UPCOMING WEBINAR: THE COVID-19 PANDEMIC'S IMPACT ON PLANNING PROGRAMS

Many universities have started to reduce budgets or anticipate significant budget cuts in response to the COVID-19 pandemic. Enrollments may drop, potentially exacerbating a situation that many planning programs have already been facing. Some universities may restructure or even eliminate programs. What changes should planning programs anticipate? What strategies can help us weather this difficult time? This webinar will focus on anticipating and responding to the effects of the COVID-19 pandemic on academic programs.

Speakers:

- Jennifer Cowley, Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs, University of North Texas
- Edward Feser, Provost, Oregon State University
- Sonia Hirt, Dean, College of Environment + Design, University of Georgia
- Dawn Jourdan, Executive Associate Dean, College of Architecture, Texas A&M University

This webinar is designed for department chairs and program coordinators. Faculty members, students and practitioners are welcome.

The webinar will take place on Friday, May 15 from 1 pm to 2:30 pm MDT (9 am HST/12 pm PDT/2 pm CDT/ 3 pm EDT).

Save the date and stay tuned to the ACSP website and social media for registration information.
