Total Membership Is 3,497

Cecil Adkins, Registrar, reported that as of June 30, the Society had 2,498 members and 999 subscribers. The total membership is divided as follows: 1,613 Regular; 64 Regular spouses; 700 Student; 25 Student spouses; 74 Emeritus; 2 Life; 10 Honorary; 10 Corresponding; 28 Individual subscribers; 959 Institutional subscribers; and 12 Exchange subscribers.

New Obrecht Edition

The Vereniging voor Nederlandse Muziekgeschiedenis (VNM) resolved, in its last general membership meeting, to continue its edition of the complete works of Jacob Obrecht (editio altera, edd. A. Smijers, M. van Crevel), this time under the editorship of an international team of musicologists.

In this connection, the executive committee of the VNM invites any musicologists interested in undertaking this project to contact its secretary, Dr. Clemens von Gleich, c/o Steenvoordeelaan 94, Rijswijk (ZH), Holland.

Recommendations for editors are also welcome.

Guggenheim Fellowship Awards, 1972

Fellowship awards amounting to $3,819,100 have been announced by the John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation. The grants were made to 372 scholars, scientists, and artists chosen by the Committee of Selection from among 2,506 applicants in the Foundation's forty-eighth annual competition.

The Fellowships were awarded on the basis of demonstrated accomplishment in the past and strong promise for the future. Among the younger men and women for whom a year's continuous work has been made possible are the composers Carla Bley and Keith Jarrett. Grantees who are already well known include the composers George Russell and Charles Wuorinen.

The two awards in musicology went to Dr. Gerard H. Behague, Associate Professor of Music, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign: Afro-Bahian cult music; and Dr. Anthony A. Newcomb, Assistant Professor of Music, Harvard University: Secular vocal music in Rome, 1570-1600.

The Two Sides of the Dallas Meeting

By Eugene Helm

1972 AMS Program Chairman

Not even the most biased outsider could accuse the Society of neglecting fresh viewpoints in its upcoming national meeting. American music will be promoted not in a mere single session, but, in one form or another, for an entire day. Music Criticism will be given a plenary session, one designed to engender strong statements and perhaps even controversy. Study sessions will be unlike any such previous sessions in that they will be frankly designed for specialists by specialists. (See the description of them elsewhere in this Newsletter.) We shall be entertained not by any part of the standard repertory, but by a puppet opera, in full production, on the one hand and a nineteenth-century temperament play, with authentic music, on the other hand.

Not even the most clannish insider could accuse the Society of neglecting basic studies in this meeting. There will be one session on medieval music; two on the Renaissance (music in general, and manuscript sources); two on the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries (music in cultural life, and the sonata and concerto); two on Classic and Romantic music (analysis, and the composition as document); and two on the twentieth century, among other subjects (special topics, and criticism and aesthetics).

Come.

Awards for Women

Three women have been named as recipients of graduate fellowships for work in musicology by the American Association of University Women. They are Joan A. Milliman, University of Southern California; Margaret Murata, Biblioteca Vaticana; and Lyn Tolkoff, Yale University, whose subject is reported as Analysis of Operatic Styles of Niccolo Jommelli (1714-1774). Further information concerning the fellowship program may be obtained by writing to AAUW Fellowships Program Director, 2401 Virginia Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20037.
Report of the President

August 10, 1972

This has been a busy two years for the AMS, and I want to acknowledge with thanks the energetic participation of certain members by way of enumerating some of our achievements and concerns.

First of all we must take great satisfaction in our Journal, which under both the former Editor-in-Chief, Martin Piker and his Editorial Board, and under the present Editor-in-Chief, David Easdown, has maintained a standard of excellence, promptness, and scholarly vitality that must be the envy of our fellow national societies. Our hard-working editors are our most unsung heroes.

Our Society and profession never received greater public attention than during the Josquin Festival-Conference, so brilliantly conceived and administered by Edward Lowinsky. Daily press and magazine coverage was nationwide and enthusiastic. One of the projects sponsored by the National Endowment for the Humanities of which it is most proud, the Festival was the subject of the featured article in a recent issue of its newsletter, Humanities (Summer ’72).

A spin-off of the Festival is a plan by the J. F. Kennedy Performing Arts Center for sponsoring similar festival-conferences. The first is being dedicated to Gereshen, and a Haydn Festival is projected for 1974. Irving Lowens, as chairman of our liaison committee with the Kennedy Center, has vigorously pursued this opportunity to unite scholarship with performance and specialized knowledge with public exposure.

Through the Placement Service we have reached hundreds of institutions with names and qualifications of graduates of our Ph.D. programs. Although the number placed is modest, I know first hand of the help this service has been to administrators. Even institutions seeking theorists, ethnomusicologists, and performers have elected to advertise their vacancies with us. The first year of operation has demonstrated that the system designed by David Ross’ committee is a very workable one, and Cecil Adkins has set up the operation and publication of the lists with remarkable speed and efficiency. I urge all members to assure the success of this service by having their departments enter all vacancies calling for musicaloc training.

My thanks go to all chapter officers for cooperating so faithfully with national officers in applying for the per-capita grants of mailing labels and postage subsidy. This program has enabled us to get more up-to-date information on the activities, names of officers, and financial status of chapters than we have ever had. It has permitted chapters, on their part, to reach the largest possible potential group of participants.

Our series of monographs has been extended by two titles, Edward Reilly’s Quants and His Versuch and Edgar Sparks’ The Music of Noel Baudewyn. Gustave Reese, chairman, as long as most of us can remember of the Publications Committee, deserves hearty congratulations and thanks for years of patient editorial direction. Two capital gifts are in the works, Hans Tischler’s The Earliest Motets, being readied for the press by Austin Clarkson’s editorial team at Yale under a grant from the NEH; and the Sammartini thematic index compiled by both Ching Churng and Newell Jenkins.

An Endowment Fund, established this year to segregate capital gifts from annual revenue, will reserve income for our publication program. Under the leadership of our Treasurer Alvin Johnson the funds have been invested in a trust that has had an average annual return of nearly 8% as opposed to our previous 6½ savings certificates. The basis of the fund were the legacies of Otto Kinkeldey and Lloyd Hibbert, to which was recently joined the bequest of Ilse Bukofzer from the Estate of Manfred Bukofzer (see Treasurer’s Report and Report of the Chairman of the Finance Committee). To what we owe Bukofzer for his brilliant and lasting scholarship, we must add this source of perpetual encouragement to the communication of new research.

Meanwhile negotiations were continued with Armen Carapetyan towards a link between the AMS and the American Institute of Musicology that would guarantee the availability and continuation of a superb series of publications under American administration for into the future.

I am happy and grateful to turn the Newsletter over to Frank Traficante, this being his inaugural issue. A means of reaching the membership with announcements, news, and organization business, the AMS Newsletter also goes to selected foundations, newspapers, magazines, and both affiliated and parallel organizations. By communicating annual reports through this organ, our annual business meetings are freed of routine and more open to participation by the membership. Please file your copies as some important notices are not repeated in each issue.

The contents of the annual reports printed here are keyed to certain provisions of amendments being voted by the Council in advance of our annual meeting. Among the rewritten portions of the Constitution and By-laws are articles that grant to the entire membership— as opposed to the Council—the right to vote on amendments, and the right to initiate by resolution at the business meeting or by petition proposals to the Board of Directors (as the Executive Board would be called in the future to conform to our original Certificate of Incorporation of 1942).

With attendance at meetings approaching the thousand mark, the task of the program and local chairmen has become even more demanding. Jim Pruett probably created the most complex organization we have ever had—and with marked success—to locate and move the meetings in the Durham area. Imogene Horsey’s committee not only took advantage of the presence of our ethnomusicologists but also struck a balance between research paper sessions and workshops and discussions groups. May I express our sincere thanks to them for their generous efforts.

One of the busiest committees has been that for the U. S. Bicentennial headed by Walter Hitchcock. A complete edition of the works of William Billings has a good chance of receiving a capital gifts subsidy, and a publisher is already interested in the project. Other plans for marking the nation’s 200th anniversary are being pursued, and the Committee welcomes suggestions.

The guidelines for the Kinkeldey and Einstein awards have been rewritten with the aim of simplifying and clarifying the language, and they are published in this issue. I want to thank Albert Seay and his Committee for their thoughtful recommendations concerning the Einstein Award, and both this and the Kinkeldey Award Committee, headed by Edward Lowinsky, for their careful judging of 1971 publications. We are deeply grateful to Eva Einstein for her loyal support of the prize honoring the memory of her esteemed father.

Finally, I must say that it has been a great pleasure for me to serve this Society and to work with the Board and our dedicated officers, Rita Benton, Lewis Lockwood, Alvin Johnson, the Registrar Cecil Adkins, and Business Manager of Publications Otto Albrecht.

* These sessions are designed to be informal but highly particular discussions of favorite topics among specialists. They will not usually involve regular presentation of papers but they will require advance preparation. You are invited to telephone or write the chairman whose topic interests you most, naming subjects under which topic which you would like to have discussed, suggesting ways in which the session might be organized, etc. The end result, when you and your similarly specialized colleagues meet at your own session in Dallas, might be general or specific, organized or chaotic; but if the planning is begun early enough, the session will probably be stimulating in any case. If none of the listed topics appeals to you, you are invited to concoct and pre-arrange your own session during this time. If you need a room in which to hold such a session, please notify Professor Michael Collins of North Texas State University, mentioning the approximate number in the group. It may be necessary to hold an occasional smaller session in the hotel room of one of the participants. Information concerning the meeting place for each of the study sessions will be supplied at registration. It will not be possible to provide audio-visual equipment for these meetings.

Chapter Fund Committee Report

Paul J. Revitt, Chairman of the Chapter Fund Committee, reports that his committee could easily have handled more requests than it received during 1971-72. Of three requests, two were granted: one, in January, 1972, in the amount of one hundred dollars, to the Southeast Chapter for half of the anticipated expense of inviting Professor Jens Larsen to address its April meeting, and the other, in March, 1972, in the amount of thirty-seven and one-half dollars, to the Greater New York Chapter for half of the stipulated expense of moving and mounting a harpsichord for its May meeting.

The Chapter Fund Committee, one of the newer standing committees of the Society, has gradually adopted a few basic policies. Under the wise direction of the late William Mitchell, it evolved a workable and equitable principle: as a kind of “matching fund” system, it is willing to appropriate up to half the amount anticipated (with reasonable documentation). Moreover, the money should benefit the entire Chapter. Since the formation of the Committee in 1970, most of the requests granted were for expenses directly connected with Chapter meetings. In two instances, a contribution to travel expenses was granted to enable student representatives to attend National Society meetings.

The Committee, from its beginning, established a negative attitude toward requests for “operational” expenses, (i.e., clerical help, post office services, and stationery supplies). It has also developed a policy of denying requests for individual research projects.

Josquin Festival-Conference
Proceedings Nearing Completion

Professor Edward Lowinsky reports that progress is being made with the volume of Proceedings of the Josquin Festival-Conference to be published by the Oxford University Press. Although it is too early to determine precisely the size of the eventual publication the typescript, including text, notes, tables, and appendices, already amounts to over 800 pages. The volume will include 62 plates and over 100 pages of music.

The volume will be accompanied by a recording of music performed in the three workshops by the Prague Madrigal Singers, the Capella Antiqua München, the Schola Cantorum Stuttgart, and the New York Pro Musica.

IMS Invited to Berkeley for Twelfth Congress

The International Musicological Society has accepted the invitation of the University of California and the American Musicological Society to hold its Twelfth Congress in 1977 in Berkeley. The invitation was delivered at the business meeting of the IMS in Copenhagen on August 25 by Daniel Heurtz and seconded by Claude Palisca, who conveyed the pledge of the AMS Executive Board to lend its resources for the organization and fund raising that the Congress will require.

Approximately one hundred scholars from the United States and Canada attended the Eleventh Congress in Copenhagen. Eight of the participants in round tables and twenty-nine who delivered papers were Americans. The large number of participants from this country was made possible by travel grants from the American Council of Learned Societies.

Elected to the two places reserved for the United States on the Directorium were William S. Newman and Claude V. Palisca, who succeeded Donald Creutz and Gustave Reese. Professor Creutz and Paul H. Lang, as former presidents, remain non-voting members of the Directorium. Eduard Reesen of the Netherlands was elected President and Ludwig Finscher and Henrik Glahn of Denmark were elected Vice-Presidents of the IMS by the Directorium. Ernst Molt of Switzerland was elected honorary member in recognition of his long service as Secretary-General. He is succeeded by Rudolf Häusler, also of Switzerland.

The Consultative Committee, made up of representatives of national societies, was dissolved by unanimous vote of the General Assembly, because it had not yet been an effective means of cooperation between the IMS and national societies. A Commission on Structure will be appointed by the Directorium at its next meeting in March in Basel. The Assembly also voted to increase dues for individual members to 40 Swiss francs and for institutions to 70.

Harold Spivacke Retires from Library of Congress

On February 4, Harold Spivacke retired as Chief of the Music Division of the Library of Congress, having served nearly 35 years in that capacity. During his 38 years at the Library, which included a tenure as Assistant Chief from 1934, the holdings of the Division have almost tripled, its activities and services have been significantly expanded, and the Library’s programs of free music have become a vital part of the Nation’s cultural life.

The Library’s unparalleled resources for the study of music are in large part a monument to Mr. Spivacke’s term of office. The acquisitions which he encouraged and fostered in this period—manuscripts, scores, personal papers, memorabilia, and recordings—represent a spectrum ranging from the music of George Gershwin and Richard Rodgers to that of Igor Stravinsky and Arnold Schoenberg. With the help of the Coolidge and Whittall Foundations, established before 1937, and of the Koussevitzky Foundation and the McKim Fund, established in 1949 and 1970, respectively, he has commissioned works now a permanent part of the modern repertoire. Among these are works by Aaron Copland, Alberto Ginastera, Paul Hindemith, Walter Piston, Gian Carlo Menotti, Roy Harris, William Schuman, and many others.

In addition to his service to the Library, Mr. Spivacke has taken part in national and international activities, as an officer of the National Music Council, the Music Library Association, the International Association of Music Libraries, the American Musicological Society, the American Council of Learned Societies, the American Society for Comparative Musicology, the Acoustical Society of America, and the Society for Ethnomusicology, to name but a few. During World War II he served on the Joint Army and Navy Committee’s Subcommittee on Music, he was a member of the Fulbright Advisory Selection Committee on Music from 1949 to 1955, and he is now Chairman of the Screening Committee of the National Endowment’s Audience Development Program for the Benefit of Chamber Music Societies. He is also a member of the Advisory Committee on the Arts to the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts.

Guidelines for Einstein and Kinkeldey Awards

At its meeting on March 25 the Executive Board approved the following guidelines for the AMS Alfred Einstein and Otto Kinkeldey Awards:

Alfred Einstein Award

1. The Alfred Einstein Award will honor each year the author of the article on a musicological subject deemed by a committee of scholars to be the most significant by a young scholar who is a citizen or permanent resident of the United States or Canada published in a periodical during the preceding calendar year. A “young scholar” shall be defined as one who at the time of publication has not reached his thirty-sixth birthday nor has held a Ph.D. longer than five years. “Periodical” shall be defined as a serial publication appearing at least once a year in any country and in any language.

2. The Alfred Einstein Award shall consist of the sum of $400 and a certificate, signed by the President, citing the name of the recipient and the work.

3. The article shall be selected by a committee of three appointed by the President in consultation with the Executive Board, one member to be designated as chairman. The Committee shall be known as the Alfred Einstein Award Committee, and its members shall serve overlapping three-year terms, each retiring chairman to be succeeded by the member with the longest service.

(The present committee members and their terms of office are: Richard Hoppin, Chairman, 1 year; Lewis Lockwood, 3 years; Alexander Ringer, 2 years.)

4. The chairman or another member of the Committee will normally announce and confer the Award at the Annual Business Meeting of the Society. Inability to attend the meeting shall not disqualify a nominee for the Award.

Otto Kinkeldey Award

1. The Otto Kinkeldey Award will honor each year the work of musicological scholarship deemed by a committee of scholars to be the most distin-

On November 11, 1971 the Executive Board established an Endowment Fund with capital funds in the amount of $40,000.00, the income to be expended in support of the Society's publications budget. In March 1972, the AMS, as residual heir, received from the estate of Manfred Bukofzer the following items in bequest, market values as of March 23, 1972.
1) Cash deposits $4,000.00
2) Public utility bonds, maturity value $11,000 9,095.19
3) 3,793 shares of Massachusetts Investor's Trust 60,662.48
Total $71,757.77

In addition, the Society is heir to the royalty rights on Music in the Baroque Era and Studies in Medieval and Renaissance Music, W. W. Norton & Co. and盔k Endecott Editions, Inc., Theodore Presser Co.

After deliberate consideration of various investment opportunities, on June 5, 1972 the Finance Committee purchased an additional 3,466 shares of Massachusetts Investor's Trust, a mutual investment fund which, over the last ten years, realized an average returns of 7.5% per cent in regular dividends and capital gains.

Certified Public Accountant
333 Dickinson Avenue
Swarthmore, Pennsylvania

July 24, 1972

Dr. Alvin H. Johnson
Treasure, The American Musicological Society, Inc.

Dear Sir:

We have examined the Statement of Receipts and Expenditures of The American Musicological Society, Inc. for the period June 30, 1971 to June 30, 1972. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing procedures and included such tests of your financial records as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

The checking account balance as shown by the Statement of Receipts and Expenditures as of June 30, 1972, was reconciled with the amount on deposit as shown by the statement of The Philadelphia National Bank, Philadelphia, as of June 30, 1972. The amount shown in the savings account at June 30, 1972, was also verified.

All vouchers and cancelled checks covering disbursements made during the period were examined.

In our opinion the accompanying financial report correctly states the financial position of The American Musicological Society, Inc. as of June 30, 1972, as well as for its financial transactions in the period June 30, 1971 to June 30, 1972.

Respectfully yours,
WILLIAM C. COFFENBERG

Numerous ACLS Awards
For Musicology

For IMS Meeting

The largest number of participants from the United States and Canada of any international musicological congress so far were scheduled to speak at the Congress of the International Musicological Society in Copenhagen, August 20 to 25. Almost all received travel grants through the American Council of Learned Societies.

Those awarded grants through a program of the National Endowment for the Humanities administered by ACLS for members of governing bodies of the IMS were George J. Buelow, a member of the board of Acta Musicologica, and Claude V. Palisca, official delegate of the AMS.

Three received awards for younger scholars sponsored by NEH and administered by ACLS: Robert Bailey, Gordana Lazarevic, and Howard Seger.

Seventeen received the regular travel grants of the ACLS for participation in foreign congresses: Cecil Adkins, Stephen Bonta, Clyde W. Brockett, Jr., Martin Chusid, Alan Curtis, Daniel Heartz, Clayton W. Henderson, Herbert Kellman, Harry B. Lincoln, Lewis Lockwood, Jaroslav Mraček, William S. Newmarr, Harold S. Powers, Boris Schwarz, Howard E. Smither, Peter Westergaard, and Christoph Wolff.

Post-Doctoral Fellowships

The ACLS has announced the presentation of sixty-five post-doctoral fellowships for research in the humanities and related social sciences and seventeen post-doctoral fellowships designed to assist young scholars to enlarge their range of knowledge by study in fields outside their present areas of specialization. These awards are for periods of six months to one year.

Among those in the first category are: A. Peter Brown, Department of Music, University of Hawaii: A study of the music of Carlos d’Ordoñez; and James Haar, Department of Music, New York University: Epic verse and music in Renaissance Italy.

Included in the second category is: Phyllis T. Dircks, Department of English, C. W. Post College of Long Island University: Study of musicology and the history of musical performance.

Grants-In-Aid

The ACLS has also awarded Grants-In-Aid to ninety-six scholars from sixty-two academic institutions for post-doctoral research in humanities and related social sciences. Included among the recipients are: William E. Coleman, Assistant Professor of English, City University of New York, John Jay College and John Reeves White, Professor of Music, City University of New York, Hunter College: A performing edition of the liturgical drama, Laudes Mariae; Robert Donington, Professor of Music, University of Iowa: Neoplatonic influence on the liturgical of early opera; Gordana Lazarevic, Assistant Professor of Music, Barnard College, Columbia University: Italian comic musical theater of the 18th century; Lewis H. Lockwood, Professor of Music, Princeton University: Music and musicians at the Court of Ferrara, 1470-1530; Martha Maas, Assistant Professor of Music, Ohio State University and Jane M. Snyder, Assistant Professor of Classics, Ohio State University: A study of Greek stringed instruments such as the kithara, harp, and lyre; Leeman L. Perkins, Associate Professor of Music, University of Texas: An edition of the Mellon Chansonnier; and Joel A. Sachs, Assistant Professor of Music, Columbia University: Musical life in late Georgian London.

Descriptive Brochure

A descriptive brochure, entitled Aids To Individual Scholars: Competitions to be held in 1972-1973 and listing a number of ACLS programs, is available to interested persons. Copies may be requested from: Office of Fellowships and Grants, American Council of Learned Societies, 345 East 46 Street, New York, NY 10017.

Ingolf Dahl Memorial Award

To promote excellence in musical scholarship among student members of the northern and southern California chapters of the AMS an annual award of Fifty dollars has been established at the University of Southern California as a memorial to the late Ingolf Dahl. The award is granted for the best student paper read at a joint northern-southern California chapter meeting. Last year's winner was David Fallows for his paper, "Luffl: An English Song in South-German Sources of the 15th Century.

1973 Meeting in Madison

Neal Zaslow has been named Chairman of the Program Committee for the 1973 national meeting of the AMS. The meeting will be held at the University of Wisconsin at Madison, November 8-11.

Abstracts should be addressed: Neal Zaslow, Lincoln Hall (Music Department), Cornell University, Ithaca, NY 14850. They will be due by March 1, 1973.

Otto Albrecht Honored

At the Annual Meeting of the Fellows of The Pierpont Morgan Library Professor Otto E. Albrecht was elected an Honorary Fellow of the Library. The group of Honorary Fellows is limited to twenty members, all scholars of international reputation and known devotion to the purposes of the Library. Professor Albrecht’s appointment serves to fill the chair of the late Cardinal Tisserand.
Changes in AAUP List of Censured Administrations

The Fifty-Eighth Annual Meeting of the American Association of University Professors voted to remove the following institutions from the Association’s list of censured administration: Cheyney State College; Dutchess Community College (New York).

It was voted that the following institutions be placed upon the Association’s list of censured administrations: Armstrong State College (Georgia); University of California at Los Angeles (Censure was voted specifically on the Board of Regents of the University of California, and not on the institution’s administrative officers); Columbia College (Missouri); Onondaga Community College (New York).

Institutions remaining on the Association’s list of censured administrations are as follows:

Alabama State University; Alcorn Agricultural and Mechanical College (Mississippi); Amarillo College; Broward Junior College (Florida) (Now: Broward Community College); Central State College (Georgia); Central State College (Oklahoma); Detroit Institute of Technology; University of Florida; Frank Phillips College (Texas); Grainger Community College; Indiana Institute of Technology; Indiana State University; Laredo Junior College (Texas); University of Mississippi; Northern State College (South Dakota) (Northern State College, like South Dakota State University, is under the jurisdiction of the Board of Regents of Education of the States of South Dakota); Oklahoma State University; College of the Ozarks (Censure was voted specifically on the Board of Trustees, and not on the institution’s administrative officers); South Dakota State University (Censure was voted specifically on the Board of Regents of Education of the State of South Dakota, and not on the institution’s administrative officers); Southeastern Louisiana University (formerly Southern Louisiana College); Southern State College (Arkansas); Southern University and Agricultural and Mechanical College; Tennessee Wesleyan College; Texas A & M University; Troy State University (Alabama); Wayne State College (Nebraska) (Censure was voted specifically on the Board of Education of State Normal Schools of the State of Nebraska, and not on the institution’s administrative officers); Wisconsin State University at Whitewater (Now: University of Wisconsin—Whitewater).

The AMS is one of the endorsers of the 1940 Statement of Principles on Academic Freedom and Tenure of the AAUP.

Scala Collection Music Will Be Performed

On Friday evening, October 6, Frederick Fennell will give a musically illustrated lecture in the Coolidge Auditorium of the Library of Congress. The Lecture, entitled “American Band Music 100 Years Ago,” will be given under the auspices of the Norman P. Scala Fund. This Fund has been established to sponsor public presentations and scholarly activities related to Francis Scala, leader of the U.S. Marine Band from 1855 to 1871, and the music of his era.

Dr. Fennell’s lecture will be illustrated by performances of a twenty-piece wind-band containing nineteenth-century brass-winds and drums from the collections of the Smithsonian Institution. Some of the music to be played will be taken from the Scala Collection at the Library of Congress. Jon Newsom, Reference Librarian in the Music Division of the Library of Congress, has been organizing and cataloging the collection, which consists primarily of manuscript parts dating from the 1850s to about 1872. John Philip Sousa was a member of the Marine Band during the last years of Scala’s directorship.

Persons interested in attending the lecture should write to the Music Division, Library of Congress, Washington, D.C. 20540, or phone (202) 426-5502.

AMS Placement Service Report For First Year

Cecil Adkins reports that, as of the end of June, 235 colleges and universities had requested copies of Candidates and Vacancies in Musicology. Candidates subscribing to the service numbered 199. There were 21 subscribing candidates who accepted positions. Nine of these positions which had been listed. Of 11 vacancies listed 18 were filled, and 5 failed to materialize.

Four issues of Candidates and Vacancies in Musicology have appeared, containing a combined total of 184 pages.

Current Musicology Plans

Ives Project

The editors of Current Musicology are formulating plans for a special project on American music to coincide with the 100th anniversary of the birth of Charles Ives. Conceivably, such a project will explore a wide range of music and its history in North America. Articles and bibliographies dealing with colonial, 19th-century, and modern American composers; folk, denominational, urban, and Indian music; in short, with all aspects of American musical life are invited from interested authors.

To gauge the response to this project, the editors ask that prospective contributors submit by January 1973 a paragraph or abstract describing their proposed article or bibliography. All manuscripts must be received by October 1, 1973.

Based on current enrollment figures the rate change will increase revenues approximately $8,000.00.

AMS Records at NYPL

Frank Campbell has agreed to store AMS records at NYPL Lincoln Center, where they will be available to readers. Older minutes of the Society will be deposited there in the Music Division, together with other documents which the officers agree to set aside. The deposit will continue in perpetuity or until the AMS has a central office in which such documents may be kept with adequate security.
