DIGESTIBLES FOR DISTANCE LEARNING

Small Ideas for a Big Job!

DIGESTIBLES #14

Leveling Up....

Today's tips demonstrate that we're all getting a little more sophisticated in our approach to distance learning. The first is the product of Common Sense Media joining forces with several other high-profile educational organizations to create a free super-portal for teachers and students. The second shows one of our member schools creating content for "just in time" teaching in response to a need we're all seeing online--setting some online behavioral expectations.

The Experts Create A Portal

Curated and coordinated by the experts at Common Sense Media, Wide Open School is the result of a collaboration among leading publishers, nonprofits, and education and technology companies. Wide Open School features a free collection of the best learning experiences and activities for kids, organized by grade band and subject. You will also find daily schedules with creative breaks and recommendations to keep kids engaged and exploring, one day (or one hour) at a time.

Digital Citizenship for Distance Learning

We got this great submission from member school Mount Saint Joseph High School in Baltimore. They made a video with tips for being a good "digital citizen" of a digital classroom. It's a great way to get the point across in a personal and humorous way, a bit like the video from our previous digestible tip from a school in New Jersey.
