JOIN US FOR ACSP2021 - PART 2 BEGINNING THIS THURSDAY!

More than 1,000 members and guests joined us for the first portion of our Annual Conference earlier this month. We are expecting even more for the last half of our conference (ACSP2021 - Part 2), as we conclude this annual event! There is still an opportunity to register and join your friends and colleagues!

Upcoming conference highlights include:

Keynote address from Sara Bronin, Cornell University. Bronin will give her presentation entitled, "We Can No Longer Not Know," on October 21 from 1:40 - 2:40 pm EST. You won't want to miss Bronin’s session as she challenges us with one key question, "Do we know what we need to know, to change what we need to change?"

Despite the ambitions of planning educators, we lack universally-accessible, large-scale knowledge stores about key facts central to scholarship and practice. Bronin will propose that planning educators more vocally push for public investment in collection of legal, spatial, and environmental data, capitalizing on pending infrastructure funding and the increased interest in climate science to spur needed change. Like the Human Genome Project, this new initiative could unlock groundbreaking research on the urgent challenges we aim to tackle. Be sure to add this thought-provoking session to your personal conference schedule.

Publisher and Individual Author Book Fair & Poster Session. Join us on Friday, Oct 22 from 10:00am - 12:00pm EST for our first-ever virtual Book Fair. Visit each exhibitor or participating author to find out more about their recent publications and the chance to win one of up to ten giveaways!

Career Information Sessions will be hosted by universities to discuss career opportunities within their institutions. Be sure to check the schedule for the list of times.

The Pre-Doctoral Workshop for Underrepresented Students of Color and LGBTQIA+ Students will be held simultaneously with the conference. Hosted annually by the ACSP Committee on Diversity, this workshop is designed to introduce planning doctoral studies to students and prepare them to apply to and succeed in doctoral programs. Students from groups that are under-represented on planning faculties were encouraged to apply. Students selected to attend are able to do so at no cost to themselves.

The Pre-Doctoral Workshop - PhD Program Fair is open to all masters students interested in pursuing a doctorate degree in planning. On Saturday, October 23, ACSP Member Schools with PhD programs sponsoring the event will have the opportunity to personally share information about their individual doctoral programs. Students, you $50 Amazon gift cards! You will also have the opportunity to view all of the conference posters, chat with their creators and vote for your favorite.

Meet the Paul Davidoff Award winning author of The Voucher Promise, Eva Rosen! Be sure to stop by Eva's table in the Book Fair to congratulate our winner! The first 10 visitors at Rosen's table will be mailed a free copy of her book, compliments of the Princeton University Press. They will also be offering additional discounts for Book Fair guests, so be sure to drop by and stay a while!

Please join us for all of this, in addition to 200 academic sessions from 16 different topical tracks! Check the event schedule and web page of conference highlights for more session information and event details. Be sure to add sessions of interest to your personal schedule. See you soon!

Please Note: The conference platform will automatically display session times in your time zone.
