1. About this Handbook

This handbook describes the Certified Change Management Professional® (CCMP®) credential program and how to apply for it. The Association of Change Management Professionals (ACMP) recommends that all applicants read this entire handbook before beginning the application process as it provides key information about obtaining and maintaining the CCMP credential.

Use this handbook to:

- Learn about the CCMP application process and requirements.
- Find the application form and other relevant resources.
- Identify where to address questions regarding the CCMP credential.

Individuals moving through the certification program process are referred to as:

- Applicant: person who is completing or has submitted an application form but has not yet received feedback on the submission.
- Candidate: person whose application has been approved, including the essay questions, but has not yet passed the exam.
- Certificant: person who has passed the exam and has been awarded the CCMP credential.

2. An Overview of the CCMP Credential

2.1 The Change Management Profession and the CCMP Credential

The change management profession continues to attract increasing interest from individuals and organizations. Change management practitioners and organizations that want to improve the way they manage change are seeking ways to achieve success through consistently applied practices as set out in ACMP's Standard for Change Management and Code of Ethics (ACMP Standard or the Standard). The Standard forms the basis for the CCMP credential program and provides a foundation for advancing the discipline of change management. It establishes a common understanding and set of generally accepted practices that help leaders and practitioners achieve and sustain change objectives.

2.2 Diversity, Equity, Inclusion & Belonging (DEIB) Statement

Diversity across ACMP Global strengthens our ability to lead how change works. Our community thrives because we value differences, fairness, and belonging. We acknowledge that inequities exist around the world and we commit to:

- Discover the filters through which we experience the world around us;
- Challenge ourselves through curiosity and learning;
- Respect and value every person;
- Nurture and elevate diverse perspectives;
- Create open and safe environments for collaboration;

- Seek equitable outcomes.

These commitments guide our ongoing journey to be more inclusive in our outreach and lower the barrier of access to the CCMP.

2.3 Description of the CCMP Credential

The CCMP credential is a globally recognized credential indicating to employers, clients, customers, peers, and colleagues that a change manager/leader possesses change management knowledge, experience, expertise, training, and skills to successfully help organizations and individuals achieve critical business results.

To help establish the required level of proficiency CCMP requires that each applicant detail their education, experience, knowledge and training in the domain of change management. In summary, the CCMP credential:

- Identifies an individual as (1) having demonstrated knowledge, skills, and abilities within, and comprehension of, the ACMP Standard and Code of Ethics and (2) upholding a level of proficiency by continually updating knowledge and applying it, earning Professional Development Units (PDUs);
- Requires a minimum number of PDUs within the change management field of practice to maintain certification every three years;
- Is globally recognized and transferable across countries and industries;
- Enables change management practitioners to demonstrate they have (1) met specified criteria and (2) achieved a level of understanding and familiarity with change management standard practice;
- Supports organizations in establishing good change management practice through improved recruitment of change management practitioners;
- Creates enhanced career development options or paths for change management practitioners; and
- Contributes to the advancement of change management as a profession by clarifying the distinctive nature and value of the change practitioner role in achieving key business results.

2.4 Timeline for CCMP Credential Process

The approximate timeline for the CCMP credential process step is outlined in the figure below.

2.5 Eligibility Requirements for CCMP Credential

To be eligible for the CCMP credential, certain education, experience (professional years of experience as a change practitioner or lead) and training requirements must be met. Prior to beginning the application process, the applicant must determine whether they meet the eligibility requirements outlined in each section of the application. It is important to only include experience, education and training for which documentation and references can be provided.

Education and Experience Requirements

Education and experience eligibility requirements are outlined below:

Level of Education	Required Experience
Four-year degree (bachelor's degree or global equivalent)	A minimum of 4,200 hours (approximately three years) of professional change management experience spent as a change management lead or practitioner.
Secondary degree (high school diploma, associate's degree or global equivalent)	A minimum of 7,000 hours (approximately five years) of professional change management experience spent as a change management lead or practitioner.

Experience Requirements

Each applicant will be asked to identify their experiences as a change management lead or practitioner. Some may have focused on certain elements of the Standard more than others (for example, Developing and Executing Change Management Plans), but experience should reflect all five domain areas.

If experience is primarily focused on a function - for example communications, training, or project support - the applicant may not possess enough knowledge to assure ACMP that all change management activities identified in the Standard were independently and successfully performed. A breadth of experience applying industry best practices like the Standard for Change Management is beneficial.

The intent of the CCMP is to recognize those who have demonstrated knowledge, skills, and abilities to assist individuals and organization change in all areas identified in the Standard. It is specifically meant to differentiate the skill set used by change managers from those who focus on related domains such as project management, communications, and training. These are complementary skills, but insufficient to demonstrate the skills required by a professional practicing change management.

Training Requirements

Applicants are required to fulfill twenty-one (21) hours of structured change management training. The CCMP credential is not a training program. Each applicant must determine the training they wish to submit on the application, or embark on, to meet this requirement. To meet CCMP certification requirements, training must be:

1. Live, instructor-led (classroom or online) or self-paced/blended (refer to Section 3.5 for details).

2. Focused on change management and aligned with the ACMP Standard.
3. Completed within seven years of the application submission date.

Some applicants want to submit training that they lead or have led as qualification for the training requirement. This submission would not meet the eligibility requirements; however, completion of a train-the-trainer program for a change management course can be applied provided the course content aligns with the Standard.

Training may be live, instructor-led (classroom or online) or self-paced/blended. Refer to Section 3.5 for detailed information about the documentary requirements for each training type. Attending lecture style webinars or conference sessions does not meet the eligibility requirements for the CCMP.

Training must align with the Standard and must have been completed within seven years prior to the application submission date. For example, an application submitted on August 1, 2025 must include training completed on or after August 1, 2018, to meet the seven-year requirement.

There are many courses that will satisfy the requirement. While using one of ACMP's Qualified Education Providers \(QEPs\) is not required, it is recommended as these courses have been formally reviewed and confirmed as being aligned with the Standard. Training taken with a QEP is considered 'pre-qualified' (completion will be verified), but does not guarantee the successful achievement of the CCMP certification, which requires that each applicant meet all the credential requirements and pass the CCMP exam.

Change management training taken through an alternate provider is categorized in the application as non-QEP training. Such entries require the upload of detailed supporting documentation to the CCMP application so that ACMP can identify potential alignment between the content of the training program attended and the Standard. If unsure about course alignment, the applicant should download the Standard and conduct a comparison to determine if clear crossover exists between the course and at least one of the five domain areas. The applicant bears the risk of having a non-QEP course not accepted for the training requirement.

Refer to Section 3.5 for a detailed list of non-QEP training documentary requirements. ACMP will not assess non-QEP courses prior to submission of the paid application.

Change Management Experience Essay Questions

The CCMP application requires the completion and submission of three essays. Applicants are offered five essay topics, each of which corresponds to one of the five domains in the Standard. The essay questions provide the applicant the opportunity to describe how - through their own personal work experience - they responded to a variety of typical change management situations.

Each set of essay submissions is evaluated by a team of reviewers, who are seasoned change management practitioners and academics. Essays are evaluated using a rubric to assess the applicant's responses. The review process normally takes two to three weeks but can take up to forty-five days.

2.6 Statement of Understanding

After completing the application, the applicant will be asked to acknowledge a Statement of Understanding, attesting that the information submitted is true, represents work completed and that the applicant will abide by the Code of Ethics.

2.7 Audit

The audit process is a key component of the CCMP credential and serves to uphold its high standards.

ACMP randomly selects a subset of applicants and certificants to verify that their submitted documents are correct.

Requirements:

If selected for audit, an applicant will be contacted via email and will be required to submit, within ninety days:

- Copy or photo of highest education level (e.g., degree or diploma) obtained;
- Evidence indicating the completion of at least twenty-one hours of formal change management training aligned to the Standard (including paid invoice, course content and proof of completion); and
- Completed Employment Verification Form (s), verifying each experience entered on the application. This involves contacting each present or past employer or client so that they can validate the work experience and sign the form. If the employer or client is no longer in their previous role or has left the organization, they can still respond. Alternatively, someone else familiar with the work experience entry can complete the form.

If selected for audit, a certificant will be contacted via email and will be required to submit, within ninety days:

- Evidence of completed Professional Development Units (PDUs).

Passing the Audit

Applicants who pass the audit continue in the program, with their application proceeding to the review process. The one-year examination eligibility period begins when the application is approved.

Certificants who pass the audit retain their credential and continue for the next three-year PDU maintenance cycle.

Failing the Audit

Failure of the audit will result for an applicant or certificant if:

- The required documentation is not provided within ninety days of the audit notification.
- The individual submits wrong or incomplete information.

- The submitted information does not adequately verify what was submitted in the application.
- Documents appear to be counterfeit or generated by the applicant or certificant him/herself.
- An applicant’s change management training was completed outside of the seven-year window at the date of application submission.
- The applicant or certificant does not verify their education and attempts to submit a substitute (regardless of its authenticity/eligibility).
- Employer returns an Employment Verification Form which does NOT verify employment information or refutes the scope of the work such that the person can no longer claim they have experience across more than one domain of the Standard, or reduces the time in the role such that the person no longer meets minimum requirements for experience.

Applicants who fail the audit will not proceed with their application and may request an application fee refund, less a $150 processing fee. They will not be permitted to return to or reapply for the CCMP credential.

Certificants who fail the audit are ineligible for a refund and may have their credential revoked. They will not be permitted to return or reapply for the CCMP credential.

NOTE: While the selection process for an audit is random, ACMP reserves the right to select any applicant or the certificant for audit at any time, including after the credential has been awarded.

2.8 CCMP Credential Fees

All CCMP fees are in U.S. dollars.

Application Fees

ACMP Member	$595
Non-Member*	$795

Certification Maintenance Renewal Fee

A certification maintenance renewal fee is required every three years in order to maintain credential holder status. This is based on a certificant’s individual award date and certification cycle and their completion of sixty required Professional Development Units (PDUs). Certification maintenance renewal fees are based on a certificate holder’s ACMP membership status.

Non-Member	$150

Essay Re-submission Fee

An essay re-submission fee applies to applicants who do not pass the essay portion of the application on the first attempt and wish to continue pursuing the credential. Each applicant may submit up to two more paid essay submissions within one year from the date of their original application submission. If, after one year from the original application payment date, the applicant has not passed the essay and wishes to continue pursuing the CCMP credential, they will be required to begin the application again, at full cost.

ACMP Member	$75
Non-Member	$150

Re-examination Fee

Re-examination fees apply to the second and third attempts to pass the examination. Candidates have one year from the original date of application acceptance to complete the exam successfully. If the exam is not passed on the first attempt, two more paid attempts are permitted within the same one-year period.

ACMP Member	$300
Non-Member	$375

Exam Re-Scheduling Fee

Booked exams may be rescheduled. If a reschedule request is received within thirty days of an existing exam booking, a reschedule fee must be paid by the applicant before the exam booking can be changed. This rate is the same for both ACMP members and non-members.

ACMP Member or Non-Member	$150

Release of Exam Results to Third Party

Requests to share an exam outcome with a third party must be submitted via written request and emailed to credentials@acmpglobal.org specifically identifying the details required (for example, the exam date, pass/fail status, etc.) that the third-party should receive. A $50 fee per request will apply. Note: ACMP retains individual exam scores as well as the exam passing rate and score in confidence, therefore these details will not be shared.

Certificant Retired Status

For certificant with a 'retired status,' there is a $100 processing fee. Refer to Retired Status section in this handbook.

Audit

No extra fees are charged to applicants or certificant who are randomly selected for audit.

2.9 CCMP Refund Policy

Refund requests will be processed within fourteen days from the confirmation date that a refund has been approved.

Withdrawing from the Exam (Application Approved)

To obtain a refund on the CCMP credential application process, an applicant must provide a written request to credentials@acmpglobal.org at least thirty days prior to the exam eligibility expiration date. ACMP will retain a processing fee of $150.

ACMP will not provide a refund in the following instances:

1. The one-year eligibility period has expired and applicant has (a) not scheduled / rescheduled the exam, or (b) not requested a refund in writing. A full re-application fee will apply.
2. Exam was scheduled but not attended and applicant did not provide the necessary cancellation/rescheduling refund request notification thirty days prior to the one-year exam expiration. A re-examination fee will apply.
3. Exam was taken and failed;
4. A certificant failed an audit of the PDU requirements as part of ongoing certification maintenance.

If a candidate decides to withdraw from the application process and has an exam scheduled, they must request cancellation of their booked exam via email to credentials@acmpglobal.org at least thirty days prior to the exam date. An application refund be processed and ACMP will retain a processing fee of $150.

NOTES: Fee(s) paid may not be applied towards any other financial aspect of ACMP or CCMP.

Failing an Essay Question

Applicants who do not pass the essay portion of the application are encouraged to try again provided that the new responses are submitted within one year of the original application payment date and the essay resubmission fee is paid. If the applicant does not complete the new essay responses within one year, but wishes to continue in the program, the applicant will be required to submit a new application at full cost. Alternately, an applicant who does not pass the essay portion of the application and wishes to seek a refund can do so by sending a written request to credentials@acmpglobal.org within one year of the original application payment date. Refunds are subject to a non-refundable processing charge of $150.

Failing the Non-QEP Training Requirement

For applicants whose non-QEP training submission is not accepted, two options are available:

Applicant may end the application process and request a refund, minus the non-refundable processing charge of $150 by sending a written request to credentials@acmpglobal.org within one year of the application payment date.

Applicant may continue pursuing the credential and retain their current application by including other completed training within one year of the original application payment date. There is no charge to retain the application on file while pursuing other training. However, if the applicant does not submit updated training documentation within the one-year period, but wishes to continue in the program, the current application will be considered forfeited and not eligible for a refund. To continue, the applicant would be required to submit a new application, at full cost.

Failing an Exam

ACMP does not offer any refund in the event that an applicant fails the exam. Applicants are encouraged to re-take the exam up to two more times within one year after the application approval date. Additional exam fees apply.

Failing an Audit

ACMP will provide a refund if an applicant, randomly selected for an audit, fails verification during the application process. In this instance, applicants must request a refund, minus the non-refundable processing fee of $150 within one year of the original audit notification date.

2.10 About the CCMP Exam

The CCMP exam is composed of 150 multiple-choice questions, twenty-five of which do not affect the score. These twenty-five are included to gather statistical data for future exam development, are indistinguishable from other questions, and are randomly placed throughout the exam. A maximum of three hours has been allotted to complete the exam.

Computer-based testing (CBT) is the standard method of exam administration by ACMP. The exam may be taken online or at an onsite location; both are proctored by ACMP's testing partner, Kryterion.

CCMP exam questions were developed in accordance with:

- ANSI/ISO/IEC 17024 standards
- A global, independent team of change practitioners (Item Writing Group)
- CCMP exam specifications
- The ACMP Standard for Change Management and Code of Ethics.

3.3 Education

Click the blue Add Education button, then in the Add Details box, enter details about the educational qualifications attained. Applicants who hold several degrees may enter as many instances of education as desired, but only one is required.

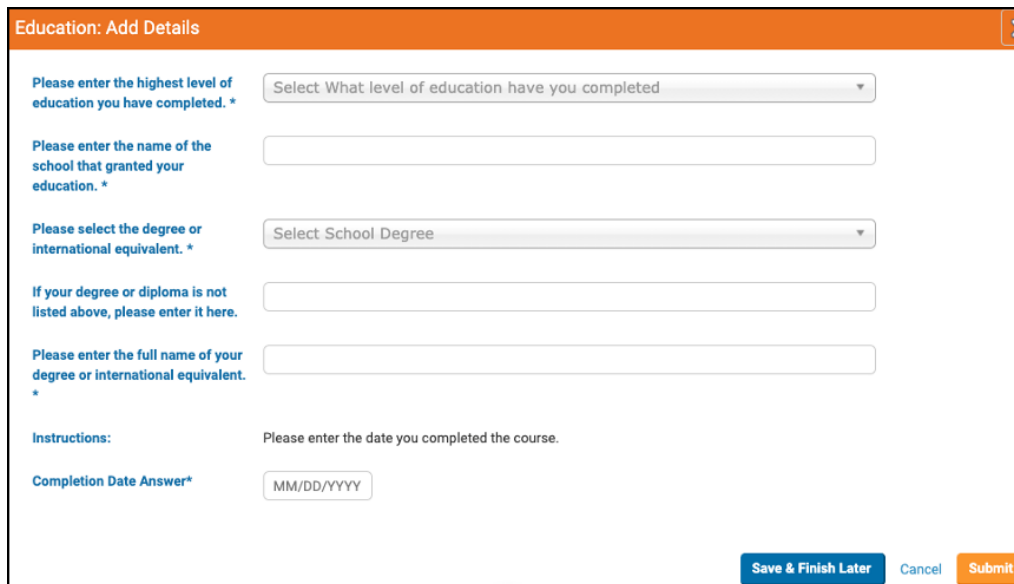

This section calls for the following details:

Highest Level of Education Completed: Select either the four-year degree or secondary education from the drop-down menu. Applicants who hold a degree that is greater than four years should select the four-year degree option. In the following box, enter the name of the school that granted the education.

Degree/International Equivalent: Select an option from the dropdown list.

Name of Degree or Diploma: If the highest level is greater than a four-year degree, enter the name of the highest degree attained. Only the highest level of degree is required. Examples: Masters or Doctorate.

Completion Date Answer: Enter the date of award of highest level of education.

Once complete, click the orange Submit button. When the section is complete, a green Completed button will display.

3.4 Enter Experience

Click the orange Enter Experience button, then in the Enter Experience box, record details about the experience attained. Applicants may add as many individual change management projects as they wish in order to meet the required total of work experience hours. Work experience may detail projects completed in different capacities such as employee, consultancy or self-employed and can date as far back in the applicant's work history as needed.

- Four-year degree holders must record a minimum of 4,200 hours of change management work experience.
- For those whose highest level of education is secondary education (high school or equivalent), a minimum of 7,000 hours of change management experience is required.

Experience Name: Provide a title of the work of project being recorded. Examples include: SAP implementation or Supply Chain Redesign.

Your Role: Select Change Management Lead, Practitioner or Other from the dropdown list. If selecting Other, complete the next field, indicating the title or specific role held in the project.

Start Date and End Date: Enter the start and end dates of the project or initiative.

Change Management Hours Worked:

Calculate the number of hours worked and enter the total. The system will tabulate the total number of hours entered for all work experience entries and validate it against the CCMP requirements.

Typically, change projects will require varying levels of hours worked depending on the stage in the change lifecycle. It is likely that additional hours may be worked in alignment to specific delivery milestones or leading up to the final stages of the change initiative. Applicants are advised to review their change management experience history and reflect the actual effort expended in the change management hours worked.

Example: An applicant worked on a project for three years and for the first two years, worked for 48 weeks each year, 40 hours/week = $96 (48 \times 2) \times 40 = 3,840$ hours. In the third year, they worked for 12 weeks at 50 hours/week = $12 \times 50 = 600$ hours. The total would then be 4,440 hours which surpasses the minimum requirement of 4,200 hours.

Organization Name

The name of the organization for which the work was performed. If the role was in a consulting capacity, the name of the consulting firm or client may be used. If confidential, use a description such as 'a large financial institution'.

3.5 Enter Change Management Training

A minimum of twenty-one (21) hours of structured change management training (classroom, online or self-paced/hybrid), taken within the past seven years and aligned with the Standard is required. Multiple courses may be entered to meet or exceed the twenty-one-hour requirement; however, each must meet the eligibility requirements and be aligned with the Standard.

Training may be either of the Qualified Education Provider (QEP) type or non-Qualified Education Provider type.

Qualified Education Providers

Qualified Education Provider (QEP) courses are training courses that have been formally reviewed by ACMP and are pre-approved as being aligned with the Standard. They may vary in hours and each is automatically populated on the application form when selected by the applicant.

Non-QEP Courses ('Other')

Training courses not listed in the QEP Directory are considered Non-QEP training and will be evaluated by an assessor once the application is submitted and paid. Non-QEP courses must align with at least one domain of the Standard. Before submitting an application, applicants should crosscheck course topics alongside the tasks listed in the Standard to ensure clear alignment exists. Only the portion of the course that aligns with the Standard will be eligible for training hours.

Recorded and live webinars or conference/seminar attendance are not permitted on the initial application.

Some applicants wish to submit training that they lead or have led as qualification for the training requirement. This submission would not meet eligibility requirements however completion of a train-the-trainer program for a change management course can be applied provided the course content aligns with the Standard.

The application requires that the following details are provided:

1. Training provider/organization name;
2. Course title;
3. Course start and end dates; and
4. Upload supporting documentary evidence (see below).

To allow ACMP to assess the eligibility of a course, all supporting evidence noted below is required for each non-QEP course submission:

Live, Instructor-Led Course (In-Class or Online)

1. Course title;
2. Course start and end dates along with the number of hours of live, instructor-led change management instruction (not including breaks). Be clear about what parts of the course focused on change management;
3. Course description or overview and objectives/learning objectives indicating expected course learnings or knowledge gained;
4. The course outline (headings and subheadings of the topics/modules/chapters and any accompanying description);
5. Daily time table indicating a breakdown of the change management topics covered throughout each day of training delivery (exclusive of breaks);
6. Description of the course structure and interactive element;
7. Verifiable proof of completion (certificate of completion or transcript that includes the name of the training provider, participant's name, course name and date of completion).

Self-Paced/Blended

Only non-QEP self-paced/blended course submissions that include two (2) or more hours of instruction and are accompanied by the detailed requirements below will be considered towards the required 21 hours of training. 3.6 Complete Essay Questions

The essay section of the application contains five essay questions, each of which corresponds to one of the five domains outlined in the Standard. Applicants must select and complete three of the five essay questions (do not respond to more than three questions as the system only allows for three responses).

The Essay portion of the application provides the applicant the opportunity to describe how, through their own personal work experience, they responded to a variety of typical change management situations and how their experience aligns with the Standard.

Each essay cannot be longer than 500 words and should be constructed in a traditional essay format that includes an introduction, body, and conclusion. Shorter answers (less than 100 words) likely are not sufficient to address all parts of the question. Use personal work experiences and examples to respond, ensuring that all parts of the question are addressed.

Tip: Draft answers first in a word processing program and use it to check the word count.

4. Exam Policies and Procedures

4.1 Candidate for CCMP Exam

When an application is approved, the Applicant becomes a Candidate and may book their exam.

Upon application acceptance, an email will be sent advising next steps. This email includes a Kryterion exam Voucher Code, which is used to schedule the exam, the candidate's unique Candidate Management System identification number (CMS ID) and a link to create a Kryterion account and schedule the exam.

Candidates have one year from the application acceptance date to complete the exam successfully. If the exam is not passed on the first attempt, two more paid attempts are permitted within the same one-year period. If the exam remains incomplete or failed three times within the one-year eligibility period, the candidate will be required to reapply for the credential and the full application fee will apply.

ACMP cannot guarantee availability at the testing centers. Therefore, ACMP recommends scheduling the exam appointment as soon as possible and at least three months prior to the expiration of the one-year eligibility window.

4.2 CCMP Exam Specification

The CCMP exam was developed from the CCMP Exam Specification, which is based on the Practice Analysis used to develop the Standard. The exam includes questions on the five domain areas (process groups) plus several questions from the Concept Section of the Standard and Code of Ethics.

The exam format is 'closed book' multiple choice and will take place at a proctored Kryterion testing center or via online-proctored session in your own home or office. The candidate has the option to choose the preferred format. Each question requires only one choice. To learn more about the CCMP exam, visit the ACMP website.

Language Used for Application and Exam

Currently, the application process and the exam are only available in English.

4.3 ACMP Test Accommodations for the CCMP Exam

Applicants with a documented disability or any other medical condition that may present a barrier to the exam may request a test accommodation. Applicants must submit a Test Accommodation request request at least thirty days prior to the planned exam date. All test accommodation requests must be accompanied by an uploaded supporting medical or health-related document.

ACMP will review the test accommodations request, confirm if the request can be accommodated and make reasonable efforts to accommodate the request. In instances where the local testing center or online proctor cannot provide for the test accommodation, ACMP will work with the applicant to identify a suitable alternative. Additional costs for test accommodations may apply if ACMP needs to procure additional equipment for the applicant, for example, a read-writer for a visually impaired applicant.

ACMP is unable to add any additional test accommodations to an existing exam appointment.

4.5 Rescheduling or Cancelling Exam Policy

ACMP's exam cancellation and/or rescheduling policy is as follows:

Request is More than Thirty (30) Days Away before a Scheduled Exam Date

There is no charge for canceling or rescheduling an exam booking if the request is made more than 30 days from the scheduled exam date.

Request is Less than Thirty (30) days before a Scheduled Exam Date

A $150 administration fee will be charged by ACMP to cancel or reschedule an exam if the request is made within 30 days from the scheduled exam date.

NOTE: Refer to the Extenuating Circumstances section below to learn about emergency changes or cancellations.

No Shows

If a candidate does not show up for an online or onsite scheduled exam, no exam fees will be refunded as ACMP will be charged in full for the missed sitting. Exam fees and/or previously issued vouchers are not transferable to a new exam booking.

Extenuating Circumstances

ACMP understands that there are times when personal emergencies may cause a candidate to:

1. Reschedule or cancel an exam within thirty days of the appointment, or
2. Miss a scheduled exam appointment (resulting in a no-show status).

These are referred to as extenuating circumstances and can include:

- Medical emergency
- Military deployment
- Illness or death in the immediate family
- Natural disaster

*Extenuating circumstances do not include work-related circumstances.

If extenuating circumstances force a candidate to either miss a scheduled exam appointment (resulting in a 'no-show' status) or cancel (within thirty days of a booked date), they must contact ACMP within seventy-two hours of the cancellation or missed exam sitting, via email at credentials@acmpglobal.org with an explanation and supporting documents (e.g., accident report, medical documentation, etc.). The extenuating circumstance will be assessed and if approved by ACMP, the administration fee charged to reschedule an exam will be waived. If the extenuating circumstance claim is not approved or the candidate does not contact ACMP within seventy-two hours, payment of the full exam re-take fee will be required in order to schedule a new exam.

Failing the Exam

Candidates may take the CCMP exam a total of three times, if required, within one year of the application approval date ('one-year eligibility period').

An exam re-take fee will be charged for the second and third exam attempts. All exams must be completed within the original one-year eligibility period.

4.6 CCMP Exam Security and Confidentiality Policy

The CCMP exam and any other exam-related materials remain the sole and exclusive property of ACMP. These materials are confidential and are not available for review by any person or agency for any reason.

The pass/fail status of the CCMP exam is confidential and will not be disclosed to anyone without the test taker's consent, unless directed by valid and lawful subpoena or court order. Requests to share an exam outcome with a third party must be submitted via written request and emailed to credentials@acmpglobal.org specifying the details required (for example, the exam date, pass/fail status, etc.) that the third-party should receive. A $50 fee per request will apply. Note: ACMP retains individual exam scores as well as the exam passing rate and score in confidence, therefore these details will not be shared.

Terminating an Exam Appointment / Grounds for Dismissal

Candidates are expected to conduct themselves in a professional manner during the exam, whether the exam is taken remotely or at the testing facility.

The testing center administrator/supervisor or proctor is authorized to dismiss a test taker from an exam and ACMP may cancel a test taker's score, or take appropriate action when there is reasonable basis for concluding that the test taker has engaged in any of the following inappropriate behavior:

- Failing to provide acceptable personal identification
- Attempting to have someone else take the exam on one's behalf
- Being disruptive prior to, during, or after the exam appointment
- Accessing notes or using notes or books or any other materials
- Communicating with anyone other than the test administrator or the proctor about the exam during the exam appointment (e.g., giving or accepting assistance from others while the exam is in progress)
- Failing to follow any of the exam regulations set forth in this handbook, or on the Kryterion website used to schedule your exam, or given verbally by the examination administrator, or specified in the exam materials
- Attempting to remove exam-related materials or portions of the exam in any format from the testing room
- Attempting to tamper or render inoperable the computer used during the exam
- Engaging in dishonest or unethical behavior of any sorts

While this is not an all-inclusive list, ACMP reserves the right to take action including, but not limited to, banning a candidate from future testing and/or canceling of scores. If scores are canceled, the candidate will be notified of such action and its reasons, and the exam fees will be forfeited.

Although exams are administered under strict supervision and security measures, exam irregularities may sometimes occur. Candidate should contact the ACMP as soon as possible to report any observed behavior that may lead to an invalid score, including all behavior listed above. All information will be held in confidence.

4.7 Exam Results and Passing Score

Exam results, indicating either a pass or fail, will be provided on the computer screen, immediately upon exam completion and emailed to the email address registered on the CCMP application.

ACMP holds the CCMP exam passing score in confidence.

The CCMP exam passing score was determined using sound analysis and psychological measurement techniques. Change Management subject matter experts (SMEs) from across the globe created the exam questions and, after extensive analysis of test data, set a passing score that establishes a “bar” that must be met by each candidate and the passing score defines that threshold.

6. Certification Maintenance Program Requirements

6.1 CCMP Certification Verification

CCMP credential holders are searchable by name using the verification tool located on the ACMP website. Please note this searchable directory is different from the ACMP Member Directory, which includes both credentialed and non-credentialed ACMP members. The verification tool stores only credentialed individuals. ACMP membership is not a requirement for certification.

Upon award of the CCMP credential, certificants must continue to build knowledge by staying current in the change management profession. To maintain certification status, sixty (60) Professional Development Units (PDUs) must be logged every three years. The primary purpose of PDUs is to:

- Enhance the continuous learning of the certificant.
- Encourage and recognize individualized learning and application of knowledge.
- Offer a standardized and objective mechanism for obtaining and recording professional development activities.
- Sustain the global recognition and value of CCMP credential.
- Indicate to employers the certificant’s right to use the CCMP credential and that they remain relevant and current in their knowledge of change management practices.

6.2 Professional Development Units

PDU activities must be related to change management topics that are substantially consistent with the knowledge domains and processes outlined in the current edition of the Standard and involve appropriate expert resources. They should include activities spanning all five domains, without focusing on a single area of expertise (e.g., communications):

- Evaluate Change Impact and Organizational Readiness
- Formulate Change Management Strategy
- Develop the Change Management Plan
- Execute Change Management Plan
- Close the Change Management Effort

Each hour of professional activity (with the exception of the Work Experience category), yields one PDU unit. Some limitations may apply as described below. Only complete PDU activities may be submitted to ACMP for PDU credit. Each unique activity must be claimed separately; multiple activities or entire degree or recertification programs will not be accepted as a single claim but must be broken out with descriptions and documentation clearly outlining what was completed/accomplished.

As indicated below, the three primary PDU categories (Education, Giving Back to the Profession and Working as a Change Management Practitioner) each contain a variety of eligible activities.

Category	Maximum Units Per Three-Year Cycle	Guidance

For example, if the credential was awarded to the certificant on March 15, 2021, five units may be earned for work experience for each year since each anniversary of the award date over the three-year renewal period:

Example: for a credential earned on March 15, 2021, eligible work experience must be earned between:

- March 15, 2021 and March 14, 2022
- March 15, 2022 and March 14, 2023
- March 15, 2023 and March 14, 2024

Information Required:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Experience name, your role, start and completion dates, requested PDUs, organization name and description of the work performed.

6.3 CCMP Certification Maintenance Renewal

Certification is valid for three years following the date of successful exam completion.

ACMP recommends entering professional development activities during the three-year maintenance period, so that entries are captured as they are completed. At the close of the third year, the certificant must ensure that sixty professional development units are recorded prior to finalizing the renewal. After the professional development units have been entered, the final steps to renew the certification include:

- Reaffirming agreement and compliance with ACMP’s Standard for Change Management and Code of Ethics
- Reaffirming the Statement of Understanding
- Submitting the credential renewal fee

NOTE: Use of CCMP marks is not permitted if certification expires.

6.4 The Professional Development Cycle

The certification cycle begins on the day the exam is passed and ends three years later. The next three-year certification cycle begins again once the renewal is completed. Sixty professional development units must be entered every three years in order to maintain active certification.

The following table provides a sample of how to determine the certification cycle.

Certification Calculations and Conditions	CCMP Certification Cycle
Certification cycle begins on...	The day a certificant passes the exam.
Certification cycle ends on...	The three-year anniversary of passing the certification exam.
Calculations:
If an applicant passes the exam on...	August 1, 2024.
The certification cycle ends three year later...	July 31, 2027. Therefore, the certificant must record and submit 60 PDUs by this date.
The certificant’s next cycle begins ...	August 1, 2027. Renewal application must be completed before or by this date and PDUs must have been submitted to ACMP by this date.
The certificant’s PDU cycle ends on...	July 31, 2030. The certificant must obtain and submit another 60 PDUs by this date.
Suspension status begins on...	The last day of a certificant’s cycle, if the certificant did not complete and submit the PDUs according to the certification cycle outlined above.
A certificant’s credential expires ...	One year after the suspension period begins, if the 60 PDUs and the certification renewal are not submitted as indicated above.

6.5 PDU Submission Deadline

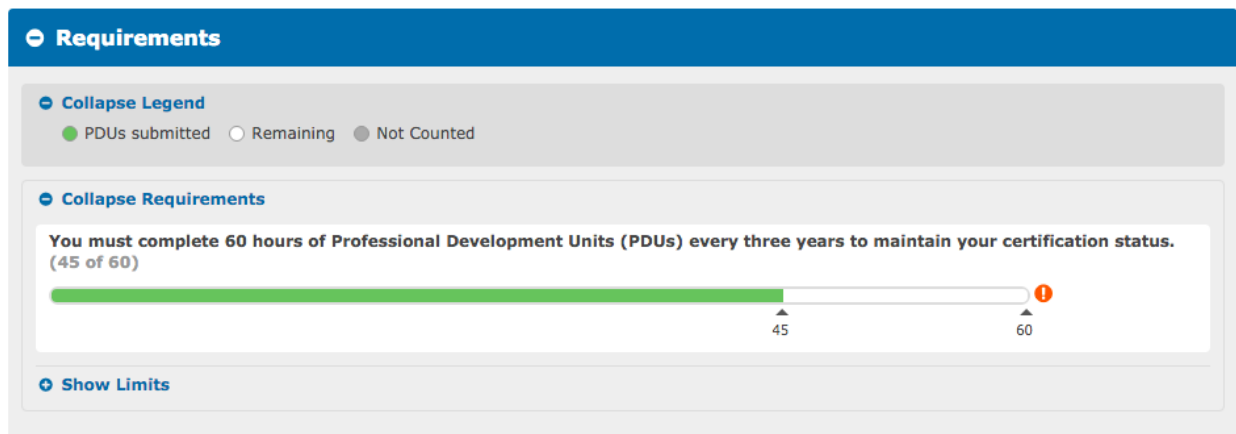

Certificants must record PDUs and complete the renewal process before the certification cycle ends to avoid suspension of the credential (refer to the Suspended Status).

If the required PDUs are not earned and recorded within the cycle, the credential will be automatically suspended. The one-year suspension period can be used to record the required PDUs that were completed during the standard three-year cycle.

6.6 PDU Entry and Renewal Payment

Begin the PDU entry process by logging into the Candidate Management System. Certificants will now see a new entry called CCMP Certification Maintenance. Click the orange Begin button to start recording PDU entries. Click the blue Add Activity button in each section to record detailed information about each completed activity. As PDU activities are recorded, the system will automatically calculate the accrued hours:

PDU Tabulation

Once the PDU entries have reached the sixty (60-hour) requirement, the certificant must acknowledge the electronic Renewal Statement of Understanding by clicking the grey Awaiting Acceptance button. This acknowledgement confirms that all information submitted is a true and honest account of the work completed and that the certificant will continue to abide by the Standard and Code of Ethics. In the Renewal Statement of Understanding window, click Accept. The application will move through to the renewal payment step.

Unless the PDU application is randomly selected for audit, no further steps will be required to finalize the PDU renewal.

6.7 Certification Status

6.7.1 Active Status / In Good Standing

When the CCMP credential is awarded, the individual becomes a certificant, and, the certification is in an 'active' status. Active status remains as long as the certificant earns and records the required sixty (60) PDUs before the three-year certification cycle ends.

6.7.2 Suspended Status

If the required sixty (60) PDUs are not entered and the renewal completed and paid within the active certification dates or cycle, the certification will be ‘suspended’. The suspension period lasts for one year (twelve months).

If in suspended status, the individual may not refer to themselves as a CCMP certificant or use the credential designation until the sixty (60) PDUs that were completed within the three-year maintenance cycle are recorded, the renewal process completed and the renewal fee paid, within the one-year designated suspension period.

The dates of the next PDU cycle or certification cycle will not change after the certification is reinstated or changed from suspended status back to active status. The suspension period overlaps the timeframe of the next cycle as shown in the following graphic.

PDU Cycle or Certification Cycle if in Suspension Period

6.7.3 Expired Status

If a certificant does not earn and record the required sixty (60) PDUs and does not complete the certification maintenance cycle process within the suspension period, they will lose the credential status and be assigned an ‘expired’ status. They may not refer to themselves as a CCMP credential holder or use the credential designation while allocated an expired status. To regain CCMP status, the individual must apply as a new candidate.

6.7.4 Retired Status

If an individual wishes to relinquish their active status, they are eligible to apply for retired status. To qualify, they must (1) no longer earn primary remuneration as a change management practitioner and (2) must have been a certificant in good standing for at least ten consecutive years.

Once retired status is requested, completing and logging sixty (60) PDUs every three years will no longer be required.

To apply for retired status, submit an email request to credentials@acmpglobal.org. ACMP will send details regarding the steps and applicable fees.

If the individual returns to the practice of change management, they may apply for active status again by contacting ACMP. Once the status has been activated, PDUs again will need to be earned and reported.

6.8 Limits on PDU Categories

Once the maximum number of PDUs in a PDU category has been met by a certificant, additional claims in the respective category will not be approved by ACMP.

PDU activities completed prior to obtaining the CCMP credential are not accepted toward the renewal requirements. Certificants cannot claim participation in the same course or activity more than once.

NOTE: If a certification reporting cycle has been extended by suspension, all PDU maximum limits apply. No new maximum limits will be set. Therefore, if a certificant already recorded thirty (30) PDUs for working as a volunteer on a change management initiative for a non-profit organization that they support, they cannot claim additional PDUs earned during the suspension period.

6.9 Retaining Documentation for Completed PDUs

For each PDU submitted, and in compliance with the Statement of Understanding, the certificant must keep a copy of the submission, along with the supporting documentation, for at least three (3) years after the certification cycle has ended.

A percentage of CCMP certificants will be randomly selected for an ACMP audit process. During the audit, these certificants will be asked to submit supporting material to verify any PDUs submitted.

7.1 ACMP Practice Analysis Survey (or Job Task Analysis)

A Job Task Analysis (JTA) study was undertaken by ACMP with the assistance of Professional Testing Corporation (PTC) for the CCMP examination program. A Task Force delineated the domains, tasks, and knowledge areas involved in the profession of change management. This group also developed demographic questions and questions regarding the appropriateness of the eligibility and recertification requirements. A group of Independent Reviewers assessed their work and provided feedback and a survey instrument was designed to validate the tasks and knowledge areas. Members of the Task Force also completed a matrix linking the domains with the knowledge areas drawn upon to perform the tasks in each domain. The survey was prepared and sent electronically to a large international group of change management professionals. Respondents were asked to evaluate the frequency and importance of task statements, the importance of knowledge areas, and the importance of and percentage of time devoted to tasks in each domain. Respondents also were asked to review the eligibility and recertification criteria and determine whether the requirements were appropriate. The results are being used in the evaluation and revision of the content specifications for the CCMP examination. This process contributes to the content validity of the examination and the quality of the examination program for the CCMP credential.

7.1.1 The Job Task Analysis Study

In June 2023, ACMP established a Steering Committee for the CCMP JTA, consisting of eight change management professionals who have been active in ACMP volunteer activities and represented a variety of areas of expertise, levels of experience, and geographic locations. The Steering Committee established a Test Specifications Task Force to delineate the tasks and knowledge areas involved in the profession of change management, as well as demographic questions to be used on a validation survey instrument. Acting in an advisory capacity, the Steering Committee provided guidance to PTC and the Test Specifications Task Force, which was composed of change management professionals in a variety of practice settings.

7.1.2 Delineation of Domains, Tasks, and Knowledge Areas

The Test Specification Task Force was asked to evaluate the current test specifications against current best practice. They began by reviewing the sections/domains, tasks, knowledge areas, and demographic questions that were developed in the previous surveys conducted in 2014 and updated in 2016. These served as the basis for individual and group brainstorming to develop the domains, tasks, and knowledge areas related to change management. The Test Specification Task Force came to a consensus on tasks organized in domains, knowledge areas, and demographic questions and set the scales for the survey. The frequency scale for the task statements was set at Rarely/Never, Somewhat Frequently, Frequently, and Very Frequently and the importance scale was set at Minimally/Not Important, Somewhat Important, Important, and Very Important for tasks, knowledge areas, and domains. Respondents were asked to indicate the percentage of time spent on tasks in each domain. Once the draft delineation was completed, an independent review process was implemented so that subject matter experts who were not involved in the initial work could provide a fresh perspective on the work so far. The domains, task statements, knowledge areas, and demographic questions were presented to a panel of Independent Reviewers to get their independent feedback on the comprehensiveness, clarity, consistency, and relevance of the proposed domains, tasks, knowledge areas, and demographic questions related to the field of change management. The Test Specification Task Force agreed upon 50 task statements (organized into six domains), 29 knowledge areas, and 16 demographic questions that were included in the final survey. Additionally, they also used a matrix of domains and knowledge areas to indicate which domains drew upon which knowledge areas.

7.1.3 Validation Survey

To confirm the appropriateness of the domains, tasks, and knowledge areas developed by the Test Specification Task Force, a validation survey was devised, also incorporating demographic questions to help create a profile of the survey respondents. Prior to the formal launch of the large-scale survey, the survey was tested by a panel of pilot testers in a final check to verify completeness and clarity of all questions and rating scales, to ensure proper functioning of all technical features, and to generate a time estimate of how long it would take to complete the survey. The survey link was e-mailed to a large international group of change management professionals in March of 2024, with the survey closing the following month, and 524 valid responses received.

7.2 Employment Verification Form

For audited applications, use the Employment Verification Form to record work experience for validation by past or present employer(s).

7.3 CCMP Examples of Mark Usages

The following examples are provided to guide certificants on how to correctly use the CCMP marks.

Examples of Mark Usages

1. The CCMP® and Certified Change Management Professional® mark must be clearly associated with the individual(s) certified (certificant) by ACMP.

✓ Correct Use

John Smith, CCMP®
 John Smith, Certified Change Management Professional®
 John Smith is a Certified Change Management Professional® practitioner.

✗ Misuse

ABC company employs 3 CCMP® practitioners.

2. The CCMP® mark must appear in all capital letters and without periods between the letters.

✓ Correct Use

Jane Doe, CCMP®

✗ Misuse

Jane Doe, ccmp®

3. The CCMP® and Certified Change Management Professional® marks must always appear with a superscript ® symbol. If the ® symbol cannot be created, a lowercase “r” in parentheses must be placed after the mark as a substitute, i.e., CCMP (r). The only exception to this rule is when it is used as part of a person's title. The CCMP® designation does not need a ® when it is part of a person's title.

✓ Correct Use

John Smith, CCMP®
 John Smith is a CCMP™ professional.
 John Smith is a CCMP (r) certificant.
 Jane Smith is a Certified Change Management Professional (r) practitioner.

✗ Misuse

4. The CCMP and Certified Change Management Professional marks must be followed by a noun, except when the mark immediately follows a certificant's name (i.e., recipient, practitioner, professional, certificant, certification, mark, and exam).

According to U.S. trademark law, a trademark should be used as an adjective, not as a noun or verb, to prevent the mark from becoming generic. Therefore, ACMP requires a noun to follow the ACMP and Certified Change Management Professional marks.

✓ Correct Use John Smith, CCMP®
John Smith is a CCMP® recipient.

✗ Misuse Jane Doe is a CCMP®.
John Smith is a Certified Change Management Professional®.

5. The CCMP® and Certified Change Management Professional® marks may not be used as a plural or possessive word.

✓ Correct Use John and Jane Smith are CCMP® practitioners.
