American Masters: Eero Saarinen: The Architect Who Saw the Future

Explore the life of Finnish-American modernist architectural giant Eero Saarinen, whose visionary buildings include National Historic Landmarks such as St. Louis' iconic Gateway Arch and the General Motors Technical Center in Michigan.

Florence: Birthplace of the Renaissance

The art and history of Florence are explained as they are related to one another in this comprehensive examination of the city that conquered the Medieval world with ideas and beauty.

Frank Lloyd Wright's Fallingwater Special Edition

This Special Edition contains the 2005 documentary; a series of 10 interviews on various topics with the director of the building Lynda Waggoner, a curator Cara Armstrong, and architectural historian Richard Clearly; and a stunning CD-ROM featuring an interactive virtual tour complete with still photographs, Wright's architectural drawings, and 17 panoramic views that allow you to turn a full 360 degrees within various locations surrounding and inside the house and guest house.

Architecture of the Tetons

Explore two impactful architecture projects - one that was built and one that was not - in the Tetons. Gilbert Stanley Underwood and Mies van der Rohe brought bold ideas of modernism and International Style architecture to Wyoming and changed the way people considered the relationship between architecture and the environment.

Eames: The Architect and the Painter

The husband-and-wife team of Charles and Ray Eames were America's most influential and important industrial designers. Admired for their creations and fascinating as individuals, they have risen to iconic status in American culture. 'Eames: The Architect & The Painter' draws from a treasure trove of archival material, as well as new interviews with friends, colleague, and experts to capture the personal story of Charles and Ray while placing them firmly in the context of their fascinating times.

Preservation Casper

Join in the recent trend of repurposing building structures with a Wyoming architect. This documentary explores historic building renovation to give buildings new life and how to marry the character of historic buildings with new technologies to promote sustainability.

Philip Johnson: Diary of An Eccentric Architect

One of the more creative and influential architects of the century, Philip Johnson has always been at the forefront of stylistic changes. This video is a look into the mind of a significant architect and what he calls his "diary" - the house he designed and lives in. His famous "Glass House" in New Canaan, Connecticut, has no walls - so that the landscape, in effect, becomes the wallpaper. By contrast, the guest house on the property has no windows, yet is still light and luxurious.

Casper Spotlight - The Downtown Development Authority

Explore the ways that a downtown development authority has been enhancing their downtown aesthetically, promoting businesses and events, and making their downtown a destination. Featuring the process of creating an events-driven plaza in the heart of the downtown and its impact!
