Approaching Nursing CE Design Using the Nursing Process

2.5 Contact hours

8:30 a.m. - 11:30 a.m.

It is the intended learning outcome that participants will be able to plan an educational program targeted at a nursing population using an organized process

This program will address the process of designing a nursing continuing education activity.

The component of the design process will be examined within the context of "nursing process" a process known to nurses in general. Encouraging this transfer of knowledge, the participants will undertake a table top exercise and develop an educational activity. Assessment, planning, implementation, evaluation and re-assessment will provide the framework for understanding gap analysis, outcome identification, speaker selection, evaluation and development of a summary review.

THIS CONTINUING NURSING EDUCATION ACTIVITY HAS BEEN SUBMITTED TO THE OHIO NURSES ASSOCIATION (OBN-001-91), AN ACCREDITED APPROVER BY THE AMERICAN NURSES CREDENTIALING CENTER'S COMMISSION ON ACCREDITATION.

Afternoon Session

Transforming Live Educational Programs into an Enduring Programs

2 contact hours

1:00 p.m.- 3:00 p.m.

It is the intended learning outcome that participants will be able to understand the criteria as related to enduring materials and be able to utilize this understanding to design programs for different audiences.

The desire to utilize a live program in an enduring manner is not only an efficient use of resources but can insure "off shift" nurses are able to participate. However, in order to navigate this transformation, maintain standards and award nursing contact hours certain principles must be maintained. This program will compare different types of activities and consider how design can allow both live and enduring to meet criteria and allow nursing contact hours to be awarded. Participants are encouraged to bring sample live activities for group work on transforming them into enduring products.
