AED and COVID-19

As part of our AED family, we are concerned for your personal health. We know there is much information circulating regarding the physical health safety precautions in the market during the spread of the COVID-19 coronavirus. However, we know there are also just as many questions surrounding steps to take to protect you and your family during this difficult time. While we do not have all the answers, we hope to supply you with the necessary resources to make informed decisions.

We are constantly monitoring closely information from the World Health Organization (WHO) the U.S. Centers for Disease Control (CDC), and other federal agencies and global and local health organizations.

Please be assured that while we remain focused on your health and safety, we are also focused on continued service to you our members. We have taken steps to make sure we can continue to deliver the same level of quality programs and excellent customer service our members have come to expect from the AED team.

AED Conference 2020: We are committed to providing you with up to date information as we continue to conduct business as usual. In planning for our July Annual Conference in Lansing, MI, we have reached out to both the Radisson Hotel and the convention center and will stay in communication with them. For now, we are still planning on hosting this annual event.

Chapter Meetings: There are a few chapter meetings scheduled over the next 30-60 days. We know that travel restrictions have already impacted members attending those local events. We will notify membership as soon as possible should chapter officers elect to cancel or reschedule their meetings. In the case of cancellation, AED will refund your registration fees.

We will continue to keep you informed of any developments regarding the coronavirus which could impact our business as usual policy.

Thank you for your continued support of AED: The Association for Drivers Rehabilitation Specialists.

Stay informed, prepared, and healthy,
