Why Pay to Attend the AMWA Medical Writing & Communication Conference?

Money is tight, and school is expensive. So why should you shell out money to attend the 2023 AMWA Medical Writing & Communication Conference? Because this event offers opportunities that your school—no matter how good—cannot. If you’re interested in writing or editing in the field of medicine or health, the 2023 AMWA Conference is a wise investment in your future.

- Get the inside track on career potential
- Gain valuable insights about the best way to start a career in medical communication
- Learn from speakers with expertise in a wide variety of medical communication settings
- Discuss communication research with poster presenters
- Network with experienced practicing medical writers and editors
- Gain confidence in presenting yourself to professionals

The most cost-effective way to participate in the conference is to join AMWA at the special student membership rate of $80, which gives you a year of member benefits plus access to discounted conference registration fees. The full conference rate for student members is $795, which gives you access to:

- Over 50 education sessions
- General sessions with award-winning speakers
- Exhibit Hall with networking events
- Roundtable discussions (for an additional fee, and based on availability)
- AMWA Workshops (for an additional fee, and based on availability)

Find exactly what you need by exploring lists of sessions, workshops, and roundtables in the program by day.

The discounted room rate at the conference hotel, the Baltimore Marriott Waterfront, is a great deal. Ideally situated in the Harbor East neighborhood, the Marriott provides unparalleled access to Fells Point, the National Aquarium and the restaurants and shops of the Inner Harbor.

Review registration fees, program information, and the conference schedule online, and be sure to register early!

Medical communication is one field that continues to grow despite the current economic climate. You owe it to yourself to explore the opportunities for this exciting, potentially lucrative career.

We hope to see you in Baltimore!
