XII IMS CONGRESS 1977

This issue of the AMS Newsletter has been delayed in order to report here the success of the Twelfth Congress of the International Musicological Society, held August 21-27, 1977, at the University of California, Berkeley. Over 1,000 participants heard roughly 200 panelists from some 35 countries cover an broad spectrum of subjects well representative of the theme of the congress, "Interdisciplinary Horizons in the Study of Music, East and West." From arrival to departure, from the handsome program booklet and carefully annotated name tags, to the sound system in French, German, English, and Music—of the last papers, meetings, and concerts, the congress unfolded in a manner that was remarkably well organized and well suited to Berkeley's sprawling campus, alive with all kinds of activities in the famous California sun.

The rewards of attending such a congress are often personal: the opportunity to encounter in a single locale one's colleagues from all over the globe present itself rarely, and much information is exchanged privately, in the intervals between the scheduled events. The public meetings at Berkeley, labeled "round tables" and "study sessions," were invariably sequences of individual papers, with little time left for open comment by other panelists or participants in the audience. This is normal, of course, though it is rumored that some rare scholarly gatherings—via rigorous adherence to time limitations by panelists and chairmen alike—do provide a forum for the exchange of ideas in as well as out of session. Still, one leaves this congress with a strong sense of the good health of professional musical study in countries around the world.

The IMS conference was highlighted by a series of fine concerts and films, and participants in particular took advantage of the excitement of the streets of Berkeley, and of the visual and culinary delights of the larger San Francisco Bay area. Cocktails, parties heightened the friendly spirit of musicologists and ethnomusicologists alike.

The next meeting of the IMS—to be held in Strasbourg in 1982—will have to go some distance to match the standard of excellence, in form as well as content, set by XII IMS Congress 1977. —P.B.

TEMPERLEY TO EDIT JAMS

The Board of Directors of the Society has announced the appointments of the new Editor-in-Chief of the Journal, Nicholas Temperley, and the new Review Editor, Tom R. Ward, both of the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. Nicholas Temperley was educated at Eton College, the Royal College of Music, and the University of Cambridge. His early musical background included piano, singing, and composition. He was a post-doctoral fellow at the University of Illinois in 1959-61 and has taught in the music departments of Cambridge (1961-66), Yale (1966-67) and Illinois (since 1967), where he was chairman of the musicology division from 1972 to 1975.

Much of his published work is concerned with music in Britain in the early nineteenth century, more particularly with the music of the Clementi-Dussek Field school. He has rediscovered and revived music by the little-known British composers George Finto and Edward Loder. He edited Berlioz’s Symphonie fantastique for the New Berlioz Edition and has published articles on Chopin and Schubert. In 1975-76 he was the recipient of a fellowship from the National Endowment for the Humanities, as a result of which he completed a study of the music of the English parish church, to be published shortly by Cambridge University Press. He has completed the joint editing of a volume of 19th-century British songs for Musica.

Gustave Reese

As this Newsletter goes to press we received the sad news of the death, in California, on September 7, 1977, of Professor Gustave Reese, Honorary President of the American Musicological Society.

A NOTE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Beginning in September of this year the AMS Placement Service will be merged into that of the CMS; this will eliminate needless duplication and expense, and will result in continued service at much lower cost to AMS members. From this time on any member who wishes to receive the monthly vacancy list published by the CMS may do so by paying a fee of $5.00 to CMS. (A registration form is enclosed with this Newsletter; the form will be reprinted annually.) This fee will also provide subscribers with access to the hot-line telephone service, available daily from 9:30-11:00 a.m. Eastern time. I very much hope that this new service will bring many jobs and job-seekers together.

Our thanks go to Cecil Adkins and his staff for his devoted and efficient work on the AMS Placement Service over the past years.

—James Haar

ELECTIONS AND AWARDS

Howard Mayer Brown, Professor of Music at the University of Chicago, is the new President-Elect of the Society.

Also announced at the Annual Meeting were the winners of the prestigious Kinkeldey-Austin Awards. The former was presented to H. C. Robbins Landon for Haydn: Chronicle and Works, Vol. III: Haydn in England, 1791-1795 (Bloomington: Indiana University Press, 1976). The latter was presented to James Webster for "Violoncello and Double Bass in the Chamber Music of Haydn and his Viennese Contemporaries." Journal of the American Musicological Society, XXIX (1976), 413-438.

MINNEAPOLIS — 1978

Co-chairmen of the Program Committee for the 1978 A.M.S. Meetings, to be held in Minneapolis, are Rufus Hallmark (College of the Holy Cross), William Wiese (New England Conservatory of Music, Boston). They request that abstracts of papers, proposals for panel discussions and study sessions, and other suggestions regarding the program be mailed to their home address (14 Mt. Vernon St., Charlestown, MA 02129) by February 1, 1978. Abstracts and proposals should include the title, the name and address of the author or organizer, a clear description of the subject, an indication of the paper's methodology or an explanation of its aims, the names of contributors to the panel or study session, and the ideal length of time required for the presentation. Abstracts should be typed, double-spaced, and no more than 500 words in length. Early submission of abstracts is suggested.
EDITOR'S NOTES

The editor of the Newsletter, in cooperation with the editor of the journal of the American Musicalological Society, will present in this column of the Newsletter brief communications and inquiries of interest to members of the Society, reserving the pages of the Journal for items of a more permanent nature. Such communications and inquiries may be sent to the AMS Avoidance, Department of Music, Smith College, Northampton, Mass. 01063.

The editor of the Journal received the following communication from Paul F. Marks, of McGill University:

"I would appreciate it if JAMS would print a note of gratitude to Professor Daniel Heartz of the University of California at Berkeley.

"An article published in the recent publication Women in the 18th Century (Toronto and Sarasota, 1976)—Volume IV of the McMaster University Publications of the McMaster Association for 18th Century Studies, entitled: The Reform of Subject and Style in Ballet-Pantomime at Vienna Between 1740-1767, pp. 141-185, contains lengthy quotations and paraphrases taken from two different Prefaces of remaining volumes, for which I gave no acknowledgement in either footnote or bibliography.

"In his recent article 'A Neglected Source of Renaissance Polyphony: Rome, Santa Maria Maggiore J.J.III.4. Acta Musicologica,' published in 18th Century Music, 1971, p. 111, Barton J. Hudson makes the following statement: 'It is possible that some confusion concerning the identity of this codex has arisen due to a photographer's error. The Vatican's negative microfilm of which copies may be procured is labelled Santa Maria Maggiore Ms. 26. Actually the manuscript which properly bears this numismatical J.J.III.4. are quite distinct' (p. 166). The manuscript discussed in the article (J.J.III.4) is a collection of Masses; the second manuscript, he refers to a collection of Festa hymns mentioned many times in the literature (by Smijers, Rubsamen, and Haydon) as 'Santa Maria Maggiore G. IV. 20.' I think it is of great importance to Monsignor Ruedorff, Vice-President of the Vatican Library, to have recently tried to find the hymn manuscript, and feel bound to report the following.

1) There is no record in any of the inventories of the fondato Santa Maria Maggiore (old or new) of a manuscript of hymns with a call number 26. As of this is compiled, no hymn library. 2) All the manuscripts in the fondato Santa Maria Maggiore of the Vatican Library have received new call numbers, and under the new system, SMM J.J.III.4 is SMM 26. Anyone writing for a microfilm and asking for SMM 26 will receive SMM J.J.III.4. Furthermore, the Vice-Archivist of the biblioteca of Santa Maria Maggiore informed me that the hymn manuscript had never formed a part of their collection.

"We would like to believe that the hymn manuscript has actually disappeared, and am convinced that it really did exist, it must be admitted at the moment that the source cannot be found in the Vatican Library or in the archives of Santa Maria Maggiore, nor does there seem to be a record that it ever was in the possession of anyone other than the person to procure a microfilm of the manuscript of Festa hymns should be forewarned of disapproval."

In preparing the "AMS Bicentennial Committee Report" for publication in the January, 1977 number of this Newsletter, I have the following passage from Cynthia Adams Hoover's communication: "Professor [Hans] Nathan, who conceived of the plan to publish William Billings and who worked on it for years before the Society took it on as an official project, has asked the committee to assign another editor to continue the work. The Publications Committee and the Board have appointed Karl Kroeger, Director of the Moravian Music Foundation and expert in 18th century American psalmody, as the new editor."

Again in the January, 1977 number of the Newsletter, the names of the editors of the Sammartini Catalogue (in Martin Pickler's 'Report of the Publications Committee') are reversed. The Catalogue is edited by Newell Jenkins and Bathia Churgin.

The Burney Papers. S. Klima and A. Ribeiro of the Department of English, McGill University, Montreal, PQ, Canada, send the following communication:

"We are preparing a critical edition of the correspondence of Dr. Charles Burney, musicologist and friend of Dr. Johnson. If any reader knows of the existence of a letter or letters written by or to Dr. Burney that are not included in Joyce Hemlow's Catalogue of the Burney Family Correspondence 1748-1878 (1971), we would greatly appreciate if he or she would let us know about it."

The editor of this Newsletter has received word from Joan Peyer, the new editor of The Musical Quarterly, that the traditional editorial policies of that journal will remain in effect under her stewardship. The latest issue of that journal, July, is a truly remarkable number. Dr. Peyer's editorial letter with half pages make it a dramatic issue with some cover layout and other typographical alterations (but with end-notes replacing footnotes—a regrettable alteration) tends to support Mrs. Peyer's statement."

The AMS Newsletter is published twice each year by the American Musicological Society, Inc., and mailed to all members and subscribers. Requests for additional copies of current and back numbers should be sent to Otto E. Albrecht, Business Manager of Publications, University of Pennsylvania, 201 South 34th Street, Philadelphia, Pa. 19107. Items for publication in the Newsletter should be sent to Peter Bloom, Department of Music, Smith College, Northampton, Mass. 01063. Copy for the January number must be submitted before December 1; copy for the August number must be submitted before July 1.

This AMS Newsletter was produced in Holyoke, Massachusetts, by the Hadley Printing Company.

ANNUAL REPORT, FINANCE COMMITTEE

A $10,000 bequest from the New York Botanical Gardens was added to our capital funds in March, 1977. The annual income for this bequest plus whatever is necessary each year from the capital fund is designated for the Robert Greenberg Award.

The increase in the income due to the receipt from the Annual Meeting was $1,992.02. In our operating account, the $9,992.02 was necessary to cover the expenses for the following fiscal year.

Royalties for the sale of our publications increased by $2,992.02. The royalties for the last three years were $2,131.28, $2,775.00, and $2,973.85. The increase in royalties is due to the increased sales of our publications.

The total revenue for the fiscal year was $117,331.24.

Respectfully submitted,
James E. Mo, Martin Fisher, Alvin H. Johnson, Chairman

CHAPTER FUND COMMITTEE REPORT

The Chapter Fund Committee, operating on a modest budget, was able to fulfill all requests made between the Society's meeting in Washington, D.C. (November, 1976) and the end of the fiscal year (June, 1977). See the chapter notes for the amount, one of them twice, of the amounts given for three kinds of expenditures: half of the travel expenses for guests invited to address four chapter meetings; half of the travel expenses of three students representing their respective chapters at the national meeting; and the cost of mimeographing abstracts of papers read at recent meetings of one chapter.

Since its inception in 1970, the Committee has followed a “matching funds” policy. In the effort to cut expenses, however, this policy may performe be modified. One proposal suggests that aid to students be reduced to one third. Another suggests allocations proportional to the distance a student representative has traveled to the national meeting.

The guidelines prepared for the Committee in 1969 state specifically that chapter funds are not for “clerical aspects of chapter management (stenographer's wages, costs of chapter announcements, etc.). A request for funds must be submitted by the chapter chairman; the check of remittance from the treasurer's office will be made out in the name of the chapter. For the anticipated expenses of a chapter meeting, a full explanation and itemized list should be submitted. For travel aid to a student representative, a ticket stub or receipt from the issuing transportation agent should be included.

Requests for chapter funds may be addressed to the undersigned, Committee Chairman, Conservatory of Music, University of Missouri at Kansas City, Kansas City, Missouri 64111.

REPORT OF THE COUNCIL SECRETARY

J. Leeds Barroll, Deputy Director of Research Grants of the National Endowment for the Humanities, spoke to the Council at its 1976 meeting in Washington. He discussed the NEH research grant programs, encouraging applications from AMS members. In addition to individual fellowships, funded projects have included PRLM, the IMS Berkeley meeting, the Bibliography of works on women composers and the Bibliography of American music imprints. The NEH also supports some publication. Proposals are judged by scholars both in the area of music and in other humanistic fields. Questions should be telephoned to (202) 832-5857.

The Council committee charged with the formulation of a brochure on musicology (Rebecca Baltzer, Chairman: Lawrence Gushee, Anthony Newcomb) reports that a draft is nearing completion. The brochure will describe what musicology is, career alternatives, and preparation required. It will also include a list of institutions awarding the Ph.D. and contact points to specific points that should be investigated in choosing a school, such as faculty, library, programs, financial aid, etc.

The Council Secretary welcomes suggestions from the membership of topics on musicology that might profitably be explored at the next meeting of the Council, in 1978, in Minneapolis.

Obituary:

Harold Spivacke

Harold Spivacke, Chief of the Music Division of the Library of Congress for 34 years, died Monday, May 9, 1977, after a brief illness. Born in New York City on July 18, 1904, Mr. Spivacke received his B.A. and M.A. degrees from New York University in 1923 and 1924. His Ph.D. was received from the University of Berlin, where he studied musicology with Curt Sachs and Arnold Schering, piano with Eugène d'Albert, and composition with Hugo Leichtentritt. He served as a research assistant to Olin Downes of The New York Times from 1933 to 1934. Known throughout the world as a bibliographer and music librarian, Harold Spivacke devoted almost all of his working career to the Library of Congress, having served first as Assistant Chief of the Music Division from 1934 to 1937 and then as its Chief from July 1, 1937 until February 4, 1972. After his retirement, he was appointed an Honorary Consultant in Musicology for the Library of Congress.

In his years of service to the Library, the holdings of the Music Division almost tripled. The acquisitions which he encouraged and fostered in this period—manuscripts, scores, personal papers, memorabilia, and recordings—represent the whole range of music from George Gershwin and Mahler to Rodgers and Hammerstein and to Igor Stravinsky and Arnold Schoenberg. The growth of the Music Division's collections is largely traceable to the friendship and admiration Mr. Spivacke enjoyed among composers, musicians, and collectors. With the help of the Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge and Gertrude Clark Whittall Foundations, established, before 1937, and of the Serge Koussytszky Foundation and the McKim Fund, established in 1949 and 1970, Mr. Spivacke commissioned works now a permanent part of the modern repertoire.

In 1940 he supervised the establishment of the Music Division's Recording Laboratory, greatly expanding the Library's collecting and research capabilities. Concerned with the care and preservation of the music collections, he initiated a program in which fragile originals are photocopied so that scholars can have access to these treasures without damaging them. In 1959 he initiated the first research study into the preservation and storage of sound recordings.

In addition to his service to the Library, Mr. Spivacke took part in national and international activities, as an officer of the National Music Council, the Music Library Association, the International Association of Music Libraries, the American Musicological Society, the American Council of Learned Societies, the Music Teachers National Association, and the Society for Ethnomusicology. He was Chairman of the U.S. Joint Committee on the International Inventory of Musical Sources for Association years, and was the author of articles on music and music librarianship in many professional journals.

Helen Margaret Hewitt

Helen Margaret Hewitt, professor of organ and musicology at North Texas State University from 1942 to 1969, died on March 19, 1977, in Denton, Texas. In April, 1977, the North Texas State University School of Music announced the establishment of the Helen Hewitt Organ Scholarship Fund in honor of Professor Hewitt. Dr. Hewitt, who was educated at Vassar College and at the Eastman School of Music, and later studied in Paris with Nadia Boulanger and Charles-Marie Widor, received the M.A. degree from Columbia University in 1933. In 1938 she became the first woman to receive the Ph.D. in musicology at Radcliffe College. Her doctoral dissertation was the basis of her edition of Petrucci's Harmonice Musicus of 1552, published in 1942. Dr. Hewitt was the author of articles on the music of the Renaissance, the translator of Herrmann Keller's The Organ Works of Bach, and the first editor of Doctoral Dissertations in Musicology.

LeRoy Weil

LeRoy Weil, formerly professor of music at St. Petersburg Junior College, died on February 27, 1977, at his home in Florida. Dr. Weil, for many years a member of the American Musicological Society, received the B.A. and M.A. degrees from Columbia University, the Ph.D. from the University of North Carolina. A baritone who appeared in the 1920's at Carnegie Hall and at the Metropolitan Opera House, Dr. Weil later headed music departments at Greensboro (N.C.) and Morehead (Ky.) Colleges. He taught at St. Petersburg Junior College from 1958 until his retirement in 1968. Dr. Weil spoke on opera at the meeting of the International Musical Society held in Salzburg in 1964; he remained active as a teacher of voice until his death at age 79.

TEMPERLEY, Continued
Britannica, and is now editing the fifth volume of a forthcoming History of British Music.

Temperley's work on British psalmody has brought him into contact with early American music, and he is working on an index of Anglo-American psalm and hymn tunes, including a special index of fuguing tunes; he is a founding member of the Sonnebeck Society. He has also published articles on tuning and temperament, the perception of rhythm, the printing of metrical psalm books in the early 17th century, number theory, and local musical history.

Tom R. Ward received his doctorate from the University of Pittsburgh and has been a member of the musicology division of the University of Illinois, where he is now Associate Professor and Coordinator of Graduate Studies in Music. His book, The Polyphonic Office Hymn from 1400-1520: A Descriptive Inventory (American Institute of Musicology) is now in press.

Professors Temperley and Ward will assume their editorial duties for a three-year term beginning with the issue of Spring, 1978.
ARTICLE I. NAME

The name of the corporation shall be the American Musicological Society (the "Society").

ARTICLE II. OBJECT

The object of the Society shall be the advancement of research in the various fields of music as a branch of learning and scholarship. The Society shall be operated as a nonprofit corporation exclusively for this object.

ARTICLE III. MEMBERSHIP

1. Regular members shall be any persons who join the Society out of interest in its stated object (Article II).

2. Student members shall be students in residence in any accredited institution of higher learning who join the Society. The rights and responsibilities of student members shall be the same as those of regular members except that: (a) they shall be eligible for student membership for a period of not more than five years; (b) they shall pay annual dues as set forth in Article II. C. 3; (c) they shall be ineligible to hold national posts in the Society, except as alt that of nonvoting student members in the Council, as defined in Article IV. A. 2.

3. Emeritus members shall be persons who have been regular members for at least ten years and who have passed their 65th year, or, for those who have retired from full-time employment, their 65th year, provided they choose to be classified as emeritus members. Emeritus members shall pay annual dues as set forth in Article III. C. 3. but shall retain all the rights and privileges of regular members.

4. Life members shall be regular members in all respects except for the payment of annual dues. Instead, life members shall pay one fixed sum as set forth in Article III. C. 5.

5. Sustaining members shall be regular members in all respects except that sustaining members shall pay annual dues as set forth in Article III. C. 6.

6. Patron members shall be regular members in all respects except that patron members shall pay annual dues as set forth in Article III. C. 7.

7. Honorary members shall be long-standing members of the Society who have made outstanding contributions to furthering its stated object and whom the Society wishes to honor. They shall be exempt from paying dues but shall continue to have all the rights and privileges of regular members. They shall be elected by a unanimous vote of the Board of Directors voting present, upon nomination by a two-thirds majority of the total regular members of the Council. The nomination by the Council shall be by mail ballot conducted by the secretary of the Council and attested by the secretary of the Society.

8. Corresponding members shall be persons who, at the time of their election, are nationals of countries other than Canada or the United States of America and who have made particularly notable contributions to the stated object of the Society and whom the Society wishes to honor. They shall not vote, nor hold a national post, nor pay annual dues. They shall be elected by a unanimous vote of the Board of Directors voting present, upon nomination by a two-thirds majority of the total regular members of the Council. The nomination by the Council shall be by mail ballot conducted by the secretary of the Council and attested by the secretary of the Society.

B. Members of all classes as described in Article III. A. shall each be entitled to receive one copy of the Journal of the Society as well as of any unpriced publications. Libraries and other organizations, institutions, and persons may subscribe to the Journal without acquiring membership, at a rate of subscription to be determined by the Board of Directors.

C. Annual Dues

1. The rate of annual dues for each class of membership shall be fixed by the Board of Directors and published in each issue of its periodical publications.

2. Any married couple may apply for a joint membership at a rate of dues less than that for two single memberships. Joint members shall be entitled to only one copy of the Journal, the other shall have the same rights and privileges as single members.

3. Annual dues of student members shall be approximately one-half those of regular members.

4. Annual dues of emeritus members shall be approximately one-fourth those of regular members.

5. Life members shall pay one sum twenty times the current rate for regular members.

6. Annual dues of sustaining members shall be twice those of regular members.

7. Annual dues of patron members shall be five times those of regular members.

8. Dues shall be payable on January 1 or on application for membership. Dues of new members shall be credited to the calendar year in which received and shall insure receipt of all issues of the Journal for that year, but new members joining after July 1 may request that their membership begin the following calendar year. After July 1, members from the previous calendar year who have not paid current dues will be considered delinquent and shall receive no issues of the Journal beyond the Spring issue. Members in arrears at the end of the calendar year shall be removed from the membership rolls. After being removed from the rolls a person may rejoin the Society at any time without penalty.

ARTICLE IV. COUNCIL

1. The regular members of the Council shall be scholars who have made notable contributions to the stated object of the Society. Regular members of the Council shall serve terms of three years, a quota of not more than twenty being elected in any year.

2. The student members of the Council shall be students who have embarked on doctoral programs in musicology. Student members shall be ineligible to participate in voting by the Council. Student members shall serve terms of one year.

3. Neither regular members nor student members of the Council may be tenants of such scholars. The terms of Council members shall begin with the annual meeting of the Council held at the time of the annual meeting of the Society and extend to the day immediately prior to the annual meeting of the Council approximately three years later for regular members and one year later for student members.

B. The Council shall elect a secretary from among its regular members. The election shall be held in the spring preceding the annual meeting of the Council without vote. The Council secretary is charged with the coordination of all Council activities and will function as liaison between the Council and the Board of Directors, in close cooperation with the secretary of the Society. The Council secretary shall serve as an ex officio member of the Board of Directors without vote.

C. Election of Annual Quotas

1. The quota of not more than twenty regular members elected each year shall consist of representatives elected by approximately one third of the chapters plus two additional members elected by the Council. The quota of student members shall consist of one representative elected annually by each chapter.

2. To complete the annual quota of not more than twenty new regular members each year, the Board of Directors shall propose a slate of not more than twenty as many nominees as there are vacancies remaining after the chapter representatives are elected. The slate of nominees shall be drawn from a list of recommended nominees presented to the Board of Directors by a nominating committee of the Council. The election shall be conducted by the secretary of the Society by mail and attested by the secretary of the Council. Ballots shall be mailed to current regular members of the Council at least two months, and mailed back to the secretary of the Society at least one month, in advance of the annual meeting of the Society.
D. The Council shall advise the Board of Directors concerning the general policies of the Society.

E. Meetings of the Council shall take place at the annual meeting of the Society and may be called in writing on one month's notice at other times by the president or by the secretary upon direction of the Council. The attendance of twenty regular members of the Council, a meeting must be called by the president or secretary.

F. A quorum of the Council shall be fifteen regular members and shall include the president and the secretary or other officers specifically authorized by the Board of Directors to act for them in each particular instance.

ARTICLE V. OFFICERS

A. The officers of the Society shall be six in all, but only five at any one time.

1. The president, except where otherwise directed by the Board of Directors, shall be the chief executive officer of the Society. He shall preside at all meetings of the members and Council. He shall have general management of the affairs of the Society and shall have the power to enforce all orders and resolutions passed by the members or directors. He shall execute bonds, mortgages, contracts requiring a seal, under the seal of the Society, when, as and if authorized by the Board of Directors. Subject to the approval of the Board of Directors, he shall affix the seal of the Society to any instrument requiring it when authorized by the Board, and when so affixed it shall be attested by the signature of the treasurer or secretary. He shall perform all duties incidental to his office and such other duties as may from time to time be delegated by the Board of Directors.

2. The vice-president, during the absence, incapacity or disability of the president, shall exercise all the functions of the president and, when so acting, shall have the same powers as the president. He shall be subject to all the duties of and restrictions upon the president. In the event that the office of the president becomes vacant for any reason beyond his control, the vice-president shall succeed to that office. The vice-president shall also have such other powers and discharge such duties as may be assigned to him from time to time by the Board of Directors.

3. The past president shall serve immediately after his own term as president, as counselor to the new president and members of the Board of Directors. He shall have the right to sit at meetings of the Board of Directors in order to acquaint himself with the business of the Society.

4. The treasurer shall have the care and custody of all the funds and securities of the Society and shall deposit the same in the name of the Society in such banks or trust company as the Board of Directors shall direct. He shall sign all checks, drafts, notes and orders for the payment of money and shall pay out and disburse the same when, as and if authorized to do so by the Board of Directors and shall keep full and accurate accounts of receipts and disbursements in the books of the Society. He shall render to the president and directors whenever they may require an account of all transactions and of the financial condition of the Society. The treasurer shall be a member of the Board of Directors. He shall place all investments and shall dispose of funds only as provided by the budget of the Board of Directors. Checks amounting to more than $500.00 shall be signed by the treasurer and countersigned by any other officer. The treasurer shall be bonded at the expense of the Society in an amount to be determined by the Board of Directors.

5. The secretary shall attend to such correspondence as may be assigned to him, perform all the other duties incidental to his office and shall keep the minutes of the meetings of members, the Council, and the Board of Directors. He shall attend to the giving and serving of all notices on behalf of the Society and shall have charge of such books, records and papers of the Society as the directors may direct. He shall also be responsible for maintaining liaison between the Board of Directors and the Council, the chapter officers, and the affiliated constituent societies. The secretary shall also administer by-mail elections and balloting.

B. Terms of Office. Officers shall serve terms of two years, except that the immediate past president shall be an ex-officio president-elect for his two-year term as president begins and one year as past president after his term is concluded. The president's term shall be concurrent with that of the vice-president and treasurer and with the successive one-year terms of the president and the president-elect. The secretary's term shall be concurrent with the successive one-year terms of the president-elect and the past president. The term of officers shall begin at the first session of the Board of Directors after the annual meeting, except that the president-elect shall assume the presidency at the first such session in the year following his election. Except for the secretary and the treasurer, officers may not be elected to succeed themselves. Any office vacated in the course of a term, aside from those filled by the president, shall be filled by the Board of Directors until the next term begins.

C. Nominations and Elections. The Board of Directors shall present to the members each year a double slate of candidates drawn from present or past regular members of the Council, acting on proposals by the nominating committee appointed by the Board of Directors, except that the Board of Directors may by a two-thirds vote to decide to present only one candidate for the post of treasurer and one for the post of secretary, provided that the board has previously served at least one term in the same post. The slate of officer candidates shall be mailed to the voting members of the Society in the printed ballot at least two months before each annual meeting of the Society. Officers shall be elected by a majority vote cast in sealed envelopes. The address of the voter must be affixed in the upper left hand corner of the envelope, by which means the status of the voter will be verified and recorded. The ballot may or may not be signed but must be received by the secretary no later than two weeks before the annual meeting of the Society. The president shall appoint a teller who, together with the secretary, shall tally the election returns, and together they shall report the election in a report to the Board of Directors. In the case of a tie the deciding vote shall be cast by the Board of Directors. No person shall hold more than one national elective office in the Society at the same time.

ARTICLE VI. BOARD OF DIRECTORS

A. The Board of Directors shall consist of eleven directors, of whom five shall be the officers of the Society. The remaining six directors shall be directors-at-large and shall be elected, three each year from the members of the Society from a double slate of six nominees drawn by the Board of Directors from present or past regular members of the Council upon recommendation of the nominating committee. The slate of candidates for directors-at-large shall be mailed to the voting members of the Society in the printed ballot at least two months before each annual meeting of the Society, and directors-at-large shall be elected by a majority vote cast in accordance as set forth in Article V. C. Directors-at-large shall not be elected to succeed themselves. No person shall hold more than one national elective post in the Society at the same time.

B. The terms of directors-at-large shall begin so that three shall retire and three will be added each year. Newly elected directors shall assume office at the first session of the Board of Directors after the annual meeting of the Society. Any position of director-at-large that is vacated in the course of a term may be filled by the Board of Directors until the term expires.

C. Meetings of the Board of Directors shall be called by the president or by the secretary whenever directed by the president, the Board of Directors or five members thereof. Notice of the time and place of meeting shall be mailed at least ten days in advance.

D. The president shall be chairman of the Board of Directors. In the absence of the president, the chairmanship shall devolve upon the director who is present in the following order: vice-president, president-elect, secretary. Decisions shall be by absolute majority vote of the directors present at the meeting or by proxy as provided by these By-Laws or by the laws of the State of New York. A quorum of the Board of Directors shall be seven and shall include at least two officers. The president and secretary shall be empowered to act in emergencies, subject to the earliest possible ratification by the Board of Directors.

E. Appointments. The editor-in-chief of the Journal of the Musculo- logical Society, the editor of the AMS Newsletter, the business manager of publications, and the registrar shall be appointed by the Board of Directors for specified terms of office not to exceed three years and shall be eligible for re-appointment. They shall receive such compensation as the Board of Directors may determine.

ARTICLE VII. COMMITTEES

A. Except when otherwise stipulated in these By-Laws, the president of the Society shall appoint chairmen and members of such committees as are necessary and shall himself be an ex officio member of all committees. Committees shall consist of no fewer than three members. Terms of members of all committees shall be one year unless otherwise specified by the Board of Directors.

B. Standing committees shall be Executive, Nominating, Program, Publications, and Finance.

1. Any four officers of the Society shall constitute an Executive Committee to conduct any urgent business of the Society between meetings of the Board of Directors.

2. The Nominating Committee shall be appointed by the Board of Directors.

3. It shall be the duty of the Program Committee to prepare the program of the annual meetings of the Society. One member of the committee shall be a resident of the locality where the meeting takes place.

4. The Publications Committee shall make recommendations to the Board of Directors for special publications (except the Journal and the Newsletter) authorized by the Board of Directors, shall assign editorial responsibility, and shall collaborate in the execution of all business in connection with the preparation and distribution of the said publications.

5. The Finance Committee shall consist of three members: the president, the chairman of the Publications Committee, and the treasurer, who shall be the chairman of the committee. The Finance Committee shall be charged with the management of the Society's Endowment Fund and such other capital accounts as the Board of Directors may authorize.

C. With the approval of the Board of Directors the president may remove members of committees.

ARTICLE VIII.
OFFICIAL PUBLICATIONS

A. The official publications of the Society shall be the Journal of the American Musicological Society, the AMS Newsletter, and such publications as are controlled by the Board of Directors and the Publications Committee.

1. The editor-in-chief of the Journal shall appoint, subject to the approval of the Board of Directors, a review editor of the Journal to serve a three-year term concurrent with the term of the editor-in-chief.

2. The Editorial Board of the Journal, appointed by the editor-in-chief and subject to the approval of the Board of Directors, shall consist of approximately ten members serving terms of three years concurrent with the term of the editor-in-chief. A member of the Editorial Board may be reappointed for a second term, but no member may serve more than two consecutive terms. The Editorial Board shall serve the editor-in-chief in an advisory capacity for the formulation of editorial policy, and the individual members of the Editorial Board shall be available to the editor-in-chief on any significant changes submitted for publication in the Journal.

B. The Board of Directors shall determine what publications, besides the Journal, shall be distributed to the eight classes of members gratis, and what discount, if any, shall be allowed on other publications.

ARTICLE IX.
MEETINGS OF MEMBERS

A. An annual meeting of members shall be held at a time and place to be determined by the Board of Directors but not earlier than August 15 nor later than December 27 of each year. The Council shall advise the Board of Directors concerning charges of policy regarding the place and date of the annual meeting. Ten percent of the membership shall constitute a quorum.

B. At or prior to the annual meeting the Board of Directors shall present an annual report to the members including the following information:

1. Assets and liabilities, including trust funds, as of the end of the last fiscal year.

2. Major changes in assets and liabilities, including trust funds, during the year immediately preceding the date of the report.

3. The Society's receipts, both unrestricted and restricted to particular purposes, during the year immediately preceding the date of the report.

4. Disbursements, for both general and restricted purposes, during the year immediately preceding the date of the report.

5. The number of members of the Society at the beginning of the current fiscal year and the change in the number during the year immediately preceding the date of the report, and a statement of the place where the names and places of residence of the current members may be found.

C. The annual report must be verified by the president and treasurer and filed with the records of the Society. An abstracted version of the report shall be printed in the minutes of the annual meeting.

D. Special meetings of members shall be called on a petition by twenty percent of the members of the Society or twenty regular members of the Council.

E. The members at any annual or special meeting of a majority vote or one hundred or more members of any class by petition may initiate proposals to the Board of Directors of any kind that the Society's best interest requires. If such proposal is not adopted by the Board of Directors, it shall be referred to the decision of the membership by means of a mail ballot.

ARTICLE X. FISCAL YEAR

The fiscal year of the Society shall be from July 1 to June 30.

ARTICLE XI. CHAPTERS

A. A group of at least ten members of the Society in any one locality may apply to the secretary for recognition as a chapter of the Society. The secretary shall refer the petition to the Council, which shall advise the Board of Directors on whether to recognize the chapter.

B. Regulations Governing Chapters

1. Meetings. Chapters shall hold their own meetings and elect their own officers on the basis of a chairman and a secretary-secretary-treasurer.

2. Membership. No chapter shall accept or retain as a member anyone who is not a member of the Society.

3. Publications. Chapters may not issue publications in the name of the American Musicological Society or in the name of a chapter thereof without permission of the Board of Directors.

A. Guidelines for By-Laws. Each chapter shall adopt its own Guidelines or By-Laws in consonance with the Constitution and By-Laws of the Society. The document should include: (a) the chapter's boundaries, as determined by the Council; (b) the eligibility and duties of chapter officers and the method of filling positions when unexpected vacancies occur; (c) the procedures for electing officers and other regular and student members as representatives on the Council of the Society; (d) the procedures for transacting business; (e) the provisions for chapter meetings; (f) the nature and method of financial operations; (g) regular services, such as newsletter and directory; (h) procedures for changing the Guidelines or By-Laws of the Chapter.

6. Grants. The Board of Directors may make or authorize money grants to chapters. All obligations, the said grants to be based upon per capita membership or to be awarded upon application from a chapter for publication projects or other activities or functions.

7. Reports. Chapters shall report each year to the secretary about meetings and financial operations.

8. Action of Chapter. No action of a chapter shall be considered an action of the Society unless approved by the Board of Directors.

ARTICLE XII. AMENDMENTS

Amendments to these By-Laws may be proposed to the Board of Directors by a Constitutional Committee, by the annual meeting of members, by the Council, by a petition of fifty or more members. Amendments thus proposed shall be made known to the membership through one of the Society's publications or by other means at least six weeks before the next annual meeting; and they shall be placed on the agenda of that meeting for discussion and possible revision. Two thirds of the ballots cast in a mail ballot submitted by the entire membership shall be required for the acceptance of an amendment. The ballot shall state whether the amendment has the endorsement of the Board of Directors.

ARTICLE XIII. DISSOLUTION

In the event of the dissolution of the Society, all assets shall be disposed of by the Board of Directors with the approval of a Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of New York (exclusive for one or more of the charitable, literary and educational purposes of the Society, and shall be distributed in accordance with law to one or more charitable (without limitation organs of federal, state or local government) engaged in activities substantially similar to those of the Society.

ARTICLE XIV. RULES

Robert's Rules of Order shall govern all meetings of the Society, its Board, Council, and committees where such rules are applicable, and not inconsistent with these By-Laws.
NEWS FROM THE NATIONAL ENDOWMENT FOR THE HUMANITIES

National Endowment for the Humanities Fellowships for Independent Study and Research for 1977-78 have been awarded to the following individuals: Alan Aronson (University of California, Berkeley); D. Kern Holoman (University of California, Davis); Frederick C. Neumann (University of Richmond); David A. Sheldon (Western Michigan University); and Jeff T. Titon (Tufts University).

The continuity of the Directory of Music Research Libraries (RISM Series C, edited by Rita Benton) has been assured by a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities. A fifth volume, dealing with libraries in eastern Europe, will be prepared over a two-year period by James Beilman, Lilian Pruett, and Neil Ratliff. Publication is expected in 1980.

The National Endowment for the Humanities has announced one new program and the continuation of two earlier programs of interest to members of the Society. A new program to support research projects (to make translations available both to scholars and to the general reading public); "to foster an understanding of the historical and cultural values of other countries" is open to musical scholars. Preference will be given to translations of primary sources from pre-modern periods, and translations from the Chinese and from languages such as Arabic, Persian, and Turkish. For further information contact the Program Director of Translations, Division of Research Grants, Mall Stop 350, at the address given below.

The Summer Seminars for College Teachers will be offered again in 1978 at universities across the country in a wide variety of fields. The NEH is seeking scholars to direct the seminars who are well qualified for the task by reason of their own scholarship and their ability and interest in undergraduate teaching. The announced deadline for the submission of applications is June 15, 1977. Further information can be obtained by writing to NEH Summer Seminars, Division of Fellowships, at the address given below.

The NEH is inviting applications for Summer Stipends for the summer of 1977 to be awarded to college, junior college, and university faculty, and others working in the humanities. Applicants are nominated by the president, dean, or other designated officer of the institution. Those persons whose appointments are terminating, or who are not employed by a college or university, may apply directly to the Endowment without nomination. Each stipend provides $2,500 for two consecutive months of full-time study or research in the humanities. Applicants must have finished their professional training by October 17, 1977, the deadline for applications. Further information and application forms, write to the Division of Fellowships at the following address:

THE NATIONAL HUMANITIES CENTER

The National Humanities Center has been created to encourage advanced studies in the humanities, to bring humanistic scholars together with scholars in other disciplines, to extend learning in various fields of professional activity, and to enhance the usefulness and influence of the humanities in the American civic process. It is a response to the widely felt need within the academic world to give the humanities renewed emphasis and viability, and to increase its effectiveness in the country at large that the humanities offer resources not yet fully tapped for public enlightenment and the imaginative understanding of public issues.

The Center will open in September, 1978, in a new building specially designed for its use in the Research Triangle Park, in the Raleigh, Durham, Chapel Hill area of North Carolina. The facilities of the libraries at Duke University, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and North Carolina State University will be available to its Fellows.

The Center will accept approximately twenty-five Fellows in 1978. It will provide stipends to Fellows that will match their normal academic income plus the cost of living in the Center. The normal term of a Fellowship will be nine months, from September through May, but a few short-term Fellowships will also be available.

National Endowment for the Humanities Fellowships for the period 1978-1980 will be available in the following categories: 1) scholars pursuing individual research; 2) post-doctoral fellows who have held their Ph.D.'s for not less than six years nor more than nine, and who are embarking on their first large-scale projects; 3) scholars whose work falls into the general area of Man and Nature, History and the History of Ideas, The Theory of Interpretation, Ideals of Education, Human Rights, Moral Theory and Democracy.

The National Humanities Center admits Fellows of any race, color, or national or ethnic origin. The deadline for applications is February 1, 1978. For further information write to the National Humanities Center, P.O. Box 12256, Research Triangle Park, North Carolina 27709.

WILSON CENTER FELLOWSHIPS

The Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars, Division of Historical and Cultural Studies, welcomes proposals from institutions of higher learning including the creative arts. These fellowships, normally from four months to one year in duration, are residential in character. For academic participants eligibility is limited to post-doctoral level. The next deadline for the receipt of applications in the annual cycle is October 1, 1977. Decisions on appointments will be announced by February 15, 1978. For further information contact the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars, Smithsonian Institution Building, Washington, D.C. 20560.

VILLA I TATTI: GRANTS FOR 1978-79

Villa I Tatti, The Harvard University Center for Italian Renaissance Studies will award between eight and twelve stipendiary fellowships for independent study on any aspect of the Italian Renaissance for the academic year 1978-79. The minimum stipend is $5,500. The maximum award will not exceed $15,000. These fellowships are for scholars of any nationality, formally post-doctoral, in the earlier stages of their careers. Fellowships run from July 1, 1978 to June 30, 1979. Applicants should send their curriculum vitae and a description of their project to the Director, Villa I Tatti, Via di Vincigliata, 50135 Florence, Italy, and duplicates to Professor Myron P. Gilmore, 215 Widener Library, Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass. 02138. Applications must be received before November 1, 1977. Finalists should be selected by November 15, 1977. Fellows should plan to spend five months each of the following two years at the Villa I Tatti center.

FELLOWSHIPS FOR VENETIAN RESEARCH

In the January, 1977 number of this Newsletter an announcement was made of the Gladys Krieble Delmas Foundation program of pre-doctoral and post-doctoral fellowships for research in Venice, Italy. Among those awarded grants for 1977-78 are Professor O'Acone of the University of California, Los Angeles, and Dr. Eleanor Selfridge-Field, of Sunnyvale, California.

Applications will be entertained for grants in any field of research. Applicants must be enrolled in graduate study and must have completed at least 50% of the academic work required for the Ph.D. or equivalent. The minimum grant is $4,000. The maximum grant is $6,000. Funds will also be available on an individual basis for research, travel, and living expenses. Further information can be obtained by writing to Dr. Barbara Berger, Gladys Krieble Delmas Foundation, 20 Broad Street, New York, N.Y. 10005.
COLUMBIA FELLOWSHIPS

The Columbia Society of Fellows in the Humanities with grants from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation and the William R. Kenan Trust, will appoint a number of post-doctoral fellows in the humanities for the academic year 1978-1979. Fellows newly appointed for 1978-1979 must have received the Ph.D. between January 1, 1976 and July 1, 1978. The stipend is $15,500—one half for independent research and one half for interdepartmental teaching, probably with modest additional grants.

Application forms can be obtained by writing to the Director, Room 803, International Affairs Building, Columbia University, New York, N.Y. 10027. The deadline for receipt of completed application forms is November 1, 1977.

MUSIC LIBRARY ASSOCIATION PRIZES

The Music Library Association has established three prizes to recognize and to encourage authors of reference and research tools in music. The Association will select a prize and award a letter of commendation to the winners in three categories: 1) Author of the best book-length bibliography or other research publication, 2) Author of forty years of age of the best article-length bibliography or article about music librarianship and 3) Author of the best review of a book or score appearing in Notes, The Journal of the Music Library Association.

The advisory panel will consider authors whose works were published in 1976. Prize winners for 1976 publications will be announced at the Music Library Association annual meeting in February, 1978. Prizes will be awarded annually. Nominations will be accepted until September 30, 1977. Contact Michael A. Keller, Music Librarian, Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y. 14853.

ACLS GRANTS

The results of the various national fellowship competitions held by the American Council of Learned Societies were announced in May, 1977. Among those receiving six-month to one-year awards for post-doctoral research in the humanities were Craig A. Monson (Yale University), and Neil K. Manton (University of Hamburg).

In June, 1977, the ACLS announced the winners of Grants-in-Aid for post-doctoral research in the humanities. In the arts and humanities, recipients of these awards include Howard R. Cohen (Université Laval), Israel J. Katz (no academic affiliation), Thomas James Mathiesen (Yale University), Dorothy VanderWerf (Eastman School of Music), Tom R. Ward (University of Illinois), and Muriel C. Williamson (no academic affiliation).

ALBAN BERG SOCIETY NEWSLETTER

The Alban Berg Society, founded in 1966 “to promote the artistic heritage of Alban Berg and facilitate performances of his work” will publish an annual Newsletter under the auspices of the Ph.D. Program in Music of the City University of New York. Membership in the Society will entitle you to a subscription to the Newsletter. All inquiries and membership applications are to be addressed to The International Alban Berg Society, Ph.D. Program in Music Graduate Center of CUNY, 33 West 42nd Street, New York, N.Y. 10036.

SMITHSONIAN OPPORTUNITIES IN MUSIC

The Smithsonian Institution offers a limited number of research training fellowships and scholarships, especially in the area of American music, musical instruments, musical iconography, ethnomusicology, and performance practices. Fellowships—with stipends of $10,000 for post-doctoral research, $5,000 for pre-doctoral research—will be granted to investigators working in residence for 12 months at the Smithsonian and with Smithsonian staff members. (The fellowships are also available to individuals who do not have the time or facilities to be in residence for less than 12 months—a minimum of 6 months—with a reduced stipend and travel per diem.) The selection process will begin in January, 1978.

In selecting individuals for participation in academic programs, the Smithsonian Institution does not discriminate on grounds of race, creed, color, sex, age or national origin of any applicant. More information contact the Office of Academic Studies, Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D.C. 20560, indicating the particular area in which you propose to conduct the research, and giving dates of degrees received or expected.

RENAISSANCE STUDIES AT YALE

The Yale University Graduate School will launch a new Ph.D. program in Renaissance Studies in the fall of 1977. The program is to be the only one exclusively devoted to Renaissance studies. Claude V. Palisca, Professor of the History of Music, has been named Chairman and Director of Graduate Studies of the program.

Each student in the program will take half the required course work in a single area of concentration and, in addition to a core seminar in Renaissance Studies, will take the remaining courses in fields related to individual interests. The dissertation will normally be in a departmental area but will be expected to exploit the student’s interdisciplinary training. The new degree will be administered by Professor Palisca and professors at Yale in the departments of Comparative Literature, History, Religious Studies, Spanish, Italian, English, and History of Art.

RILM MATCHING GRANT

The National Endowment for the Humanities has awarded RILM a three-year matching grant—a total of $98,000—and the organization is calling on its friends to invest in its future. RILM’s commitment for the first year is $17,000. Matching funds, tax deductible in any amount, may be sent to RILM, 33 West 42nd Street, New York, N.Y. 10036. Whatever gifts are sent will be doubled for RILM by the National Endowment.

THE PHONOGRAPH AND MUSICAL LIFE

The Institute for Studies in American Music at Brooklyn College of the City University of New York will sponsor a conference on “The Phonograph and Our Musical Life” on December 7-10, 1977. This will be an exploration, through talks, colloquia, and various evening events, of the impact of the phonograph—invented by Thomas Edison on December 7, 1877—and related technological developments on our music and musical culture. The emphasis of the conference will be not on the technology of phonographed music, but on the diverse ways recordings have affected all segments of the musical community. The keynote address will be given by composer John Cage; one of the evening events will be a lecture-demonstration by author Henry Pleasants. Some two dozen scholars, composers, and performers will participate in the conference. For further information contact the Department of Music, Brooklyn College, Brooklyn, N.Y. 11210.

HAYDN AT CORNELL

A festival devoted to Joseph Haydn is taking place at Cornell University (September 3 to October 2, 1977). The festival includes concerts, lectures, seminars, and exhibitions.

The concerts feature historically authentic performances on original instruments. Its renowned programs include piano trios and string quartets, symphonies and divertimenti, lieder and part-songs, and the marionette opera Philemon und Baucis in a production by the St. Luke’s Chamber Ensemble, Michael Feldman, director. Other artists to appear include the Amadei Trio (Malcolm Bilson, John Hsu, Sonya Monosoff), violinist Nancy Wilson and violinist David Miller, soprano Jean Hakes, and the Smithsonian Chamber Ensemble, James Weaver, director. Lectures are to be given by Dénès Barbá, Maynard Solomon, James Webster, Neal Zaslav and others.

On the weekend of September 16-18, festival activities will coincide with the Fall meeting of the New York State Chapter of the American Musicological Society. The scheduled performances of Philemon und Baucis will be supplemented by a planned symposium on Haydn’s operas, in addition to the usual Chapter activities.
