March 26, 2020

Dear Valued ATS Members and Friends,

In light of the worldwide spread of COVID-19 and after thoughtful and collaborative review with event stakeholders, including our partners, we have collectively decided to postpone the June 2-4, ATS Strong 2020 Conference at the Novant Health Conference Center in Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

Up until this point, we were optimistic that June was far enough away to proceed with the Conference as planned. However, as the situation has evolved, we feel that we must act in the best interest of our members, speakers, guests and the industry overall.

The ATS leadership is investigating ways to maintain the momentum, interest, and energy created by this event, such as offering virtual presentations throughout the year. We will share more details as they become available, including the date of the 2021 Conference.

We appreciate your support and understanding as we continue to navigate this unfolding situation. Please contact me or ATS Executive Director Sue Prentiss with any questions or concerns.

We are “ATS Strong” and will get through these challenging times together.

Sincerely,

Anna Newcomb And Sue Prentiss

Anna Newcomb, PhD, MSW, LCSW
President, American Trauma Society

Suzanne M. Prentiss, BA, MPA, NRP
Executive Director, American Trauma Society