Why participate in the AMS Mary Kay Doctoral Dissertation Competition?

Get feedback from leading Marketing scholars

With the number of submissions and rejections increasing across the major Marketing journals, having feedback from leading Marketing scholars before submitting your articles is critical to increase your chances of publication. By sending your entry, two knowledgeable scholars from your research area will review your work and give you feedback. This will help you fine-tune your research as you prepare it for submission.

Increase your visibility and academic reputation

An important aspect of your career is to establish your academic reputation. By sending your entry, you will have the opportunity to be a finalist and present at the AMS Annual Conference in Vancouver. Aside from improving your reputation this can also help you become more visible in the job market through networking with other academics.

Network with industry leaders

The competition is generously sponsored by Mary Kay, a leading direct selling company with a presence in more than 35 markets on five continents. Competition finalists will have the chance to network with Mary Kay top executives. Improving such industry connections can inspire your research and teaching, as well as lead to valuable research project opportunities.

Structure and fine-tune your research program

Whether you’re conducting experimental, econometric, or conceptual work, adequately writing and structuring your dissertation is key for graduation and future journal submissions. Investing the time in developing and sending your entry means you’ll set aside time and resources towards such structuring. This can give you a much clearer picture of the direction of your research and its publishability.

Fund your future research

Developing your research portfolio often necessitates substantial resources for subject compensation, hardware and software acquisition, and other expenses. By sending your entry, you will have the opportunity to earn up to a $600 award that can help towards that end, in addition to receiving a one-year membership in the Academy of Marketing Science.
