

ACA Stream to Sea Partnership Levels & Benefits

All partnership levels acknowledge your role in supporting the ACA's mission of promoting and improving paddlesports education, stewardship, recreation and competition.

Of the 6.14 million tons of marine debris that reaches ocean environments each year, an estimated 80% of that comes from fresh water rivers and streams. The ACA Stream to Sea Initiative works to educate the paddling community about marine debris and promote positive on-water stewardship in the areas that we love to play! The Stream to Sea Initiative equips paddlers with the knowledge and necessary tools to clean navigable waterways and paddling environments while recreating. Employing paddlers, a virtually untapped resource that already has a vested interest in the health of our waters, in freshwater rivers and streams provides a sustainable network of stewards dedicated to reducing debris accumulation before it ever reaches coastal environments.

The Stream to Sea Initiative is a three-pronged effort to educate, motivate, and model proactive on-water stewardship practices to curb marine debris at the source. The Stream to Sea Initiative encompasses the ACA's Paddle Green Bags, Paddle Green Events, Track Trash Data Collection, and Educational Outreach Programs.
