SEEKING CANDIDATES FOR GOVERNING BOARD SLATE

Dear Member Faculty,

The call for volunteers we held earlier this winter collected more than 50 names and nearly all faculty were placed on committees with open seats. This call also included the opportunity for individuals to self-nominate for upcoming open Governing Board seats. Unfortunately, this year the open board seats are very specific in qualifications which we feel we might not have explained well enough. We’d like to open the call for nominees for open Governing Board seats once again, but with a short window for response.

If you feel you qualify, and would like to be part of our spring slate, please respond to the full Nominating and Elections Committee (linked below) by March 28, 2022. Submitting your name doesn’t guarantee a placement on the board or on the slate, as the Committee strives to create a competitive, yet diverse and representative slate.

JPER Now Offered Exclusively Online

ACSP is delighted to announce that starting with Volume 42, Number 2, our flagship Journal of Planning Education and Research will be online only for members. This move reflects the reality of how most of our members read the journal. It also has the benefit of being more ecologically-friendly. We hope you continue to use the journal in your scholarly work and that you consider publishing in it.
