Meet the Pathologists:
A Discussion of Careers in Pathology for Veterinary Students

2018 ACVP and ASVCP Concurrent Annual Meeting

Marriott Washington Wardman Park Hotel, Washington DC, District of Columbia, United States

Thurgood Ballroom East

Monday, November 5, 2018  1:45PM – 3:00PM

(Immediately preceding the Veterinary Student and Resident Forum)

All veterinary students and other interested attendees are invited to attend this interactive panel discussion about careers and career paths in veterinary pathology.

The goals of this session are to allow veterinary students and others to

- Learn about training pathways that led to careers in veterinary pathology
- Learn about unique careers in academia, industry and government
- Interact directly with pathologists engaged in different areas of veterinary pathology
- Directly ask pathologists questions about training, career opportunities, and the highs and lows of life as a pathologist

Panelists:

Lily Cheng, DVM, DABT, Diplomate ACVP (Anatomic Pathology)
MedImmune, Gaithersburg, MD

Krista La Perle, DVM, PhD, Diplomate ACVP (Anatomic Pathology)
The Ohio State University, Comparative Pathology & Mouse Phenotyping Shared Resource, Columbus, Ohio, ACVP President

Darren Wood, DVM, DVSc, Diplomate ACVP (Clinical Pathology)
University of Guelph, Canada

Sponsored by The NIH Comparative Biomedical Scientist Training Program (CBSTP)

An NIH Graduate Partnership Program

For more information contact:  Mark Simpson, DVM, PhD, Diplomate, ACVP, or Hibret Adissu, DVM, DVSc, PhD, Diplomate, ACVP ncimolpathol@mail.nih.gov

http://nih-cbstp.nci.nih.gov