2020 CURRICULUM AWARD ANNOUNCEMENT

ACSP and the Lincoln Institute of Land Policy would like to thank everyone who submitted entries for the 2020 Curriculum Innovation Award. The selection committee has reviewed all curriculum proposals. Although the task of selecting 4 awards (for $7,000 each) from the large pool of quality proposals was difficult, we are pleased to announce this year's winners.

Congratulations to all the recipients of the 2020 Curriculum Innovation Award!

American Planning Association Statement

Righting the Wrongs of Racial Inequality

The American Planning Association is heartbroken over the brutal, senseless killing of George Floyd in Minneapolis earlier this week, and the immense pain inflicted on the black community, which continues to suffer from the insidious and blatant effects of structural racism nationwide.

We are also profoundly saddened by the additional burdens being visited on our cities, which are still reeling from the devastating effect of a global pandemic, and concerned for the tens of thousands of planners across the nation who strive daily — despite setbacks and frustrations — to raise the voice of the voiceless...

The impact of Mr. Floyd's death and other recent grave injustices like it must be viewed in light of the historical trauma inflicted on African American communities, including discrimination wrought by the planning profession itself, which led to structural disadvantages in housing, transportation, education and employment that last to this day.

Our Mission

The Association of Collegiate Schools of Planning promotes education, research, service and outreach in the United States and throughout the world by seeking to:

- recognize diverse needs and interests in planning;
- improve and enhance the accreditation process, and;
- strengthen the role of planning education in colleges and universities through publications, conferences, and community engagement;
- extend planning beyond the classroom into the world of practice.
