The “Get To Know Baltimore” Tour (Ticketed Event)

With so many things to see and do in Baltimore, we have hand-selected special points of interest for your enjoyment with an experienced tour-guide.

Mount Vernon: North of downtown rests the city’s cultural heart, once home to Baltimore’s Gilded Age elite. While Washington, D.C., is home to a more famous landmark, the nation’s first monument to George Washington sits proudly at the center of Mount Vernon Square. What were once the grand mansions of Baltimore’s 19th-century industrialists are now museums, galleries, shops and restaurants, beckoning visitors to stop in.

Star Spangled Banner House: Built in 1793, the house was the home and business of Mary Pickersgill, maker of the flag that inspired Francis Scott Key’s famous poem that later became our national anthem. Today, visitors encounter the interior of the house much as Mary and her household would have seen it. Visitors explore aspects of business and daily life in the Flag House by interacting with a variety of sights and sounds from 1812. Don’t forget to visit the rose garden, lovingly tended by the Maryland Rose Society. There are a number of yellow blend mini-flora roses, named to honor Mary.

Fort McHenry: This star-shaped fort was designed by Frenchman Jean Foncin and named after James McHenry, Secretary of War from 1796 to 1800. Best known for its role in the Battle of Baltimore during the War of 1812, the brick fort defended the Baltimore harbor and stopped a British advance into the city, inspiring Francis Scott Key to compose the Star Spangled Banner, originally entitled “Defense of Fort McHenry.”

Basilica of the National Shrine of the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary: America’s First Cathedral, the Basilica was constructed from 1806-1821 to a design of Benjamin Henry Latrobe, America’s first professionally-trained architect. It was built under the guidance of the first American bishop of the Roman Catholic Church, John Carroll. Consecrated on May 31, 1821, many famous events have occurred within its walls. Most early American bishops were consecrated here to fill the ever-multiplying dioceses necessitated by the country’s territorial expansion and great waves of immigration. Until recently, more priests were ordained here than in any other church in the country.

Lunch is on your own in historic Fells Point. The town of Fells Point was founded in 1763 by William Fell and officially incorporated into Baltimore in 1773. Throughout the 1700s many of the still-existing businesses and establishments were first erected in Fells Point, Baltimore’s first and most prominent Historic District. A visit here is a must. Cobble-stoned streets situated along a mesmerizing waterfront set the mood for an ideal outing. Shopping and dining are two favored activities where some of the finest gifts and cuisine in the city can be found.

Meet in the lobby of the Baltimore Marriott Waterfront at 8:45 a.m. The bus will depart promptly at 9:00 a.m. and will return to the hotel at approximately 3:30 p.m. Cost is $33 USD per person (includes transportation and admission to all sites). Does not include lunch. Please make your required reservations on the registration form.

6:00 p.m. – 7:30 p.m.

Opening Welcome Reception (Open to All Attendees)!

Monday, August 5, 2013

5:00 p.m. – 9:30 p.m.

Networking Excursion: “A Pop Culture Feast” (Ticketed Event)

We’ll start this excursion at Geppi’s Entertainment Museum (GEM), for cocktails and “pop culture with character”. Located in historic Camden Station, GEM is a journey through 250 years of American pop culture. Enjoy a cocktail as you revisit your childhood and reconnect with old friends that entertained you through comic strips and books, radio and television shows, films, cartoons and so much more! Journey from the late 1700s to present day through nearly 6,000 pop culture artifacts, including toys, dolls, games and memorabilia of every conceivable category. After enjoying the GEM, you’ll board the bus for the short ride to Canton where you can grab a mallet and “get crabby” at Bo Brooks Restaurant, voted Baltimore’s Best Crab House! This authentic Maryland crab feast will feature Bo Brooks’ famous steamed crabs and Maryland Crab Soup as well as non-seafood options. In order to treat you to this crab feast experience and keep the cost affordable, there will be a cash bar at Bo Brooks.

Meet in the lobby of the Baltimore Marriott Waterfront at 4:30 p.m. to board the bus for Geppi’s. At 7:00 p.m. buses will transport the group from Geppi’s to Bo Brooks. Cost for this event is $79 USD per person (includes reception and dinner). Please make your required reservations on the registration form.

Tuesday, August 6, 2013

6:30 p.m. – 10:30 p.m.

ACLEA Closing Event & Dinner on the USS Constellation (Ticketed Event)

Assemble on the deck of the historic warship, the USS Constellation, for dinner, karaoke and dancing under the stars! The last Civil War vessel afloat, the USS Constellation, was built in 1854 and is the last all-sail warship built by the US Navy. After years of restoration, she was returned to the Inner Harbor in 1999, where she “ties at anchor” for visitors to climb aboard and explore. She is a sloop-of-war, or corvette, and the second U.S. Naval ship to carry this famous name. A knowledgeable crew will be on hand to answer questions about the ship’s history, including its missions to disrupt the slave trade and deliver famine relief supplies to Ireland. Free guided tours will be offered during our event or you can venture off on a self-guided audio tour (headset rental is $1.00.) Join us and end the Baltimore conference with a bang!

Tickets for registrants are included in the registration fee but you must RSVP. Guest tickets are available for $75 USD (tickets include cocktails, dinner and entertainment). Please make your required reservations on the registration form.

New Member Orientation and CLE Boot Camp

The CLE Boot Camp was created to assist our colleagues who are new to the profession and those who just need a refresher. The Camp has met with rave reviews, and ACLEA is committed to continuing this service to its members. The sessions within the Camp are basic level, and the overall curriculum is designed to help you in all areas of CLE programming and publications. We are thankful to have so many volunteers and "old timers" help with these sessions. We know you will walk away with lots of information to help you in your own organization.

Separate Registration Fee Required – Fee includes a continental breakfast, networking luncheon, written materials, and a "certificate of attendance."

END BOOT CAMP AGENDA

9:30 a.m. – 3:30 p.m.
Add-On Pre-Conference Workshop: In-House Legal Training Deconstructed

(Ticketed Event - Separate Registration Fee Required)

9:30 Registration and Welcome

Roger B. Curnin III – Carlton Fields, P.A.

9:40 The Stork – How are in-house programs "born"? In-house program ideas come from partners, firm leadership, training committees, surveys, attorneys, clients, and vendors – this session discusses how they occur and special considerations applied based on their source. Of special interest will be techniques on how to say “No” when you have to.

Bernadette Lawson – Shook, Hardy & Bacon L.L.P.

10:00 TheAccordion – A Systematic Approach to Program Development

With in-house programs coming from a variety of sources, it pays to develop a system to take ideas and bring them to fruition; strategizing this is important. You want a flexible system that produces a systematic, branded product – but realizes that for each type of program driver, different rules may need to be applied. The strategy deals with best practices in program communication (planner, staff, and audience), deadlines, and variables (MCLE, invitations, location, technology).

Roger B. Curnin III – Carlton Fields, P.A.

Wyndolyn Tongee – Fulbright & Jaworski L.L.P.

10:55 Break

11:00 The Nightmares – Everyone has them. The key is to know what to do in the morning. In-house CLE accreditation has a variety of challenges. Some ordeals are encountered by all providers; many are unique to in-house. This session will focus on troubleshooting measures: jurisdictions that do not approve CLE for in-house programs; to track or not to track your attorneys’ compliance; CLE credit for clients; attorneys with multiple jurisdictions; MCLE rules that conflict with internal production processes, and more.

Maria S. Alikiewicz – Milbank, Tweed, Hadley & McCloy LLP

Roger B. Curnin III – Carlton Fields, P.A.

Betsy W. Hults – Jones Day

11:45 Networking Lunch

1:00 The Cast – This session discusses best practices when interacting with faculty and program planners. Faculty and program planners are often influential partners at the firm and cannot be fired (or easily ‘directed’ or criticized) – so how do you herd them? Sometimes faculty are clients (see previous comment). Discussion topics include: check lists, carrots, booster seats, communications, day of activities, written materials requirement, and more.

Jan F. Majewski – Holland & Knight LLP

1:40 The Audience – In-house programs for the most part have a built-in audience. Marketing takes on a completely different meaning than in the outside world of CLE. This session deals with audience issues of attracting (invitations, topic, lunch, etc); engaging (interactivity, storytelling); and satisfying (feed them, get them credit, take-aways). This session will focus on what motivates the attorneys (and the firm) to provide an audience for internal training. Also, a brief recap of client audiences and how to attract/engage/satisfy them.

Sean Carter – Lawpsided Seminars

Donna M. Kramer – Sullivan & Cromwell LLP

2:15 The Show – This topic addresses how to make an outstanding program but focuses on the nuances of the “how.” Example: invitations wrapped around chocolate bars; hot lunches versus cold sandwiches; “deep” engagement – how to put together a crossword puzzle. This session has three parts: actions before, during, and after the program to create an awesome event. Key to the topic is dealing with what you can (and can’t) get away with in your law firm’s culture.

Monica S. Mosley – Sutherland Asbill & Brennan LLP

3:00 The Mirror – This is a short session on evaluating the program. How to design a great evaluation form, distribute to get lots of them back, how to read the form, and what to do with that knowledge.

Bernadette Lawson – Shook, Hardy & Bacon L.L.P.

Monica S. Mosley – Sutherland Asbill & Brennan LLP

3:15 Conclusion / Q&A with Faculty

Opening Plenary Session:
The Secret to Connect with Any Lawyer? Discover What Law School Did to Them!
Do you want to finally “understand” lawyers – and how to successfully interact with them? Enhance your CLE programming by discovering how the typical law school experience affects a lawyer’s personality – for better or for worse. What made the difference? By the end of the session, you will:

1. Learn about serious and well-documented problems of depression and emotional distress among lawyers.
2. Learn about documented studies suggesting that law school has a negative and corrosive effect upon the well-being and value and motivation of their graduates – our customers.
3. Grasp practical knowledge about the law school experience that will assist you in connecting with lawyers through CLE programming.

Professor Lawrence Krieger – Florida State University College of Law

11:30 a.m. – 1:00 p.m.

Functional SIG Luncheons:
(Ticketed Event – Open to All Registrants)

Executive Leadership — “When You Wish Upon a Star...” – We all have too many programs, not enough hours in the day, a decreasing number of staff – what would you like to see happen in your organization to make your workplace as near perfect as possible and to ease your burdens? Come gain invaluable, life-changing tips and ideas!

Moderated by Jennifer Dabson – American University Washington College of Law

Marketing — “Marketing Achievements & Learning Opportunities” – Do you have an original marketing idea that worked really well? What about the project that tanked? Come prepared to share your war stories, and let’s all walk away with some ideas to try and, perhaps, some to avoid.

Moderated by Terry Burnett – South Carolina Bar - CLE Division

Programming — “Drafting Effective Descriptions for Programs” – What are some dos and don’ts on titles, descriptions, subject lines, etc. for effective and informative descriptions of the programs we work on? How does this help inform our programming process? Are there any new trends that we should be aware of for developing effective and informative language?

Moderated by Vincent J. O’Brien – Minnesota CLE

Publications — “Reflection” – Come chat and share with other publications pros in this open-forum lunch. A topic to consider: What ideas have you taken from previous ACLEA meetings and implemented in your publications department.

Moderated by Michelle Windsor – National Institute for Trial Advocacy, and Lisa Smith-Crissey – Publications SIG Co-Chair

Technology — With distance learning becoming more commonplace – and convenient – for our busy attorney audiences, how do we make sure we’re engaging these attendees when they’re not in the room? Technology may be the answer! With Skype, WebEx, Go to Meeting, and other off-the-shelf solutions and many other platforms designed specifically for vending distance learning – technology is seeking to create an engaging and educational environment to bring the remote audience into the discussion. Join us for a lively panel that will hopefully engage both the in-person and remote audience as well!

Richard Phung – Massachusetts Continuing Legal Education, Inc., and Gina Roers – West Professional Development

1:00 p.m. – 2:00 p.m.

Workshops A:

Publications
Word as a Publishing Platform – What We’ve Learned
In this session we’ll share up-to-date experiences on using Microsoft Word as a publishing platform, from migration to Word through to publication in print and electronic formats. This is your opportunity to compare notes on taking advantage of Word’s strengths and dealing with its weaknesses, as well as the use of third-party software in conjunction with Word.

Christine M. Reilly – Virginia CLE
Peter R. Roane – Virginia CLE

EXECUTIVE LEADERSHIP / IN-HOUSE

What Lawyers Actually Do
Canada has recently approved a “National Competency Profile,” which provides a detailed and comprehensive look at the knowledge and skills needed by new members of the practicing bar. The profile was validated through a large-scale national survey identifying the key knowledge, skills, and abilities needed for competence. Such an assessment can be a valuable resource for those of us planning how to educate lawyers. The famous MacCrate report on lawyer knowledge, skills, and values that most of us have used as a key resource in curriculum development came out in 1992. We need to be working from an updated playbook, and the Canadians have been moving forward. In this session you will receive insights not just on what to do but how to do it. Come prepared to review and discuss one of the most up-to-date analyses and evidence-based appraisals of what lawyers need to know to excel on their jobs.

Alan Treleaven – Law Society of British Columbia

PROGRAMMING

How Analysis Informs Planning: Collecting Data to Improve Programs
We all collect immense amounts of information about programs we have conducted. Collecting data, however, is only part of our jobs. We must also analyze our data to evaluate what we’ve done and judge our planning for the next year’s program. What can we learn from evaluations? What financial data is important to analyze? What marketing efforts should we continue? In this interactive session, we’ll find out what information is regularly collected during and after a program, and then ask the important question: what do we do with this data?

Lynn A. Adams – Georgetown Law CLE

MARKETING

Marketing Lessons from the 2012 Presidential Election
What can CLE providers learn from the 2012 presidential campaign strategies? They in fact make great case studies to look for lessons, trends and techniques that can be used in your own marketing efforts. During this session, you’ll learn:

• How data-driven marketing was essential in the presidential election and what tips you can use to improve your own marketing effectiveness.
• The power of segmenting past customers (voters/donors in campaign terms) employed by the campaigns and practical tips during the presidential campaign and how they can be adapted to improve your own direct mail marketing efforts.
• Key online marketing takeaways from the presidential campaign that could be used by CLE providers.
• Direct mail marketing strategies that were used during the presidential campaign and how they can be adapted to improve your own direct mail marketing efforts.
• New trends in social media marketing that were employed by the campaigns and practical tips that could be used for CLE marketing.

Moderator: Peter H. Berge – Minnesota CLE
Josh Lindblad – National Business Institute
Eric Reif – Senior Digital Advertising Manager, Obama for America
Mark Vesley – Minnesota CLE

What can CLE providers learn from the 2012 presidential campaign strategies?

MARKETING

How to Maximize Your Website Google Rankings

Come learn straightforward techniques for obtaining high website search result rankings from a proven leader of SEO best practices, right from our own CLE industry! Did you know that an estimated 93% of people searching the Internet do not look beyond page one of their search results? With the sea of competition, how can you possibly get on the first page of Google listings without stretching the budget thin? In this session, we will show you how you can increase your Internet presence with little to no risk. You’ll learn how to maximize SEO and save thousands on consultants. In addition, for those not patient enough for Google to work its SEO magic, we will give you a $100 coupon to start your own online pay-per-click campaign on Google and get yourself shown on rankings TODAY. Both beginners and experts will be able to walk away with something new and actionable.

Jeff Reekers – FurtherEd

PROGRAMMING / PUBLICATIONS

Trends in Course Materials – How to Deal with Late Papers; Moving Course Materials to Digital; Distributing Materials in Advance

As continuing legal education course organizers we balance many priorities. We try to accommodate our speakers’ and authors’ schedules as much as possible while giving as much value as we can to our registrants. During this session, you will learn great ideas for making both volunteers and registrants happy, ideas which you can take back to your office and implement right away. You will contribute your most successful techniques for dealing with late authors and learn from others as they share their experiences. Group discussions about electronic materials will give you the knowledge and confidence to implement new technology at your organization. If you have struggled with the correct format of electronic materials and need ideas to implement, come join this group and learn how to improve!

Mary McDonald – TexasBarCLE

In-House

Soft Skills - Series: Self-Awareness and Connecting with Others

The most effective lawyers are those who know themselves and understand the needs and goals of their subordinates, supervisors, colleagues, and clients. A deep awareness of both one’s self and others is the foundation of a number of critical skills, including teamwork, leadership, and effective client service. In this session, we will discuss the importance of self- and other-awareness for attorney performance and well-being. Techniques for teaching attorneys about self and other-awareness will be explored and explained.

Juliet Aiken, Ph.D. – Center for the Study of the Legal Profession, Georgetown Law Center
Lori Berman, Ph.D. – Hogan Lovells US LLP
Heather Bock, Ph.D. – Hogan Lovells US LLP

EXECUTIVE LEADERSHIP

Leading for High Performance

A key element of CLE leadership is marshalling resources from outside your organization that are essential to success. A shift is occurring in CLE from depending solely on staff and internal systems to finding and engaging the consultant, the company, the developer, the outside resource that best fits the opportunity. Economic pressures today ensure that we can’t staff up to cover every need. CLE has become too complex and the expertise of outside groups too compelling. Come prepared to participate in a discussion about how to manage the “outside game” led by a battle-tested practitioner.

Pamela J. Jester – Continuing Education of the Bar - California

TECHNOLOGY

Lights, Camera, Action! (Part 1 of 2)

Roll out the red carpet! Attend the premiere of videos created by your colleagues in Part 1. In this interactive session, the group will discuss the challenges and opportunities they discovered in pulling the videos together. Participants will walk away with practical tips and lessons learned that can easily be applied to produce short, engaging videos for any CLE blog or website. This session continues from Part 1 (Workshop B).

Peter H. Berge – Minnesota CLE
Brandon Haynie – Oklahoma Bar Association

TECHNOLOGY / PROGRAMMING

Classroom Technologies: How To Use Them to Engage Your Learners

The proliferation of portable devices that can instantly access the Internet has opened new opportunities for CLE planners — even at in-person events. A high percentage of attendees now carry a laptop, a tablet, or a smartphone with them on game day, an attractive nuisance unless you design the program to use them. Two national experts in using technology in law practice will give you practical guidance about using the attendees’ technology in the CLE classroom to engage learners through real-time searches of topical-relevant Internet sites. Find out how you can help bring your attorneys to the new level of professional competence required for gathering the winning facts for their cases or transactions. Bring your portable device and be prepared to surf the Net.

How (and Why) to Learn from Other Continuing Education Providers

Have you ever thought about how your organization is similar to (and different from) other CLE providers, and how you can utilize this knowledge to improve the way you create and market your courses and serve your members and customers? Join us for an interactive presentation and discussion on from whom to learn, what elements to look at and what techniques you can use to gain insight. Whether you are a new CLE professional or a seasoned practitioner, you won’t leave this session without several nuggets to aid your program development, marketing and/or service practices!

MARKETING
Get More Attendees at Your Events with Direct Marketing Best Practices

Have your event mailings become stale? Are you looking for new mailing ideas? Take away new techniques from an experienced direct mailer and a USPS representative, techniques that will help you increase responses for your current mailing budgets or to decrease mailings while still maintaining your response rates. Both are win-win! During this session you will also learn about:

- Segmenting Strategies: Matching your plan with your target audience; customers vs. prospects; and other considerations such as geography, practice areas, firm size, and compliance dates.
- Mailing Plans: What to mail, how much to mail, how many drops to have, when to mail each drop, and who to mail in each drop.
- Basic Forecasting Models: How to put together a basic model to predict response, key metrics and issues to consider (including budget), and perform “what if” forecasts for your mailings.
- Tracking and Analyzing your Mailing Effectiveness: What’s important to track, tracking codes, and performance analysis.
- Creativity: What you mail depends on your budget and what works for your audience. Learn basic test design principles and always continue to “test, test, test.”
- United States Postal Service Business Mail Basics: Classes of mail, advantages of bulk mail, and how the USPS and other partners can help you with your mailings.

PROGRAMMING / TECHNOLOGY
Joint Session with CLEReg – Distance Learning

Distance learning products will be presented to showcase educational technologies for lawyers. Following the demonstration, a roundtable discussion format will be used to explore how each technology might be labeled, classified or approved for MCLE credit. First-hand exposure to specific delivery methods will assist in the discussion process and help participants connect terminology to actual practices.

PUBLICATIONS
Future of Legal Publishing – Scanning the Horizon

Every week brings news of change in the world of legal publishing. The rise of digital media and mobile technologies; new pressures on the legal profession; the importance of content strategies, metadata, and context; the increasing amount of free legal content online; strategic moves by Thomson Reuters and Lexis away from delivering content in favor of practice management solutions; and the importance of access to justice initiatives and public legal education. What does it all mean? And what are the implications for CLE publishers? Susan Munro has been scanning the horizon for many years; now, she will share her reflections and predictions. Come prepared to participate in a lively discussion!

Legal Project Management: The New Normal

What’s all the “buzz” around Legal Project Management (LPM)? Many firms have dabbled in LPM but given its voluminous subject matter, only a select few have successfully adopted and implemented it. Is your organization flailing about – wondering where and how to begin? Worry no more and join Colleen Nihill, Firm Wide Director of Project Management and a pioneer in the field who in 2009 founded the Project Management department at Dechert LLP. In this workshop, you will gain a clear understanding of why LPM is important to your organization and how to get started. Don’t be left behind – find out how you can get ahead!

Organizational SIG Luncheons

(Reserved Event – Open to SIG Members Only)

Entrepreneurs — Join us for a lively discussion on topics near and dear to the hearts of Entrepreneur SIG members: (1) Structure of Entrepreneurs’ Showcase events and (2) Accreditation issues faced in the CLE world. Always, strong opinions and controversy are welcome and expected!

Moderated by Cynthia Sharp – The Sharper Lawyer

In-House/Professional Development — The In-House SIG always has excellent ideas to share, and will offer an open discussion at our luncheon. At this luncheon, we are interested in knowing what you find the most challenging when organizing your in-house programs, and then hearing from others suggestions on how to tackle these challenges! Sharing ideas and solutions is what this group is all about.

Moderated by Donna M. Kramer – Sullivan & Cromwell LLP
Bernadette Lawson – Shock, Hardy & Bacon LLP, and Monica S. Moseley – Sutherland Asbill & Brennan LLP

Law Schools — During these tough times, deans are asking administrators to do more with less and placing pressure on potential profit centers to raise revenue. Law school CLE departments are caught in the middle of this maelstrom. What can we do to protect our status and our futures? How can we best respond to our dean’s requests? How can we increase quantity while maintaining quality? We will compare notes, exchange suggestions, and opine on the future of law school CLE.

Moderated by Lawrence J. Center – Georgetown Law Center CLE

Local & Specialty Bars — One of the highlights of an ACLEA meeting is the camaraderie and networking shared during our SIG lunch meeting. Join your colleagues for an informal and lively discussion of successes and challenges you’ve faced in your shop. Share your concerns and receive the benefit of your colleagues’ ideas and solutions. Members are urged to send questions and topics for discussion to SIG Co-Chair, Susan Blair (susan.blair@nashvillebar.org).

Moderated by Susan Blair – Nashville Bar Association, and Samantha Pringle – Cleveland Metropolitan Bar Association

NATIONALS — As a national provider, is your current focus on embracing change, or is your organization re-committing to a focus on core of lawyers participating in various law-related groups on social media to be the most satisfying tool for communicating with colleagues. Shouldn't we be using social media to motivate and showcase course planners, speakers, and authors, especially the younger ones? During this session, one of the nation's foremost experts on social media in the legal universe will lead a discussion about using social media in engaging and managing CLE volunteers. Do some homework in advance at www.lexblog.com. In addition to learning from Kevin O'Keefe during this session, you will have the unique opportunity to meet with him in one-on-one social media consultations. Sessions will be held from 10:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. on Monday, and from 11:15 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. and 2:00 p.m. to 3:45 p.m. on Tuesday. Sign-up sheets for 15-minute sessions will be at the ACLEA registration desk.

Kevin O'Keefe – LexBlog, Inc.

2:20 p.m. – 3:30 p.m. Plenary Session: Implications of the Future of the Legal Profession

Change in the practice of law can swell CLE registration, or reduce it. Learn how to embrace change for the good of your organization. Three ACLEA veterans will analyze the morning plenary from the perspective of CLE providers and lead a discussion of how changes in the legal profession drive changes in CLE. Be prepared to consider and share practical challenges and opportunities that occur to you during the morning session.

8:00 a.m. – 9:30 a.m. ACLEA Business Meeting, Breakfast and “ACLEA’s Best” Awards (Open to All ACLEA Members)

Tuesday morning is the wrong time to sleep in... everyone knows that breakfast is the most important meal of the day (and it’s included in your registration!) The Business Meeting breakfast is especially important because it’s your chance to learn what is going on in YOUR association. This meeting is for all ACLEA members and is a great opportunity to get your most important questions answered while you jump-start your day with a great meal.

The “ACLEA's Best” Awards for each of the five categories (Marketing, Programming, Publications, Public Interest, and Technology) will also be awarded during this meeting.

9:30 a.m. – 10:00 a.m. Networking Break & Exhibits

10:00 a.m. – 11:00 a.m. Plenary Session: Maximize the Impact of Your CLE – Utilize Your Attendee’s Adult Learning Styles

Do you know the basic principles of how adults truly “learn” and how to program CLE programs guaranteed to succeed when based upon those principles? Have you discovered your own preferred learning style? Kathy Story has over 25 years experience helping bar associations, court systems, CLE regulators, law firms and individual attorneys enhance their CLE programming by discovering and utilizing the adult learning styles of lawyers. Learn about the preferred learning styles – and how to program a CLE event to reach each style. By the end of the session, you will:

1. Recognize the basic principles of David Kolb’s adult learning theory
2. Learn about how “experiential learning” can transform any “talking head” CLE program
3. Compare and contrast the preferred learning styles of adult learners
4. Learn “nuts and bolts” applications of adult learning principles to CLE program planning and development.

Marketing Metrics: How Can CLE Professionals Measure the Success of Their Efforts?

All of us who work in CLE organizations produce two things – products and programs. Our products might include books, guidelines, checklists, sample documents, and web-based tools. Our programs might include live conferences, webcasts, webinars, teleseminars, multi-week classes, and certificate programs. In all instances, we want to know how we are doing. Most CLE professionals measure their success by assessing two figures: number of customers who purchase/register and revenue collected. However, there is much more we can be examining to determine our true Return on Investment (ROI). During this interactive session, Ron Goodstein, a marketing professor from Georgetown’s McDonough School of Business who consults regularly for Fortune 100 companies, will educate you about the best marketing metrics to analyze. He will provide you not only with stimulating knowledge to help you assess your current efforts, but with practical tools you can take back to your offices to help gauge the real effectiveness of your CLE marketing.

What You Need to Know Now about MCLE: Trends and New Developments in State and Province Regulation for 2013

In-house professionals responsible for crafting programs and tracking MCLE credits for their attorneys must keep abreast of all MCLE regulations. Unfortunately, states and provinces have a tendency to change their regulations on a consistent basis. Some of these revisions make our jobs easier, while others seem to add new challenges. Regardless of the changes, we have to adjust our own processes and procedures to comply even though we may have little influence on the implementation of new provisions. In this lively interactive session, Gina Roers, “The Queen of MCLE,” will provide a comprehensive update on the state of MCLE in the United States and Canada. How has technology impacted regulations? What’s the latest on self-study? Have webinars produced new paradigms on the part of CLE regulators? Have annual hour requirements increased? Bring your toughest questions. If Gina cannot answer them quickly, you can be assured another ACLEA member will do so.

Executive Leadership
Introversion – Positive Contributions

Susan Cain’s 2012 book, Quiet: The Power of Introverts in a World That Can’t Stop Talking, raises an abundance of cautions and opportunities about working in the mixed company of extroverts and introverts. Since most CLE organizations are themselves mixed, and the volunteer authors and speakers we work with similarly diverse, distinct difference in work styles and communication styles routinely rise to the surface and can seriously gum up the works, or at least cause us to fall short of our best efforts. “Brainstorming,” for example, a fixture of CLE planning groups – and one would think the extrovert’s forte – turns out to be less effective overall at identifying novel ideas than individual assignments. Who knew? Since about a third of all American are introverts living in a generally extroverted culture, accommodations to bring out the power of both orientations should be a management goal. Two ACLEA veterans will lead a discussion about how to make it so. Attendees will view a recording of Susan Cain – The Power of Introverts – TED Talk as the basis for our discussion.

Dropbox for CLE

If you are looking for ways to leverage the “cloud,” then this session is for you. Dropbox is one of the easiest and most popular ways to use and benefit from this internet-powered revolution. At this session, you will learn the basics of Dropbox, including how to get a free account, add and remove files and folders, recover prior versions and deleted files, and share files with colleagues, speakers and authors. You will also learn tips and tricks for CLE-specific Dropbox applications.

The Great Webinar Playbook: Group Therapy for our Webinar Issues

Some shops would like to offer webinars, but don’t know the details about developing a webinar program and are concerned about having the resources to begin. Other shops may have created a webinar or two and are having some problems. Stuart has conducted a ton of webinars and is here to help you learn what’s involved and how to do it. In the first half, you’ll learn about critical webinar basics including the step-by-step process, the benefits of audio vs. video programming, available technology options, and how to train your faculty. In the second half, you’ll do the talking. Bring all your questions and concerns and join the group brainstorm during which we’ll find the solutions to our headaches together!

A New Approach for Delivering Effective In-House CLE

Are you offering CLEs not because of topic interest but to meet MCLE requirements? Wouldn’t it be fun to offer an engaging and unusual experience to your audience? Your audience might actually LIKE the CLE! The trend toward experiential, active programs for CLE credit is unmistakable. How do you prevent lawyers attending your program from becoming easily bored and distracted? Whether it’s an improv class where participants practice responding to the unexpected or a program designed around a cause drawing a lot of interest, find out how to meet the needs of your audience and provide a more experiential learning environment that offers more stimulation and socialization than the typical CLE. You won’t want to miss this exciting workshop – come learn how to engage your audience differently.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Registration

The program registration fee includes conference materials, admission to Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday sessions, the business meeting and breakfast, the Saturday welcome reception, Sunday evening reception and the Tuesday night special event. Saturday’s CLE Boot Camp, the In-House add-on workshop, and all optional lunches and tours are separately priced. We must receive payment for optional sessions, lunches, and tours in advance of the conference to guarantee your reservation. Unless otherwise stated, all special event and tour fee payments are nonrefundable after July 12, 2013.

Spouse/Guest Fee

ACLEA has a spouse/guest fee for attendance at ACLEA meetings by those not eligible for ACLEA membership. This is a restricted fee intended for family members. Any spouse/guest who is interested in networking with other spouses/guests as well as friends in ACLEA, may pay a fee to cover the costs of food and beverage and attendance at some meetings. This $145 USD fee includes the Saturday welcome reception, continental breakfasts, business meeting breakfast, exhibit hall mixer, morning and afternoon breaks, and attendance at any sessions on topics that may be of interest, but does not include conference materials, luncheons, or optional events. This benefit is extended only to those spouses/guests who are not eligible for ACLEA membership. ANYONE CONSULTING WITH OR EMPLOYED BY AN ORGANIZATION ELIGIBLE FOR MEMBERSHIP IN ACLEA IS NOT ELIGIBLE FOR THIS FEE.

Hotel Information

Our host hotel is the Baltimore Marriott Waterfront in Baltimore, Maryland. ACLEA has secured a special room rate of $179.00 USD per night for single/double available until July 12, 2013 or until the room block is exhausted, whichever comes first. NOTE: ACLEA has obtained this room rate by contracting with hotels manager their meeting room rental. In order for ACLEA to continue to provide a reasonable registration fee, we need your help. Please take advantage of the room rate we have negotiated and make your reservation by contacting:

Transportation

Getting to the Baltimore Marriott Waterfront

We recommend that you fly into Baltimore/Washington International Airport (Code BWI), which is an approximate 12-mile drive from the hotel (estimated taxi fare is $45.00 one-way.) Other area airports include Washington Dulles International Airport (IAD) 52 miles away, and Reagan National Airport (DCA) 61 miles away. The Baltimore Metro Subway (MTA) has a stop about one mile from the hotel.

By Car

If you’re planning to drive in, the Baltimore Marriott Waterfront has convenient onsite and valet parking facilities available. Onsite is $26 USD per day, and valet is $40 USD per day. Note: The Parking garage does not accommodate oversized vehicles.
