requisite signatures to establish a Section on Restorative and Community Justice. The process was followed and the section was approved at the Annual Meeting.

We supported the efforts led by contact Chip Burns and John Smykla to establish March as Criminal Justice Awareness Month. Unfortunately, time constraints of the United States Congress precluded this from being adopted during my presidency but it was accomplished the next year.

Jeffery T. Walker, President 2006-2007

Jeffery T. Walker was Professor of Criminal Justice/Criminology at the University of Arkansas, Little Rock when serving as President of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences.

Specific Items Initiated or Completed During Your Presidency and Who Was Involved In Accomplishing Them

- At the beginning of my presidency, I set out three goals: greater involvement of graduate students in ACJS, greater involvement of ACJS in international organizations such as the European Society of Criminology, and a high quality conference. I believe these goals and more were met.
- During my term I worked with the Executive Board to do away with the “students with journals” option for student memberships and to lower the student membership fee; increasing the number of students involved in ACJS. The Board also approved a free 1-year membership for doctoral students that could be used any time in their doctoral program.
- I also placed doctoral students on every committee during my term, facilitating greater involvement of students and making linkages with ACJS members.
- The Seattle meeting began a policy of providing students with luncheons during the conference. This was undertaken to facilitate greater interaction of students and to lower student cost of attending the conference.
• I also made funds available in my budget that made it possible to attend the meetings of the British Society of Criminology, European Society of Criminology, Stockholm Prize in Criminology meeting, International Police Executive Symposium, and a meeting of the UN Crime Prevention Council. Flyers promoting ACJS were distributed and I made many contacts with people who did not previously know about ACJS. During my term, I also joined a group of distinguished non-profit organizations that fought for support for the 2010 Census.

• The meeting in Seattle was by most accounts a great success. We had a large number of quality panels, including feature panels that included some of the leading people in the field who had not attended an ACJS meeting for a long time.

• Finally, I developed the idea of ACJS Now and worked with the Executive Board to get it implemented.

Laura J. Moriarty, President 2005-2006
Laura J. Moriarty was Professor and Acting Associate Vice Provost for Academic and Faculty Affairs at Virginia Commonwealth University when serving as President of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences.

Specific Items Initiated or Completed During Your Presidency and Who Was Involved In Accomplishing Them
• During my presidency a much more concentrated effort on assessment of student learning outcomes was initiated. I did my presidential address on "Investing in Quality: The Current State of Assessment in Criminal Justice programs." The data revealed interesting findings for the field with some concern being generated for the discipline's lack of preparation for assessing students. Since that time, I have made it a priority to move assessment to a more visible and higher priority for criminal justice programs.

• Mittie Southerland and I have been conducting ACJS Certification workshops where the emphasis is on assessment (my part of the workshops). In addition to ACJS presentations, we were invited to two state-wide criminal justice associations to present the workshop: New Jersey and Virginia.

James Finkenauer, President 2004-2005
Jim Finckenauer was Professor II (Distinguished Professor) at Rutgers University when serving as President of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences.

Specific Items Initiated or Completed During Your Presidency and Who Was Involved In Accomplishing Them
• We created, approved and implemented the ACJS certification of criminal justice education programs.
• We created and filled the position of Executive Director.
• We purchased a permanent office space for ACJS.
• We implemented the poster sessions at the annual meeting.
• We showcased the Bruce Smith award winner with a plenary address.
• We implemented the Donal McNamara publication award.
Stephen Lab, President 2003-2004
Steve Lab was Professor of Criminal Justice at Bowling Green State University when serving as President of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences.

Specific Items Initiated or Completed During Your Presidency and Who Was Involved In Accomplishing Them
- We initiated and selected Taylor and Francis as the publisher of JQ and JCJE (with the Board).
- I initiated and selected the property to purchase for the ACJS National Office (with the Board).

Richard Bennett, President 2002-2003
Richard Bennett was Associate Dean for Academic Affairs, School of Public Affairs, American University when serving as President of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences.

Specific Items Initiated or Completed During Your Presidency and Who Was Involved In Accomplishing Them
- My most important contribution to the Academy took place during my tenure as Second Vice President (2000-2001). The Academy was in deep financial trouble. Since our move into the private sector rather than an academic setting, the cost of doing business increased dramatically. As an example, while the National Office was housed in a university setting, the university gave us office space at no charge and paid for other items like postage and part time help.
- The move to the Washington area was a good one, but the actual cost of not being affiliated with a university was never considered in the move. So he conducted an audit of the academy’s expenses and its revenue. We were hemorrhaging and he proposed a 13 point plan to rein-in our expenses and increase our revenue. The Executive Board passed the proposal and the policy changes were implemented. By the time he was President (2003), the organization was back on a solid financial footing, a footing strong enough to purchase the space we are now using as the National Office.
- The 2003 meeting in Boston was a success in terms of participation and in accordance with the theme of globalization, 33 countries were represented by the participants.
- As President, I began the process of seeking out publishers for our two journals. As Past-President, he helped President Steve Lab negotiate the contract that ended the Academy’s role as a publisher of our two journals and established our now-successful relationship with Taylor and Francis.
Mittie Southerland, President 2001-2002
Mittie D. Southerland was Professor of Criminal Justice at Murray State University (MSU) in Murray, Kentucky while serving as President of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences.

Specific Items Initiated or Completed During Your Presidency and Who Was Involved In Accomplishing Them

- During my presidency, ACJS adopted Dark Navy Blue or Midnight Blue as the color for criminal justice/criminology regalia —Tory Caeti and Mary Stohr co-chaired this ad Hoc committee.
- As a result of a process begun by earlier administrations, ACJS entered into several agreements for articles from our journals to be made available through electronic search on the Internet.
- David Owens served as chair of the first ad Hoc committee on assessment.
- Jay Albanese and Alida Merlo co-chaired an ad Hoc committee on Accreditation Exploration/Feasibility.
- Jeff Walker who was then ACJS Secretary converted the ACJS Policy Manual to an electronic format.
- ACJS reexamined the process of site selection and hotel contract negotiation.

Todd Clear, President 2000-2001
Todd Clear was Professor of Criminal Justice at John Jay College while serving as President of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences

Specific Items Initiated or Completed During Your Presidency and Who Was Involved In Accomplishing Them

- During my presidency, the association of doctoral programs set up the US New and World Report rankings in a meeting that took place at our conference. Natasha Frost and I completed a study of a random sample of criminologist’s CVs, and that study became the foundation for my presidential address and a later paper in JCJE.

Alida Merlo, President 1999-2000
Alida Merlo was Professor of Criminology at Indiana University of Pennsylvania while serving as President of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences.

Specific Items Initiated or Completed During Your Presidency and Who Was Involved In Accomplishing Them

During my term as President, six initiatives/projects were undertaken or completed.

- The Code of Ethics was approved by the ACJS Executive Board and by ACJS members. Dick Bennett chaired the Ad Hoc Committee on Ethics.
• The Century transition was undertaken. It focused on using increased technology for the membership and the national office of ACJS. Annual Meeting Program Chair, Rick Holden, used electronic format for the abstracts and for organizing the 2000 conference. The Internet was used to communicate with the Executive Board and to make the organization more accessible to the membership.

• The Board created the position of Webmaster for ACJS. Pete Benekos chaired the Webmaster Search Committee. The committee conducted a national search for the first Webmaster; and Rick Holden was selected.

• The Board conducted a review of all the ACJS policies and procedures. With Marilyn Chandler Ford as chair of the committee, all ACJS policies were reviewed, revised in accordance with our bylaws, updated, and signed. Mittie Southerland was also involved in this project. Each Board member was given a bound copy of the ACJS Policies.

• The Board created a professionally printed booklet for colleges and universities to utilize for the Minimum Standards for ACJS Peer Review. Ron Vogel served as the Chair of the Academic Review Committee and worked with Mittie Southerland to produce the Minimum Standards Booklet.

• The Board facilitated the transition of the ACJS national office from Kentucky to Virginia. Although the organization moved in the summer of 1998, with the assistance of Todd Clear, Gary Cordner, and Marilyn Chandler Ford, more staff members were recruited and hired, new office space was secured, and the Academy’s presence in the D.C. area was stabilized.

Gary Cordner, President 1998-1999

Gary Cordner was the Dean of the College of Justice & Safety at Eastern Kentucky University while serving as President of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences

Specific Items Initiated or Completed During Your Presidency and Who Was Involved In Accomplishing Them

• During my presidential year, ACJS had a successful conference in Orlando, Florida.

• Most significantly, though, we moved the ACJS national office from Northern Kentucky University to the Washington, DC area. The physical relocation of the national office, including finding and leasing new office space in northern Virginia, was a big job. Even more daunting was replacing our long-time Executive Director, Pat DeLancey, who chose not to make the move. It was a very difficult transition year, in fact the first of several challenging transitional years. But a decade later, we are firmly ensconced in the DC area and all is serene again.

• It was a special honor for me to follow in the footsteps of my mentor Robert Sheehan from Northeastern University, who was the 5th ACJS President, serving in 1967-1968.
Gennaro F. Vito, President 1997-1998
Gennaro F. Vito was a Professor of Justice Administration, University of Louisville while serving as President of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences.

Specific Items Initiated or Completed During Your Presidency and Who Was Involved In Accomplishing Them
• During my presidency, the Executive Board labored long and hard to relocate the ACJS National Office to the Washington, D.C. area.

Jay Albanese, President 1995-1996
Jay Albanese was Professor and Chair of the Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice at Niagara University, when serving as President of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences.

Specific Items Initiated or Completed During Your Presidency and Who Was Involved In Accomplishing Them
• We formed the ACJS Committee on Education & Minimum Standards, based on his previous work in establishing Minimum Standards in the Northeast region. This committee worked on the Standards which became the foundation for ACJS' current Certification process for Associates, Bachelors and Masters degree programs.
• ACJS published the first Media Guide at ACJS which highlighted the expertise of members and was distributed to news organizations.

Harry E. Allen, President, 1994-1995
Harry E. Allen was Professor at San Jose State University when serving as President of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences.

Specific Items Initiated or Completed During Your Presidency and Who Was Involved In Accomplishing Them
• I made concerted effort to increase the diversity of both the Academy and Officers of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences.
• I made an effort to include new members (and challenge incumbent members to retire) as Officers in the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences.
• I encouraged new approaches to fiscal solvency of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences.
• As every Past President might say: To live through my term as President.
Francis T. Cullen, President 1993-1994
Francis T. Cullen was Distinguished Research Professor at the University of Cincinnati when serving as President of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences.

Specific Items Initiated or Completed During Your Presidency and Who Was Involved In Accomplishing Them
- During my ACJS presidency, I worked to improve the quality of the annual meeting and helped to implement an employment bulletin that was distributed to all ACJS members.
- I was also afforded the opportunity in his ACJS presidential address to set forth his initial statement of social support theory.

Robert Bohm, President 1992-1993
Robert Bohm was a professor in the Department of Criminal Justice at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte when serving as President of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences.

Specific Items Initiated or Completed During Your Presidency and Who Was Involved In Accomplishing Them
- I was able to get the Executive Board to appropriate funds for a conference held during the summer of 1992 to create the Minorities and Women Section.
- I was the first president to give a presidential address.
- I was the first president to travel around the country to attend all of the ACJS regional association meetings.
- I was the first president to open the presidential reception to all meeting attendees. Prior to my presidency, the presidential reception was limited to only a relatively small number of invited guests.

Vincent Webb, President 1990-1991
Vincent Webb was Chairman of the Department of Criminal Justice at the University of Nebraska at Omaha when serving as President of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences.

Specific Items Initiated or Completed During Your Presidency and Who Was Involved In Accomplishing Them
- Major initiatives while I was on the board include the development of a strategic planning process, the establishment of sections, and the establishment of the Journal of Criminal Justice Education.

Edward J. Latessa, President 1989-1990
Edward J. Latessa was Professor and Head of the Department of Criminal Justice, University of Cincinnati, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Specific Items Initiated or Completed During Your Presidency and Who Was Involved In Accomplishing Them
- The first issue of JCJE was published.
• The Academic Peer Review Committee notified programs about the review process.
• The Guide to Graduate Programs in Criminal Justice and Criminology was published.

Larry Gaines, 1988-1989
Larry Gaines was a Professor, Police Studies Department, Eastern Kentucky University when serving as President of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences.

Specific Items Initiated or Completed During Your Presidency and Who Was Involved In Accomplishing Them
• I worked with Gary Cordner on developing the sections policy that was ultimately implemented, but I do not remember if it was during my presidency or some other time.

R. Paul McCauley, President 1985-1986
R. Paul McCauley was Professor of Criminology, Indiana University of Pennsylvania when serving as President of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences.

Specific Items Initiated or Completed During Your Presidency and Who Was Involved In Accomplishing Them
• I mediated, with the Board, the transition of the Justice Quarterly editorship during, a highly contentious issue at a time when the Academy was stressed and its mission was developing and coming into focus.

Dorothy Bracey, President 1984-1985
Dorothy Bracey was Chair, Dept of Anthropology, John Jay College of Criminal Justice when serving as President of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences.

Specific Items Initiated or Completed During Your Presidency and Who Was Involved In Accomplishing Them
• My term saw the publication of first volume of Justice Quarterly, our very own journal. It is safe to say that JQ has since gone from strength to strength.
• ACJS signed on to the amicus brief in the U.S. Supreme Court case of Tennessee v. Garner, siding with the eventual opinion that overturned the Common Law fleeing felon rule. This decision helped to change the police use of deadly force throughout the United States. This was the first and, I believe, the last time that ACJS took such a public position.
• I was the first woman to be President of ACJS. Since ACJS has since elected a number of distinguished women Presidents.
Larry T. Hoover, President 1982-1983

Dr. Larry Hoover was an Associate Professor at Sam Houston State University when serving as President of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences.

Specific Items Initiated or Completed During Your Presidency and Who Was Involved In Accomplishing Them

- During his ACJS Presidency, 1982-1983, the Academy created its own journal, Justice Quarterly – now in Volume 27.

Pre-Search Employment Exchange

The Pre-Search Employment Exchange will be located in Terrace Salon 1 and will be open the same hours as the Exhibit Hall. A schedule is available below which highlights content area interests; during the specified time, faculty representatives with expertise in these areas will be available to meet with individuals searching for an academic position. Please review the schedule and make a point to visit the Exchange.

The Pre-Search Employment Exchange is designed to allow graduate students and all others seeking an academic position an opportunity to meet with representatives from institutions that may be currently searching or searching in the future. Pre-search materials including “getting ready for the interview process,” and “what you need to know about a career in academe,” will be available. Students are also invited to participate in simulated interviews with members of the ACJS Board.

The 2010 Outstanding Mentor awards are given for significant contributions to the professional development of student and colleagues:

Leanne F. Alarid, University of Texas - San Antonio, Department of Criminal Justice
"Dr. Leanne F. Alarid has been a great mentor and teacher to me."
"I want to be a professor of her status one day."

Harry E. Allen, San Jose State University, Administration of Justice
"Harry has been a mentor, advisor, and friend for over half my life."

Todd R. Clear, John Jay College of Criminal Justice, Department of Law and Police Science
He "gave me the confidence that I needed to believe that I could complete graduate school and a doctorate in criminal justice." "Much of my teaching style has been adopted from my observations of him as a professor."

Rolando V. del Carmen, Sam Houston State University, College of Criminal Justice
"Professor del Carmen is the model of the academic mentor." "To be known as a "del Carmen student" is a badge … in Criminal Justice." "Mentoring students remains his greatest legacy. He is a father figure to many, many students."

James O. Finckenauer, Rutgers University, School of Criminal Justice
"I learned many teaching skills from being Jim’s teaching assistant."

Rosemary L. Gido, Indiana University of Pennsylvania, Department of Criminology
"Dr. Rosemary Gido has been the epitome of the word ‘mentor.’ She has been the advisor for numerous students from undergraduates through doctoral candidates." "Dr. Gido was not just my chair; she was my mentor, my confidant, and my friend."

Zelma W. Henriques, John Jay College of Criminal Justice, Department of Law and Police Science
"The mentoring that she has provided since my hiring … has been phenomenal." "She has guided me through the complications of applying for reappointment, two promotions and tenure."

Kathrine Johnson, University of West Florida
"She is the person that provided me with advice and encouragement from the time that I was an undergraduate, at Kentucky State University, all of the way through the Ph.D. process." "I can only try to proceed in academia and life with the same passion and integrity as she has shown me."

Janice O. Joseph, Richard Stockton College of New Jersey, Criminal Justice Department
Her “constant support has given me the confidence that I needed to make it through the early stages of my career and sustain me during the current stage.”
"As a mentor, she embodies integrity, character, and commitment."

Jess Maghan, The Center for Comparative Corrections
"Dr. Maghan has been a significant guide to me and many others during our academic upbringing and now our professional lives."
Marilyn D. McShane, University of Houston – Downtown, Department of Criminal Justice
“She has devoted herself unselfishly to providing support and guidance to students and faculty.” “She inspires creativity, motivation, confidence, and integrity in those she has mentored.”

Alida V. Merlo, Indiana University of Pennsylvania, Department of Criminology
“Alida Merlo is more than an outstanding mentor; she is an exceptional role model.” “She is the most amazing person that I know.” “Dr. Merlo’s ability to foster the development of new ideas and to cultivate the process of turning those ideas into projects makes her a uniquely talented mentor.”

Laura J. Moriarty, Virginia Commonwealth University, Office of the Provost
“She has been one who has never lost sight of the importance of mentoring in every arena in which she has been involved; she epitomizes mentoring at its best!” “Dr. Moriarty has made mentorship one of her primary foci not only as an administrator but as a faculty member mentoring her students and her colleagues.” “She embodies the true essence of a mentor in every fashion.” “I refer to Dr. Moriarty as my “academic mother. She has helped to shape my life in ways that she will never fully understand.”

Roslyn Muraskin, Long Island University at C.W. Post, Department of Criminal Justice
“She possesses all the qualifications necessary for a great mentor – patience, integrity, competence, a fine personality, and high ideals.”

Allan Patenaude, University of Regina, Department of Justice Studies
“Al is an exceptional mentor for both faculty and graduate students in our MA programs.” “He consistently put others needs ahead of his own professional aspirations and endeavors.”

James Ruiz, Pennsylvania State University – Harrisburg, School of Public Affairs
“To this day, Dr. Ruiz has developed from my assigned advisor, to professor, to co-author, to mentor.” “He is a compassionate human being, a true leader, an outstanding role model, and a mentor to be admired.” “The best gift he gave me, however, was the self-confidence with which I have been able to push myself to the next levels in the academic life.”

Mittie Southerland, ACJS, Executive Director
“Each encounter with Dr. Southerland as a mentor has strengthened my character and enriched my professional experiences. Her support and confidence in me have been immeasurable.”

Mary K. Stohr, Boise State University, Department Criminal Justice Administration
“She has a sense of compassion, vision, and profound faith in humanity. These together make her an exceptional mentor.”

Dorothy L. Taylor, University of Miami, Emeritus, Department Sociology
“Dorothy became my surrogate mother during some of the most challenging times in my graduate training.” “Dorothy has always been there for me, ready with advice and a steady shoulder to lean on; her words have always been honest, caring, and uplifting.”

Richard Tewksbury, University of Louisville, Department of Justice Administration
“Without his guidance and support, I would not still be in academia at this level.”

Gennaro F. Vito, University of Louisville, Department of Justice Administration
“Dr. Vito has provided me with guidance in understanding the broadness and importance of being a professor.”
Jennifer Balboni, Curry College
Vidisha Barau, Penn State Altoona
Michele Bratina, Indiana University of Pennsylvania
Cynthia Brown, University of Central Florida
Jake Bucher, Baker University

Bruce Lawrence Berg, a Cal State Long Beach criminal justice graduate adviser and professor, died of a heart attack Feb. 20 in Santa Ana. He was 54.

Berg was born on Oct. 7, 1954, in Brooklyn, N.Y. He studied sociology, earning his bachelor’s degree from Brooklyn College in 1975 and, from Syracuse University, his master's degree in 1982 and his doctorate in 1983.

Berg began his teaching career as a criminal justice professor at Indiana University of Pennsylvania in 1988. Eleven years later, he became a professor at CSULB. From 2001 to 2003, he served as the chair of the criminal justice department. He left Indiana University and moved to the West coast, leaving the small-town atmosphere to experience a more diverse area.

However, the reason for his passion for sociology and criminal justice never came up, said Kate Dwyer, his daughter. His son, Alex, a CSULB accounting and business alumnus, said Berg had a mentor in school “who taught him the ropes.”

“I know he loved it, was fascinated by it,” Dwyer said, “and he loved teaching more than anything else.”

In addition to mentoring graduate students at CSULB, Berg taught a total of 10 different courses about subjects such as criminological theory, thesis project writing, research methods, and causation and criminal investigation. He also worked with students through CSULB’s Partners for Success program.

“Students loved him; he was an active scholar, and he sat on countless department, college and university committees,” said Brenda Vogel, an associate criminal justice professor, in an e-mail. “What really made Bruce special, however, were the ‘intagables’ he brought to the department. He could always be counted on to step up when something needed to get one, he would take on additional students, step in and teach a class for a sick colleague, help out students in a bind, and on and on.”

Connie Ireland, graduate program coordinator, said in an e-mail that Berg would “pop into an office, plant himself in a chair” to chat about various subjects “without fail every week, with every single faculty member in the department.”

He taught on campus, as well as for the off-campus accelerated master’s program in criminal justice. Berg was also involved with an exchange program that sent criminal justice students to universities in China.

Berg has published about six books in qualitative research methods, policing and other areas of criminal justice. He also published about 40 articles in different academic journals.

He worked on research projects with various groups, including the Massachusetts State Police Academy. He especially took an interest in studying policing, police training, juvenile justice and substance abuse.

Sam Torres, criminal justice undergraduate adviser and friend of Berg, describes Berg as “kind of a jokester” who was “always in a good mood.”

“He was somebody who found the joy and wonder in all the things in his life,” Dwyer said.

He enjoyed traveling and loved visiting Hawaii — so much so that he was well known on campus for wearing Hawaiian shirts. He has also traveled to China, London and Scotland.

“He always wore Hawaiian shirts with matching socks and/or shoes,” Vogel said. “If he had on a chartreuse shirt, then his socks would be chartreuse and green argyle.”
Torres said he learned from Berg “to live life for today; don’t put off things too long.”

“The man knew anything and everything about everything,” said his son, Alex, who noted that Berg was able to build despite a lack of experience in carpentry and could answer “Jeopardy” questions like a contestant. “He’s the smartest man I’ve ever met, and a loving father and husband.”

On a typical day, Berg would wake up at 4:30 a.m. and go to the gym with his wife before going to work. At the end of the day, he would go to his home in Irvine and cook dinner for his wife and himself.

“I guess his No. 1 hobby was spending time with my mom,” Dwyer said. “They were hardly ever apart.”

Berg met his wife, Jill, whom he married in 1975, when they worked at a two-story mall in New York. Berg, a shoe-store employee in his 20s, flirted with the woman from the cheese store for a while before asking her out on a date.

Dwyer said believed he would say his greatest accomplishment was being a father and a husband.

In his spare time, Berg enjoyed watching television and taking care of and walking his dog, Bebe, an American bulldog mix. Some of his favorite shows included “CSI,” “Medium,” “Law and Order” and “Monk.”

He also liked collecting stamps and coins, and reading mysteries and detective novels. According to Dwyer, he also had a black belt in karate and lost more than 100 pounds last year.

Berg is survived by his wife, Jill; his daughter, Kate, 27, of San Diego; and his son, Alex, 25, of Irvine.

JAMES A. INCIARDI

James A. Inciardi, Co-Director of the Center for Drug and Alcohol Studies at the University of Delaware and Professor of Sociology and Criminal Justice died on Monday, November 23rd after a prolonged and courageous battle with multiple myeloma. Jim was born in Brooklyn on November 28, 1939 and spent his youth and young adulthood in New York City and its Boroughs. Wherever he lived and worked in later years, New York City remained central to his identity. He graduated from Fordham University and had an early and varied career as a jazz drummer and parole officer for the City of New York. In the late 1960s he went to work for Carl Chambers at the New York State Narcotic Addiction Control Commission and entered graduate school at New York University.

When he completed his PhD in 1973 from NYU, Jim had already relocated to the University of Miami continuing to work with Chambers in the Division of Addiction Sciences in the Department of Psychiatry at the University of Miami. He held several research and academic positions at the University of Miami in the early 1970s, including Director of the National Center for the Study of Acute Drug Reactions at the University of Miami School of Medicine. During this period, he worked with Chambers, Harvey Siegel, John Ball, and others on an important series of studies on narcotics addicts and the process of addiction. At this time he also began a series of studies examining the associations between drug use and criminal activity, and this work would form the core of his scholarly activity for much of his professional career. He relocated to the University of Delaware in 1976, and UD became his academic home for the remainder of his career, though he maintained a professional connection with the University of Miami as well. He was promoted to Professor at UD in 1979. For many years (1976-1991), he was the Director of Criminal Justice in the Department of Sociology and Criminal Justice at Delaware, and he became renowned as a teacher of criminal justice, leading to the publication of his popular textbook on Criminal Justice, now in its 9th Edition.

Beginning in 1976 Jim had a remarkable unbroken record of funding from the National Institute on Drug Abuse (NIDA) including twenty-one awards for which he was Principal Investigator. More impressive than the number of grants was the breadth and depth of his scholarly activity and the impact his work had on the field and on policy and program development. His studies began with the criminal involvement of drug abusers and the ethnography of street addiction in various subpopulations, and later moved to studies of drug abuse treatment for criminal offenders. With the arrival of AIDS and its disproportionate concentration among drug using populations, his research focus shifted to the epidemiology of HIV infection and transmission, and later to the development and evaluation of effective HIV prevention and treatment programs for both street and criminal justice populations. In all of his studies of drug involvement, criminal justice and HIV, his work moved from careful observation, to hypothesis testing, and then to clinical trials of novel ways to address these problems. His work led to the creation of the KEY/CREST Therapeutic Community continuum of treatment for drug involved offenders in Delaware, which became a national and international model for criminal justice treatment. His later work on HIV interventions with high-risk populations led to programs that have been instituted in probation and community settings in the U.S., Brazil, and the Virgin Islands. Besides his steady work with NIDA, he conducted important studies for the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, the Center for Substance Abuse Treatment, and Denver Health and Hospital Authority. Up to the time of his death, he was actively working on studies of prescription drug abuse and diversion, case management for vulnerable women, and a new ethnography on ecstasy use in Brazil. His work was recognized by awards from the American Society of Criminology, the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences, and the Drug and Alcohol Section of the American Sociological Association. Jim was an active member of the College on Problems of Drug Dependence, and a former member of the Internal Advisory Committee, Executive Office of the President, Office of National Drug Control Policy. In 1994 he received the Outstanding Scholar Award from the University of Delaware and was awarded a Merit Grant from the National Institute on Drug Abuse, and in 1995 he was named a Fellow of the American Society of Criminology.
In 1991, Jim founded the Center for Drug and Alcohol Studies (CDAS) at the University of Delaware within the Department of Sociology and Criminal Justice in the College of Arts and Sciences. The mission he established for CDAS is the production, dissemination, and utilization of scientific knowledge in preventing and treating substance abuse and other health risk behaviors among hard-to-reach populations of youths and adults. Over the years the Center has grown in both size and in the scope of its studies. It now has major administrative research offices in Newark, DE and Coral Gables, FL and satellite research offices in Wilmington, DE, Miami, FL and Porto Alegre, Brazil. The Center has acted as a magnet for other state, national, and international studies related to substance abuse and health. The Center now comprises funded studies by many other investigators in Delaware and Florida as well as collaborative efforts with national and international scholars. CDAS has the largest portfolio of social science research at the University of Delaware. The Center supports a number of graduate students, faculty associates, and part time researchers as well as its full time staff. Jim remained a very active Co-Director of the Center till his death. In the last several years, he focused on directing the Coral Gables Research Office of CDAS, and on developing a research program to examine the rise in the abuse and diversion of prescription drugs.

During his long scholarly career of over 40 years, Jim published over 500 articles, chapters, books, and monographs in the areas of substance abuse, criminology, criminal justice, history, folklore, public policy, AIDS, medicine, and law. His scholarly publications included several seminal papers on the epidemiology of crack cocaine use, as well as the effectiveness of prison-based substance abuse treatment for drug-involved offenders. This body of scholarly work will be an enduring memorial to him. He was a revered colleague and engaged in extensive consulting work both nationally and internationally. Even more important than his professional work is the living memorial that remains among his professional friends and colleagues. He was a “translational scientist” long before the term came into vogue, interested in moving ideas into tested strategies and then disseminating the knowledge and practices for use in real-world settings. He knew how to collaborate, motivate research teams, and mentor young scholars and to always share credit for accomplishments. Generations of research scientists have been affected by his written work and generous inclusion in his professional work. He did not like bureaucracy or process but was a master at dealing with both. He could move effectively and communicate clearly with academic, professional, and government audiences. In the process he built a wealth of friends in university settings, departments of correction, and government agencies such as NIDA, SAMHSA, CDC, and ONDCP. They will miss him and strive to carry on his work.

Personally, Jim loved jazz, scuba diving, traveling and collecting art from Latin America. Although his battle with cancer curtailed many of these activities in recent years, he remained remarkably positive and upbeat, and never gave up hope in his fight. He is survived by his wife, collaborator and partner, Hilary Surratt, and by his three children, Craig, Brooks, and Kristin. He is also survived by his sister Anne Cifu, his daughters-in-law Joan and Lynne, and his grandchildren Allegra, Brooks, Anastasia, and Alessandra.

MICHAEL ISRAEL

We lost a dedicated, intelligent, caring, compassionate, and very unique person when Mike Israel passed suddenly on March 6, 2009 while on vacation with his wife, Jerri Israel, in Luray, Va. Mike was a career academic criminologist for over three decades and a focused leader, passionate teacher, and trusted friend. He was also an important ACJS leader, and an avid sports fan, recently holding season tickets to the Washington Nationals and the Washington Wizards. If one wanted to know who the Nationals drafted in the third round three years ago, and how they were now rated as minor leaguers by national magazines, a call to Mike was the easiest way to find out. Of course, Rutgers University athletics and the Cincinnati Reds always held a place in his heart.

With ACJS, his most recent work was putting together what is now the Section on Law and Public Policy, almost single-handedly running it for several years until it reached the solid footing it is now on. However, this capped a long career of activity with New Jersey organizations and the Northeastern Criminal Justice Association.

Upon “retirement,” Mike became the creator and editor of the Criminal Justice Washington Letter, a newsletter which covered CJ policy making organizations in Washington, D.C. He devoted enormous energy and personally subsidized the enterprise, covering hearings and reading committee documents, from his perspective as a political scientist, in an attempt to keep people aware of the criminal justice pipeline. On many issues he organized groups to sign petitions to improve Criminal Justice legislation.

His zest for living, thirst for knowledge, and quest for justice was evident over the years. Mike grew up in Cincinnati, OH and graduated from Antioch College in 1960. He started out as a reporter for a small town newspaper in Celina, OH, and received his M.A. and Ph.D. in Political Science from Rutgers University in 1974. He was a member of the Departments of Political Science and Public Administration at Kean University (formerly Newark State College) from 1969 until his retirement in 2002, where he was the founder of the Criminal Justice major and its director from 1977-2002. One thing that impressed many of his students and colleagues is that long after tenure he improved his ability to teach by returning to the Rutgers School of Criminal Justice, where he earned an MA in 1985.

In his service to the field, Mike was on the board of directors of the NJ chapter of the American Correctional Association, the NJ Association on Corrections and the American Friends Service Committee. He was also a member of the NJ state legislature’s advisory committee as an advisor on criminal justice policy issues from 1994-2002. For 25 years he was a member of the community advisory board of the Rahway Lifers’ Group (aka the Scared Straight Program). His article entitled “‘Scared Straight’ Controversy” earned him the NJ State Bar Association’s Article of the Year Award in 1980. Former Rutgers graduate students, including former ACJS President Jay Albanese, report that Mike made an important contribution to their educations just by going far out of his way to hire them for adjunct positions at Kean, when that was their only source of support.

Mike was a frequent consultant for local police departments, and was an expert witness on several police misconduct cases. Mike was proud to know that a large number of his former students are now sworn police officers. With Mike as their professor, these former students learned what he stood for: professional police work that was effective, served public safety, and was strictly within Constitutional boundaries.

In 2001, Mike received the Jack Mark Award from the NJ Association of Criminal Justice Educators for having made a significant contribution to the field of criminal justice. In receiving the award, Mike noted that the struggle between good and evil was what fascinated him and made him decide to pursue a career as a criminologist.

Mike was the Director of the Secretariat for the Northeastern Association of Criminal Justice Sciences from 1996-2002 and received the Organization’s Innovator Award in 2006. Mike was a regular contributor to sessions at the NEACJS conference and after his retirement became a featured speaker on CJ policy issues at the opening Wednesday night session.

Mike will be sorely missed for his devoted friendship and many contributions to the Criminal Justice Community at large.

THOMAS CASTELLANO

We have lost a man of great warmth and humor who never stopped challenging us to make our communities and institutions less punitive and more civil. Thomas Castellano---scholar, humanitarian, mentor, staunch fan of the Yankees and Salukis, great dad and loving husband---died on September 9, 2009. He is survived by his wife, Maria Casapini, and children Kathryn and Devin.

Castellano, or Nino-Bob as he was known to his grad school softball team at SUNY Albany [also including Bob-Bob Langworthy and Mo-Bob McLeod, among others], was not only a serious scholar but also a serious friend, having fun running the bases after a full day of work at the Hindelang Criminal Justice Research Center.

Castellano was on the criminal justice faculty at Southern Illinois University Carbondale for twenty years and was a member of the Southern Illinois Restorative Justice Action Committee. In 2003, he moved to Penfield, New York, to serve as Professor and Chair of the Department of Criminal Justice at Rochester Institute of Technology. In Rochester, he was a valued board member of Partners in Restorative Initiatives (PIRI), which works with schools, courts and communities to instill restorative practices through education, advocacy, training and facilitation.

His passionate commitment to social and restorative justice is evident in his choice of research topics, his willingness to take public stands on controversial justice issues, his active support for restorative initiatives in his communities, and his collaborative classroom environments. In studies of progressive boot camps and super-max prisons, Castellano identified how both inmates and staff were likely to be commodified by retributive settings. To Castellano, a restorative justice approach would provide an urgently needed “…sea change in how we think of crime and punishment.”

Castellano brought his passion for restorative justice to daily life on campus. In 2005, he organized a conference about using restorative practices to transform how justice is done in university communities. In his courses at RIT, deaf students in particular praised his use of Learning Circles as a way to create a rich, egalitarian, inclusive, intellectual environment.

To honor Castellano’s dedication to the principles of social and restorative justice, RIT and PIRI have established the Thomas Castellano Memorial Lecture on Justice. On October 15, 2009, Robert Sampson gave the inaugural address, “Communities and Crime,” reflecting Castellano’s commitment to the wellbeing of families, schools, and neighborhoods.

Castellano had plans to write a book on restorative justice. His life is book enough.

DEAN CHAMPION

Popular TAMIU professor of criminal justice Dr. Dean John Champion passed away on Monday, Feb. 23 after a brief battle with leukemia.

Originally from California, Dr. Champion joined TAMIU in 2000. He was named TAMIU Distance Educator of the Year in 2006 and the College of Arts and Sciences’ Scholar of the Year 2006-2007.

Dr. Champion held his undergraduate and graduate degrees from Brigham Young University. His Ph.D. was earned at Purdue University. He had written over 40 texts and/or edited works, with several translated and published in Chinese, Russian, Portuguese and Spanish. He had previously taught at the University of Tennessee, California State University and Minot State University, where he served as department chair for several years.

He is survived by his wife, Gerri K.; his son and daughter-in-law Dr. Sean (Canaan) Champion, M.D., Arkansas; stepdaughter Wendy L. Tuner, Ohio; and brother-in-law William (Sharon) Sprinkle, Virginia. Also, three granddaughters and four great-grandchildren; his sisters Betty Digati, California; Janice (Elmer) Moore, Arizona; and his brother Gail Ralph (Georgiana) of Champion, Utah. In addition, he is survived by several nieces and nephews.

Sponsored by ACJS  (ACJS student registration required)

12:30pm - 1:30pm
Q & A Session with Joseph Wambaugh, Renowned Author of “The Blooding”

Wambaugh’s reputation as a powerful writer was established with his first four books: The New Centurions, The Blue Knight, The Onion Field, and The Choirboys. Wambaugh’s willingness and ability to display police as human has earned his work a special place in American literature. “What he writes is important because there are few really knowledgeable men who try to tell the public what a cop’s life is like.”

1:30pm -3:00pm
Innocence Project – San Diego, CA.
Jeff Chin

The Innocence Project is a national litigation and public policy organization dedicated to exonerating wrongfully convicted people through DNA testing and reforming the criminal justice system to prevent future injustice. The work of the Innocence Network member organizations led to 27 exonerations in 2009. The exonerees served a total of 421 years in prison for crimes they didn’t commit, and their cases reveal deep flaws in the criminal justice system that must be addressed.

Chapter Advisors Meeting

9:30am - 11:00am
MS-13 Organized Gang Crimes
Ana Gorham-Maki, Houston Police Dept./FBI – Houston Office

Who are they? Members of Mara Salvatrucha, better known as MS-13, who are mostly Salvadoran nationals or first generation Salvadoran-Americans, and other Central and South American immigrants. And according to recent national threat assessment of this growing, mobile street gang, they could be operating in your community...now or in the near future. MS-13 members engage in a wide range of criminal activity, including drug distribution, murder, rape, prostitution, robbery, home invasions, immigration offenses, kidnapping, carjackings/auto thefts, and vandalism. Most of these crimes, you’ll notice, have one thing in common—they are exceedingly violent. And while most of the violence is directed toward other MS-13 members or rival street gangs, innocent citizens often get caught in the crossfire.

12:30pm - 2:00pm
Student Leadership Workshop
National Student Officers: President Enrique Chavez; Vice-President Student Pam Wilson; National Student Secretary Mey-Ling Lima; National Student Treasurer Colleen arpenter; Audit Masters Representative Lionel Garza. (Fundraising)

KEY READINGS IN CRIMINOLOGY
Edited By Tim Newburn

This comprehensive single-volume contains 145 readings in criminology from original criminological texts and key articles. By offering a wide range of classic and contemporary readings, the book is beneficial in a number of ways to the study of criminology as a course textbook for students. It is an important source of both ‘key’ and supplementary reading for lectures, important for organized reading in advance of seminars and tutorials, and extremely useful as a basis for classroom discussion and analysis.

Stan Stojkovic, John Klofas, and David Kalinich, eds.
Fourteen new articles and the strongest pieces from prior editions make this the most up-to-date and authoritative compendium that addresses issues confronting today’s administrators and staffs.

James F. Quinn
Extensively updated, this popular choice for classroom adoption—priced substantially lower than other texts on the market—is a concise yet thorough examination of current key elements of the correctional system.

Roger G. Dunham and Geoffrey P. Alpert, eds.
Thirty-one articles examine elements of policing within the broader social context, giving readers access to important issues confronting law enforcement personnel, policy makers, and the public.

Gang Redux: A Balanced Anti-Gang Strategy
James Diego Vigil
This concise text shows how replacing street socialization with programs involving families, schools, and law enforcement can be a logical way to tackle the roots of the gang problem.

Human Relations and Police Work, 6th ed.
Larry Miller, Michael Braswell, and John Whitehead
Versatile, practical, and interactive, this casebook stimulates students to identify with and to express how they would cope with realistic situations encountered by law-enforcement professionals.

Our Punitive Society: Race, Class, Gender, and Punishment in America
Randall G. Shelden
This brand new text identifies the macroeconomic forces relevant to imprisonment—poverty and political powerlessness—and explores viable and humane alternatives to our current incarceration binge.

Theorizing Criminal Justice: Eight Essential Orientations, 2nd ed.
Peter B. Kraska and John J. Brent, eds.
Twenty articles, organized by eight theoretical perspectives, illustrate the complex nature of criminal justice along with the theories that have informed various practices and the intellectual underpinnings of each.
Dorm Room Dealers: Drugs and the Privileges of Race and Class
A. Rafik Mohamed & Erik D. Fritsvold
“Outstanding…. The authors uncover a world of drug dealing far removed from violent street-corner slinging and as entwined in the college experience as all-nighters and keg parties.”—Peter Moskos, John Jay College of Criminal Justice • hc $49.95

Guns, Violence, and Criminal Behavior: The Offender's Perspective
Mark R. Pogrebin, Paul Stretesky, & N. Prabha Unnithan
“First rate, and the kind of work that is desperately needed…. This book fills a major gap in the gun violence literature.”—Tomislav Kovandzic, University of Texas at Dallas • hc $49.95

The Police in War: Fighting Insurgency, Terrorism, and Violent Crime
David H. Bayley & Robert M. Perito
“Anyone who has an interest or responsibility in the US role in international policing needs to read this book.”—James “Buster” Hall, Northeastern State University • hc $55 • pb $22.50

Crime and the Global Political Economy
H. Richard Friman, Editor
“An important contribution to our understanding of global crime and illicit flows across borders.”—Bradford Dillman, University of Puget Sound • hc $55

Learning to Live with Statistics: From Concept to Practice
David Asquith
“Very clear…. The well-posed problems are indicative of the chapter material…. Provides a good comprehensive introduction to the subject for liberal arts, education, and social science undergraduates and graduate students.”—Choice • hc $95 • pb $45

Juvenile Delinquency and Justice: Sociological Perspectives
Ronald J. Berger & Paul D. Gregory, Editors
“Valuable…. The richness of the ethnographic studies will be of particular interest to all of those seeking a deeper understanding of juvenile delinquency and justice.”—Carla Davis, Beloit College • pb $38.50

Judging Victims: Why We Stigmatize Survivors, and How They Reclaim Respect
Jennifer L. Dunn
“An important book…. Dunn addresses significant practical questions that are also theoretically intriguing.”—Donileen Loseke, University of South Florida • hc $55

Sentencing Guidelines: Lessons from Pennsylvania
John H. Kramer & Jeffery T. Ulmer
“An important case study on sentencing guidelines that everyone concerned with equal justice under law must read…. Highly recommended.”—Choice • hc $65

NEW—3RD EDITION!
Crime, Justice, and Society: An Introduction to Criminology
Ronald J. Berger, Marvin D. Free, Jr., & Patricia Searles
“Crime, Justice, and Society encourages students to critically assess the causes and patterns of crime, forms of victimization, and institutional responses, providing a context for understanding the structural complexities related to criminal behavior.”—Robert L. Peralta, University of Akron • pb $38.50

FORTHCOMING!
Wrongful Death Sentences: Rethinking Justice in Capital Cases
Cathleen Burnett
“Burnett fills an important gap in our understanding of innocence and the death penalty.”—Susan Sharp, University of Oklahoma • hc $49.95

ICPSR SUMMER PROGRAM
In Quantitative Methods of Social Research

June–July, 2010

The annual ICPSR Summer Program in Quantitative Methods is a comprehensive, integrated program of studies in research design, statistics, data analysis, and social methodology. In 2010, the program will include three criminal justice workshops organized by the National Archive of Criminal Justice Data (NACJD).

• Quantitative Analysis of Crime and Criminal Justice
  A six-week course including hands-on analysis of major national data collections such as the National Crime Victimization Survey, sponsored by the Bureau of Justice Statistics, Department of Justice.

• Using National Juvenile Corrections Data
  A three-day workshop sponsored by the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention, Department of Justice.

• A workshop sponsored by the National Institute of Justice on a data-based topic to be announced.

Dates, details, and applications will be available by early 2010 at www.icpsr.umich.edu/sumprog. Review of applications will begin in March 2010; all three workshops provide a modest stipend for lodging and travel; space is limited.

For More Information (after January 1, 2010) contact the ICPSR Summer Program via email sumprog@icpsr.umich.edu, phone 734.763.7400, or on our web site www.icpsr.umich.edu/sumprog.

TEXAS STATE UNIVERSITY-SAN MARCOS NOW OFFERS A Ph.D. DEGREE IN CRIMINAL JUSTICE

Why a Ph.D. from Texas State University’s Department of Criminal Justice?

- The department has 20 full-time faculty members with backgrounds in criminology/criminal justice, law, sociology, and psychology.
- The Center for Geospatial Intelligence and Investigation is headed by Dr. Kim Rossmo who is the world’s leading expert on geographic profiling.
- The department’s annual external funding exceeded $10 million in 2008.
- Doctoral students are both traditional, full-time students and part-time, working professionals.
- Doctoral teaching assistantships are available.

Criminal Justice Doctoral Program

The Department of Criminal Justice at Texas State University-San Marcos offers a doctoral program for (1) criminal justice professionals who seek advanced education and (2) students who will pursue academic appointments at colleges and universities in Texas and around the nation. Texas State University-San Marcos is located in the heart of the central Texas corridor, near sixteen state criminal justice offices and thirteen Texas counties, including Travis (Austin) and Bexar (San Antonio). The university’s geographic proximity to state criminal justice agency headquarters for law enforcement, criminal courts, and corrections, and to managers and executives in these agencies, makes it an ideal location for offering a doctoral-degree program.

The doctoral program is part of a vibrant department, with approximately 800 bachelor’s students and 150 master’s students. Faculty members are involved in a wide range of applied and basic research. A list of faculty and their research interests is available at www.cj.txstate.edu/people/faculty. The Department of Criminal Justice administers the Center for Geospatial Intelligence and Investigation and the Advanced Law Enforcement Rapid Response Training (ALERRT).

ACJS
INFORMATION
The Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences is an international organization established in 1963 to foster professional and scholarly activities in the field of criminal justice. ACJS promotes scholarly research and professional activities within the discipline of criminal justice for both educators and practitioners. The Academy also provides a forum for disseminating ideas related to issues in research, policy, education, and practice within the field. Additionally, the Academy offers sections that address special interests of the members.

The Academy attributes its success in creating this dynamic professional association to the composition of its membership. ACJS is comprised of members from a variety of backgrounds including:

- Scholars who are international in scope and multidisciplinary in orientation,
- Professionals from all sectors of the criminal justice system, and
- Students seeking to explore the criminal justice field as future scholars or practitioners.

Through the vital interchange of ideas among these groups, ACJS members develop and share knowledge about critical issues regarding crime, criminal and social justice.

Ph.D. Student Membership Application

As a current Ph.D. student in the Criminal Justice or Criminology field, the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences is offering to you ONE YEAR FREE MEMBERSHIP in the Academy. This offer is good at any time BEFORE you graduate. Even if you are already a member, you can use this offer to cover your membership for one year while you are a doctoral student.

The Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences is an international organization established in 1963 to foster professional and scholarly activities in the field of criminal justice. ACJS promotes scholarly research and professional activities within the discipline of criminal justice for both educators and practitioners. The Academy also provides a forum for disseminating ideas related to issues in research, policy, education, and practice within the field. Additionally, the Academy offers sections that address special interests of the members.

The Academy attributes its success in creating this dynamic professional association to the composition of its membership. ACJS is comprised of members from a variety of backgrounds including:

♦ Scholars who are international in scope and multidisciplinary in orientation,
♦ Professionals from all sectors of the criminal justice system, and
♦ Students seeking to explore the criminal justice field as future scholars or practitioners.

Through the vital interchange of ideas among these groups, ACJS members develop and share knowledge about critical issues regarding crime, criminal and social justice. For more information, please visit our website at www.acjs.org.

The Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences Certification Standards for Academic Programs were approved May 2, 2005 and amended October 28, 2005 by the ACJS Executive Board. The goal of ACJS in adopting these Standards and implementing a Certification Review process is to measurably improve the quality of criminal justice education. For several years, ACJS had Minimum Standards for Criminal Justice Education and these standards were used in a peer review process through ACJS Academic Review. The new standards and process represent an evolution from "peer review" to "certification". The ACJS Certification is designed to evaluate evidence-based compliance with the Certification Standards.

What do we mean by compliance with standards? The ACJS Executive Board will Certify those programs that undergo ACJS Certification Review and that have demonstrated, through substantive, credible evidence, the program meets or exceeds all parts of every standard. The emphasis is on evidence, not intention. Programs are required to provide evidence of program quality & effectiveness based on program outcome assessment.

The Certification Standards are broken into nine sections, each of which has specific Standards and Recommended Indicators. The sections are:

- A: Program Mission & History
- B: Program Structure & Curriculum
- C: Faculty
- D: Admission & Articulation
- E: Resources
- F: Student Services
- G: Integrity
- H: Program Quality & Effectiveness
- I: Branch Campuses, Additional Locations, and Other Instructional Sites

The Certification Standards for Academic Programs and Process for Undergoing Review are available for Associate, Baccalaureate, and Master’s degree programs. You can access these Standards at the following web addresses:

- Associate Degree Process and Standards - http://www.acjs.org/pubs/167_667_12020.cfm
- Master’s Degree Process and Standards - http://www.acjs.org/pubs/167_667_12024.cfm

The Application for Program Certification and other documents can also be downloaded from the Certification page on the ACJS website: http://www.acjs.org/pubs/167_667_3517.cfm

NOTE: All papers presented at the 2011 ACJS Annual Meeting are to be original works never before published, printed, or accepted for presentation elsewhere.

All attendees at the ACJS Annual Meeting shall abide by the ACJS Code of Ethics. A copy of the Code of Ethics can be found on the ACJS website, www.acjs.org.

Program Guidelines

All program participants are required to pre-register for the conference and to provide their own transportation and meeting expenses. The form for downloading and submitting pre-registration is available at www.acjs.org on the Annual Meeting page of the website.

Abstracts should be submitted only once via the ACJS website. DO NOT SEND ABSTRACTS DIRECTLY TO THE TOPIC AREA CHAIRS. If you have questions about your submission, please send them to the Program Chair, Leanne Alarid at acjs2011@utsa.edu.

LCD projectors will be available in the meeting rooms. No laptops/computers or overhead projectors will be provided. Additional audio/video equipment is the responsibility of the presenter. Individuals wanting additional equipment must either bring their own equipment to the conference or make arrangements through the hotel for equipment rental.

ACJS Program Participation Options

Research Showcase
The Research Showcase is a collection of visual displays of research that encourages informal interaction between authors and audience. The primary author of a Research Showcase presentation must be in attendance and committed to standing near his or her presentation throughout the allotted Friday 10:00 a.m. – noon session. The Research Showcase will not compete against any other panels and will be the feature session on Friday.

Paper Presentations
Panels consist of four or five presenters of written papers and a panel chair. Presenters make formal presentations of completed works. The panel chair opens and closes the session and coordinates questions and comments from the audience. Participants who select this option are expected to send their finished papers to the Panel Chair two weeks prior to the conference.
Roundtables

Roundtables are open discussions of a topic, organized by a moderator and involving several individual discussants with special knowledge or expertise in the topic area. No formal papers are presented. Often the discussion concerns diverse viewpoints or findings in a topic area.

Complete Panels

A complete panel consists of coordinating the arrangement of four papers related to a common theme. The person facilitating the complete panel must include a panel chair, panel title, and four papers with all supporting information for the papers at the time of submission to the website. Participants involved in this option are expected to send their finished papers to the Panel Chair two weeks prior to the conference.

Student Authored Paper Panels

Undergraduate and graduate student authors may submit their papers to a regular topical area of their choice where they will present with other faculty and practitioners. However, students have the option to submit their papers for presentation on an all-student panel. These panels are on a variety of topical areas, and are designed to facilitate initial presentations in a supportive and welcoming environment. Participants who select this option are expected to send their finished papers to the Panel Chair two weeks prior to the conference. Students who select this option should send to a “student panel” and NOT to a topical area.

Submission Procedures

All submissions must be made via the ACJS webpage: http://www.acjs.org. The submission system for the 2011 annual meeting will be available by June 1, 2010. Do not send submissions directly to the individual committee members. Please note that the ACJS Annual Program book is created from the information you submit on-line. To reduce the number of errors in the program, please review and verify that all the information you enter into the submission form is complete and correct before you click the submit button. Please be sure that the first and last names are in the appropriate places.

Before beginning the submission process, please have all the following required information available. All submissions must include:

1. Submission Type (Click on the appropriate submission type): research showcase, paper presentation, roundtable, complete panel, or student panel. When submitting a complete panel, the chair information and information for up to four papers must be entered.
2. Title of paper, research showcase presentation, roundtable or complete panel.
3. An abstract of no more than 100 words must be submitted for each paper and roundtable. An abstract should be included for each paper on the complete panels. When submitting a complete panel, the chair’s form will include requested times and dates for the panel. This is a benefit of putting together a complete panel.
4. Contact information for each author, presenter, chair, etc. [Note: Paper submissions are limited to the presenter and five co-authors.]

Assess student learning. Measure and increase the value of your program.

Take your criminal justice program to the next level — with the ETS Major Field Test for Criminal Justice.

The Major Field Test for Criminal Justice draws questions specifically from subject matter common to most undergraduate criminal justice programs such as Law, Law Enforcement and the United States Court System. It also tests critical thinking skills, the ability to interpret and analyze data, apply concepts and ideas, and consider theories and relationships. The results allow you to measure program effectiveness and evaluate curricula, so you can demonstrate the strengths of your program and enhance teaching and learning with reliable, robust, actionable data.

The ETS Major Field Tests assess mastery of concepts, principles and knowledge expected of students who have completed or are nearing completion of a specific program of study. Each test is developed by a national panel of subject matter experts, and is based on core curriculum content identified in a national program survey.

New to Major Field Tests? Contact us to learn more about the Major Field Test for Criminal Justice and ask about our New Customer promotion.
