ACSP traditionally welcomes more than 1000 attendees to the highly anticipated annual conference including faculty, students, researchers, and professional planners. Representing more than 30 countries, attendees will experience 250+ research sessions, roundtable discussions, workshops, career sessions, a Community Center to network with colleagues and friends, and plenty of opportunities to keep attendees engaged for the three-day span of this event.

The ACSP Annual Conference is an opportunity for academics and researchers to present ideas to other experts in the academy, inviting discussion of their latest project to ultimately strengthen their work. ACSP does not provide travel support or research grants related to making a presentation at this conference.

Please contact me with further questions.

Sincerely,

Donna Dodd, Executive Director
