Member Spotlight
Yvonne Arena, AIA
YVONNE ARENA, AIA

I am a Member because... AIA is the connection to my professional community. It offers many opportunities for continuing education and the yearly convention helps me stay in contact with Architects I have worked with nationally and internationally.

Since seventh grade I knew I wanted to be an Architect. I attended Georgia Institute of Technology where I spent a year at the Ecole des Beaux Arts in Paris France. The beginning of my career I worked for Architectural firms where I designed a diverse portfolio from multi story office buildings to custom residential to churches to police and fire department headquarters including new construction and renovations both interior and exterior. I then worked for a continuing care retirement developer building communities. These were comprised of 1500 residential units from studios to two bedroom deluxe units with multiple 50,000 sf clubhouse buildings as well as a healthcare neighborhood of skilled nursing and assisted living. On campus facilities included meeting spaces, dining spaces, television station, retail, educational, club rooms and the infrastructure of a community. My role included developing the corporate program standards, working with local political leaders and building departments, site acquisitions, master planning and zoning approvals for developments across the country. Working at the GSA, I was the project manager for the San Ysidro Land Port of Entry, the largest government project at that time, as well as the Bakersfield and Yuma courthouses. I was hired by Las Vegas Sands Corp as the Director of Residential Design managing the design of condominiums and service apartments in Las Vegas and Macau working with internationally recognized Architectural firms including Gensler, RTKL, RMJM, HKS, and SOM. I am currently responsible for Las Vegas Sands Corp Cap Ex projects at the Las Vegas and Bethlehem properties, about to complete the Palazzo Casino renovation.

What is the most important thing you’ve learned? Architecture has given me the opportunity to learn about different cultures creating spaces for life.

What is your favorite piece of architecture? Why? It is difficult for me to pick one piece of architecture as I have been fortunate to travel and see many great spaces in the world, but growing up in Baltimore, Maryland I have admired the Peabody Library and the urban redevelopment of the inner harbor by the Rouse Company. It has a majestic presence and articulation with a hand at human scale both functionally and aesthetically.

Where will you be in 20 years? In my house on the beach with my husband, cat and a glass of Jewel of Russia on the rocks.

If you were to change one thing about our profession today what would it be? I hope that Architects would be recognized as creating functional environments that are great works of art impacting physical and mental wellbeing.
I can’t remember a time when I’ve been more proud of the AIA and being a member of an organization that fundamentally practices the health, safety and welfare of the public since 1857. In August, the AIA took a stand on the EPA’s new rule for the use of asbestos and started a nationwide petition on school design and student safety.

The AIA sent a comment letter to acting director of the EPA, Andrew Wheeler addressing our responsibility as architects to advance the quality of life for our clients and the public through the use of safe building materials and avoidance of hazardous materials like asbestos, lead, PCBs, and mercury, among others that have been proven to be unsafe for construction and demolition workers, as well as the mining, extraction or manufacturing of such materials all the way through to homeowners or building operators that come into contact with such materials as the live in and operate buildings. You can read the entire letter here.

The AIA also started a petition advocating at the local, state and federal levels of government for updating school design guidelines to achieve safety while preserving open learning environments. AIA is working to create a collaborative environment where educational officials, architects and other design professionals will have access to a repository of design resources that can be shared to promote school safety. See the whole statement, sign the petition and view resources here.

I believe it is our responsibility to do the right thing as design professionals, regardless of the current political climate on the environment and education. I am proud to be an active advocacy member and encourage you to join the community by texting “AIA” to 40649. When you do this then you can get notifications via text when petitions go out and need signatures or there are local or state issues that need to be addressed here in Las Vegas and Nevada.

Remember – this is YOUR AIA – Please make AIA a priority in your schedule. Visit our website, contact a board member or committee chair or come down to the office and visit with our wonderful staff! We want to show everyone what really happens in Las Vegas Vegas at A’19 but we need your help in making that happen. Please join us September 8 for Urban Sketchers, September 12 for the AIA Las Vegas Film Series and September 19 for the Learn About/ Turn About CE Classes and Product Show. Remember, the Nevada Design Awards are open for entries until September 7, so get your projects in and be recognized! A’19: CONFERENCE ON ARCHITECTURE IN LAS VEGAS! VOLUNTEERS NEEDED!

Today, September 1, 2018 – WE (AIA Las Vegas Members) are only 280 Days away from hosting the A’19 Conference on Architecture here in Las Vegas. To many of you, architects and associates, that may sound like a very long time! But believe me … From a planning, organization and fundraising standpoint… It is not.

The AIA Las Vegas A’19 Committee needs your help as a VOLUNTEER for in the following areas…..

PARTNERSHIPS – We need those of you who have connections throughout the Las Vegas community to lend a hand in securing sponsorships and partners to support our hosting of the A’19 Conference.

“VIVA LAS VEGAS” TOURS – We need Tour Coordinators to secure and set-up the arrangements for the Educational and Guest Tours…. Tour Guides to provide the educational content for the tours. Tour Hosts to manage the tour and the tour group, attending each tour to make sure all runs smoothly. Tour Staff to help make sure sponsors receive the proper recognition.

IF you would like to help with Tours, contact Randy Lavigne, at rlavigne@aianevada.org

PROGRAM AND ACTIVITY VOLUNTEERS – The Conference offers over 300 lectures, workshops, presentations, and activities, and each one needs a volunteer to assist in making each program run smoothly. That could be you!

AIA LAS VEGAS HOSPITALITY LOUNGE … We need members who want to work with UNLV Students to design, gather materials, construct, furnish and install the LOUNGE, and then to act as hosts and hostesses during the convention.

AIA LAS VEGAS EXHIBITS … We need members who want to work with the Exhibits Chair to showcase the work being done by Nevada architects, UNLV students and Urban Sketchers, to gather materials, build the exhibit boards….and install the exhibit next June.

ARCHITECTURE LAS VEGAS SPECIAL EDITION … We need support! We will be publishing a special edition of our magazine – Architecture Las Vegas – and it will be distributed to each conference attendee in their registration welcome bag.

We need your help with all of these activities and more. By being a volunteer YOU could attend the A’19 Conference for free. Volunteer for 10 hours and you’ll receive free registration to the conference. Volunteering for fewer hours allows discounts on your registration fee. Help us to showcase our Chapter and our City to the rest of the country. If you would like to VOLUNTEER and be a part of hosting the A’19 Conference on Architecture….. contact Ashley Gould at Ashley.gould@korteco.com

THE HUMAN SCALE film questions our assumptions about modernity, exploring what happens when we put people into the center of our equations. For 40 years the Danish architect Jan Gehl has systematically studied human behavior in cities. His starting point was an interest in people, more than buildings – in what he calls “Life Between Buildings”. Spawning from progressive developments in Copenhagen, the film explores cities in Australia, New York, and China – in an effort to understand how human beings can take back the streets within growing urban areas.

SEEKING INTEREST IN NEW EXAM STUDY TRIVIA PROGRAM

We are currently vetting the idea of creating a new program focused on ARE exam study groups, but with a spin. Why waste your time in a boring study group, when you can team up for a fun filled night of architecture trivia and libations? Each night will be focused on a specific ARE 5.0 Division, providing a structured program to an otherwise relaxed event. Teams will compete together, so bring your veteran architects along to help the emerging professionals rack up points. If you are interested, please email me so we can push the program forward!

As always, if you are interested in joining the EPIYAF Forum, helping out with the planning and promoting of these events, or even have some ideas of your own – please email me: talen@csdarchitecture.com

COTE VERSION 2.0

“Education is the most powerful weapon which you can use to change the world.”

Nelson Mandela

There is big news from the AIA Committee On The Environment. At our last meeting we discussed a change in focus and it is exciting! COTE’s mission is to be the communities’ premier provider for sustainable design through immersive activities that allow us to dive deep into discussions on specific aspects of sustainability. We are really excited about the new format and we hope our members find it to be an interesting and valuable offering from AIA Las Vegas.

Each quarter a specific subject will be explored during three monthly COTE events. The events include a CEU course or lecture that focuses on the selected subject, a tour or case study of a project highlighting the selected subject, and lastly, we will be hosting a sustainability book club and discussion group at a local coffee shop or pub to tie it all together.

Our first installation will be on Biophilic Design. Biophilia is the idea that human beings have a natural tendency to seek connections with nature and other life forms. We will be learning and discussing the positive affects that nature has on us and how to incorporate nature and its benefits into our lives through design.

“In every walk with nature one receives far more than one seeks.”

John Muir

The first lecture, “Biophilic Design and The Living Building Challenge”, will be held Thursday, September 27”, 6pm, at the Las Vegas City Hall Training Rooms, 495 S. Main St., Las Vegas, NV. There will be a small charge of $10.00 per attendee.

Our first reading Biophilic Design: The Theory, Science and Practice of Bringing Buildings to Life by Stephen R. Kellert, Judith Heerwagen, and Martin Mador. Meeting location and date of the discussion group will be announced in the next newsletter so stay tuned!

And as a bonus reading, here is a link to the newest issue of Living Architecture Monitor: The Biophilic Design Issue.

If you are interested in participating in COTE or have a subject you would like to see discussed for next year please contact Esther Garcia EGarcia@blueheron.com or Anna Peltier anna@arialandscape.com.

Installation day: SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 03, 2018

Dear Donors,
The Las Vegas community design organizations are reaching out to vendors and community partners to help create life-changing moments for female veterans and their children and for women who have suffered abuse or homelessness. The local design organizations IDA, IDS, NEWH, ASID, AIDAS and LUDC have partnered with The Veterans Village Women and Children’s Center to rehabilitate an existing 20 unit apartment building located in downtown Las Vegas. The Veterans Village Women and Children Center is a partnership between Veterans Village and The Shade Tree.

Veterans Village is dedicated to the creation of an environment that is home to United States Veterans. This is a home for those Veterans who have served our Country with the honor, courage and valor. The design of the veteran’s home is a unique and innovative approach to holistic and comprehensive housing with 24/7/365 crisis intervention center intensive support services. Public and private collaborative partnerships have been created to provide supplies and services to residents including housing, medical and mental health services, employment training, referrals and placements, food pantry, nutrition programs and transportation to the VA Hospital and primary care clinics. Below is the required needs list. SFX = SMALL FIRM EXCHANGE

Did you know there is an AIA Small Firm Exchange Group… Established for the purpose of advancing the mutual interests of architects practicing in small firms. Their mission is to advocate for small firms within the AIA and in outside organizations and agencies; to promote leadership in small firm professional development and practice; and to facilitate and support the local component roundtables and small firm networks.

WHAT DOES THE SFX DO…..?

Advocacy
At SGN this year, SFx invited state components to participate in a SFx Lien Rights Awareness initiative. With lien rights different in each state, SFx asked states for local legal help in order to create a state-customized lien rights presentation. This presentation would be given by a SFx representative (or some other local leader) and that attorney.

SFx is developing an initiative (specifically on behalf of small-firm members) to ask state components to consider working with a local broker to create a component “healthcare group.” Firms are struggling to afford healthcare; state AIA could help. AIA Portland is our current model. The AIA Trust is considering but running into state-specific differences.

If you have small firm advocacy issues, reach out to the SFx Advocacy Workgroup.

Leadership Development
SFx is supportive of the AIA GA Christopher Kelley Program expansion. For others interested in looking at a grassroots leadership development program for your chapter, check out the summaries of chapter programs at the SFx website. SFx is working on a curriculum for a possible national leadership program, as discussed at A’18 and 2018 Grassroots.

A’18 / A’19 National Conference
SFx supported successful Professional Practice / ProSeries and Leadership Development oriented sessions at A’18.

We are currently developing small-firm supportive sessions for A’19. We will publish sessions and activities being offered at A’19 of interest to small firm practitioners. The SFx Lounge will likely return near the A’19 Exhibit Hall; this lounge hosts various activities and serves as a central gathering place for attendees. We are also discussing possible A’19 tours of local architecture and/or areas of interest with the local AIA chapter.

Small-Firm Outreach
Follow us using the links above. Sign up for our e-newsletter.

Chapter Roundtables
Many components have created roundtables as a forum to discuss small firm administrative issues.

Small-Firm Practice
SFx is seeking feedback on its Business Plan Beta Template for Small Architectural Firms. The results of the SFx / SPP / CRAN survey can be found here: Business Models for Small Architectural Firms.

UPDATE FROM WMR REGIONAL DIRECTORS
KATIE WILSON, AIA AND NATE HUDSON, AIA

School Safety Campaign: On August 13th, AIA National launched a long-term campaign regarding school safety that includes timed and coordinated action plans for media and communications as well as a legislative and regulatory plan complemented by a grassroots mobilization plan. This three-pronged approach will allow us to create a comprehensive long-term strategy on school safety, help mitigate consequences of school shootings, and position architects as experts and leaders on this issue. This will not only continue to ensure architects influence this issue, but also position AIA to push for local, state, and federal public policies that will have a real and positive impact on solving this problem. Where We Stand - School Safety

Sexual Harassment: The AIA Equity in Architecture Commission is working to produce Equitable Practice Guides. These are being produced in partnership with University of Minnesota. The first three chapters will be released in September.

Blueprint for Better: Hosting a Blueprint for Better Panel event positions architects and your AIA Chapter as a “convener” for addressing (and solving!) the critical issues that face cities, including rising water, natural disasters, sustainability, and housing shortages. A resource has been created to guide you through planning your own Blueprint for Better panel. Download the Toolkit Here
