Al Hoodwin, CEO of Michigan City Paper Box, says,

We will plan on making the Safety Basic's course a requirement for all current and new employees to take since it will create a safer workplace and potentially help our workmen's compensation cost. It is something as a Company we wanted to do when the AICC first introduced the program but the cost of 76 employees at $250 each was a bit daunting. Now that this $19,000 value of courses is available for free to all members, there is no reason for us not to make the time for the employees to take the course. The best part of online education is that it is available 24/7 so it will be very flexible to implement in our environment.
