CAPRICORN Dec. 22 - Jan. 19

AQUARIUS Jan. 20 - Feb. 18

PISCES Feb. 19 - March 20
Make sure all your activities are rated "PG" for the best results. Maintain a wholesome family-oriented atmosphere around your work as well as your home. Someone may look up to you as a role model.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY:
Having fun and living out your childhood fantasies might be the most important issues of the next three to four weeks. By January, your shrewdness and ability to find financial opportunities are in control, making this a good time to negotiate for better terms at your job or in a financial matter. In March spiritual concerns may occupy your mind and you may find that you feel younger and more creative than usual. You will likely become more sensitive to subtle influences, so you must make an effort to remain positive and upbeat. You may come up with some exciting ideas, but wait until May to launch them. May is the best month to launch business plans, or to make headway with financial stability.

Christiane Amanpour will have a new show on PBS.

PBS adds Amanpour following Rose's exit

Veteran correspondent Christiane Amanpour will take over the interview slot on PBS previously occupied by Charlie Rose. PBS and WNET, in an announcement Monday, said the new show, "Amanpour on PBS," will air on an interim basis starting Dec. 11 at 11 p.m. It also will air on CNN International on weekdays. Rose's show, which PBS first aired in 1991, was eliminated Nov. 21 following an extensive Washington Post report that detailed his alleged unwanted sexual advances toward women. He was also terminated by CBS, where he co-hosted "CBS This Morning" and was a contributing correspondent for "60 Minutes." Amanpour, who is CNN's chief international correspondent, is one of the most decorated correspondents of her generation, having won 11 Emmy Awards, four Peabody Awards and two George Polk Awards. She "is a fearless and uncompromising journalist," Neal Shapiro, president and CEO of WNET, said in a statement. "We are pleased to welcome her to the PBS system and are gratified to offer this thorough and responsible news program to viewers nationwide." Rose is among several high-profile television personalities to be toppled by allegations of inappropriate sexual behavior this year, including Matt Lauer ("Today Show"), Bill O'Reilly ("O'Reilly Factor") and Mark Halperin ("Morning Joe").

Ballet chief investigated: New York City Ballet leader Peter Martins, above, has been removed from teaching his weekly class at the School of American Ballet while the organizations jointly investigate an accusation of sexual harassment. Both organizations confirmed to The New York Times that the accusation against Martins was made in an anonymous letter.

Kimmel baby on mend: Jimmy Kimmel's 7-month-old son has had a successful second round of heart surgery. ABC released a statement saying Kimmel's son had the surgery Monday, and the late-night host will take time off from "Jimmy Kimmel Live" to be with his family. Chris Pratt will be the first of several guest hosts filling in for Kimmel.

Hoffman grilled: A starry anniversary discussion of the film "Wag the Dog" turned testy Monday when moderator John Oliver confronted Dustin Hoffman about allegations of sexual harassment. Hoffman seemed blindsided and defensive by the line of questioning from the host of HBO's "Last Week Tonight." Hoffman explained the accusation was 40 years old. Actress Anna Graham Hunter has alleged that Hoffman groped her and made inappropriate comments when she was a 17-year-old intern on the set of the 1985 TV movie "Death of a Salesman."

Dec. 6 birthdays: Actress JoBeth Williams is 69. Comedian Steven Wright is 62. Actress Janine Turner is 55. Director Judd Apatow is 50. Actress Ashley Madekwe is 36.
