3:00pm – 5:00pm

GALI Workshop: Gender-Lens Acceleration and Benchmarking Tool Demo
(Washingtonian 2)

The Global Accelerator Learning Initiative (GALI) team from ANDE will lead a two-part workshop for accelerators. Participants will learn about GALI's latest findings on gender, hear about lessons learned in accelerating women-led ventures, and brainstorm with peers about ways to be more gender-inclusive in each step of the acceleration process. GALI will also demo a new benchmarking tool that allows accelerators to compare their performance against GALI's global dataset. Thematic Workshop

Matthew Guttentag, ANDE; Abby Davidson, ANDE; Heather Matranga, Village Capital; Lily Yu, Sasakawa Peace Foundation; Henrique Bussacos, Impact Hub

4:00pm – 5:15pm

Partnering with Corporates to Accelerate SGBs: A Win-Win Situation
(Jeffersonian 2)

How can we increase success rates? This session will draw upon the experiences of ANDE's Corporate Partnerships Learning Lab and other members to explore the win-win opportunities, but also the challenges, that arise when corporate partners support the growth of SGBs. Participants will be asked to share their own perspectives and collectively discuss solutions to common challenges. Overview

Lina Rossi, ANDE (m); Henning Ringholz, Small Foundation; Juan Carlos Thomas, Technoserve; Srinivas Ramanujan, Villgro

The Spectrum of Capital - How it Works and Where You Fit (Jeffersonian 3)

Join in a discussion with foundations and investment partners across the spectrum of capital about activating their entire portfolio to maximize positive impact, from grant dollars to market rate investment. We'll discuss strategies that break down the wall between the grant making and investment arms of the organization, catalytic blended financing models, measuring success, and the role of nonprofits and SGBs and how they can make their way into portfolio allocations. Overview

Sada Geuss, Trillium Asset Management (m); Liesel Simmons, Blue Haven Initiative; Diana de Castro, Pro Mujer

Exploring the Potential of Local Multi-stakeholder Networks to Strengthen the SGB Ecosystem and Enhance Impact for Global Actors (Jeffersonian 4)

Small Foundation believes that local entrepreneurial networks play an important catalytic role in strengthening SGB ecosystems. This session draws on new research by Creative Metier to discuss the role of networks in SSA business ecosystems; to consider the challenges networks face around capacity and resourcing; and to explore the opportunities, challenges, and actions for ANDE members to engage with and leverage local multi-stakeholder networks.

Workshop

Glynis Rankin, Creative Metier (m); Wangechi Muriuki, Invest in Africa; Jessica Stewart, Creative Metier

People Matter: Evolving Talent to Drive Impact at Scale (Jeffersonian 5)

Talent has been named as one of the single biggest problems in business today. While vital, it is often misunderstood, overlooked, and under-resourced, causing organizations to waste precious time and make avoidable mistakes. How can intermediaries navigate the pitfalls of human capital? Join us for a lively discussion featuring leading intermediaries sharing candid lessons about how to align people and human capital systems to achieve scale as well as tactics on organizational structuring, leveraging volunteers, managing culture, and more.

Overview

Brittany Boettcher, Skoll Foundation (m); Rebecca Harrison, African Management Initiative; Juan Navarrete, Fundación Capital; Vale Jokisch, B Lab

Striving or Coping? How to Build Resilience in Fragile and Conflict-Affected Settings (FCS) by Supporting Access to Services and Finance (Jeffersonian 6)

Development cooperation often focuses on supporting local enterprises with growth potential; however, the reality in FCS demands for different support of small and growing businesses. Relying on business resilience, they often face different challenges and employ coping strategies to stay under the radar instead of focusing on growth. This session will shed light on the question of how we can support their access to services. Workshop

Sebastian Gilcher, GIZ (m); Sarah Forcino, Catholic Relief Services

4:00pm – 5:15pm

Corporate Engagement Advisory Board (Washingtonian 3)

ANDE members will present a key issue or challenge that they are facing as they seek to work with corporations, corporate foundations, or corporate sustainability in front of a panel of advisors. The session is open to ANDE members who are interested in learning about common challenges and garnering insights from the panel of advisors. The presenters and advisory board have been pre-selected, but all ANDE members are welcome to attend.

5:15pm – 6:15pm

Decent Work and Economic Growth Urgent Global Issue Townhall (Adams)

Please join us for a Town Hall as we discuss how ANDE will incorporate the economic growth pillar into its work with members and stakeholders.

Nicholas Colloff, Argidius Foundation; Matthew Guttentag, ANDE

Supporting SGBs in a Shifting Donor Landscape: Major Changes to Funder Strategies (Grand Dominion Ballroom)

Listen in and ask questions to donors and DFIs as they address how donors have made big shifts in strategies given the changing dynamics of our world and our sector, how important topics like gender equality are incorporated, why these shifts were made, how they are being implemented, and what implications that could have for the sector and ANDE members. Dive deep with global donors and DFIs who can give valuable insight into the process of implementing new policies when administrations and priorities change—and how to stay the course on SGBs in emerging markets.

Devin Chesney, ANDE (m); Matt Austin, USAID; Kathryn Kaufman, Overseas Private Investment Corporation; Urmi Sengupta, MacArthur Foundation

10:45am – 12:00pm

Technology in Action: Using Data and Technology Platforms to Provide SGBs Support (Jeffersonian 1)

SGBs have dissimilar needs, tendencies, and strengths. How can SGB-support organizations tap into actionable data through immersive digital technology to individualize support services? Overview

Matt Wallace, ONOW Myanmar (m); Heather Matranga, Village Capital; Kusi Hornberger, Dalberg; Pradeep Suthram, RippleWorks; Ivy Lau, PayPal

Why a Human Rights-Based Approach is Relevant for SGBs (Jeffersonian 3)

A resurgence of human rights in development holds promise to make impact more sustainable by addressing root cause vulnerabilities related to diverse matters. How is a human rights lens relevant for our work with SGBs and the market systems they operate in? Through a discussion and the development of a case study, this session will tell stories of SGBs that are taking the lead within their supply chains to address these challenges and how intermediaries are engaging at a policy level. Overview

Leah Katerberg, MEDA (m); Myrtille Danse, Hivos; Katrin Kuhlmann, New Markets Lab

Looking Beyond Grants and Equity: Innovations in SGB Financing (Jeffersonian 4)

This session will discuss challenges in SGB financing and present innovative financing instruments: a pass-through mechanism being piloted by Agora Partnerships and the World Impact Foundation in Latin America, designed to drive capital (recoverable grants) to early-stage ventures while de-risking investors' follow-on investments and contributing to intermediaries' sustainability; and a loss guarantee mechanism that enables SGBs to access working capital without onerous conditions, being implemented by Villgro in India. Deep Dive

Please note that this agenda is subject to change. A final agenda will be provided on the app and at the event.

Lina Rossi, ANDE (m); Austine Gasnier, Agora; Srinivas Ramanujam, Villgro; Greg Jacobs, Chemonics

Building a Circular Entrepreneurship Ecosystem (Jeffersonian 5)

This interactive roundtable will convene ANDE members around the question of how to create an ecosystem for SGBs and innovators that have circular product, process, or business model solutions. The objective of the session is to map current efforts of ANDE members and identify innovative approaches to strengthen the ecosystem for circular entrepreneurship. At the end of the session, we aim to have a few collaboration project ideas that we can take forward after the ANDE Annual Conference. Workshop

Stefanie Bauer, Intellectap (m); Gigi Mathews, Enviu; Maarten Derksen, Stichting DOEN; Hugo Verkuil, HIVOS

Advancing Equality, Strengthening Businesses: Assessing and Managing Impact with a Gender Lens (Jeffersonian 6)

With an increased interest on gender equity in the SGB sector, it is important to enhance our approaches and tools for SGBs and SGB intermediaries to better manage and strengthen their impact around gender inclusion. Building on the experience of the ANDE/IDRC Gender Lens Impact Measurement Fund and other leading experts, this highly participatory session will help accelerate progress in the gender lens impact measurement space by sharing lessons and challenges as we try to deepen our impact. Overview

Two “Win-Win” Approaches to SGB-Corporate Partnerships: Talent Development and Supply Chain Diversity and Integration (Jeffersonian 1)

There are many emerging approaches that engage corporates in building up SGB human capital – sharing access to expertise, mentorship and capacity building in talent recruitment, development, and retention; however, these collaborations not only benefit SGBs. Exposure to SGB entrepreneurs builds purpose and stretches corporate employee problem-solving skills, cross-cultural awareness, and insights on emerging markets. Come learn from diverse corporate and field perspectives on how to create win-win partnerships for talent development.

Transforming Food Supply Chains through Innovations and Innovative SGBs (Jeffersonian 2)

Innovative SGBs working along food supply chains are a positive force for change in food systems. SGBs in emerging markets are spurring technology adoption in the agriculture sector, rapidly introducing new solutions which could shape the future of food. But SGBs are facing numerous challenges from access to finance to poor networks and market insights. This session will highlight the systemic challenges that SGBs face and what organizations are doing to address them, as well as indicate how we can fill in the gaps. World Café

Scaling up SGB Contributions to the SDGs: Overcoming Barriers (Jeffersonian 6)

The session will examine how SGB contributions to achieving the SDGs can be scaled up by improving incentives and lowering barriers to SGB participation in select sectors. In what ways do country and international legal and regulatory frameworks encourage or inhibit the entry, participation, and growth of SGBs in sectors that matter for the SDGs, such as energy, health, education, agriculture, trade, and water and sanitation? What can ANDE members do to encourage governments to lower barriers and bring more SGBs into SDG-related industries?

Unlocking Human Potential - How Can the SGB Ecosystem Tackle Human Resilience? (Jeffersonian 1)

As an ecosystem investing in and advising SGBs in tough, under-resourced environments, many of us are faced with uncertainty, psycho-physical stress, and anxiety with few tools to ensure our resilience and wellbeing. Human resilience, and therefore SGB success, is directly influenced by self-awareness, connection, values, and living a meaningful life. This session will address these areas and implementation methods. Overview

Finding the Holy Grail of Sustainability for Entrepreneur Peer Networks (Jeffersonian 3)

The evidence in favor of entrepreneur peer networks is growing. We now know that entrepreneur support networks are effective in growing SGBs, so how do we make them more financially sustainable? Members will share how they achieve sustainability, and we will call on participants to share their own experiences. This session aims to bring participants one step closer to the 'holy grail' of sustainability and to provide feedback to investors and funders on how they can help support this goal. World Café
