6 cluster-randomised controlled trials had assessed the effect of FIFA injury prevention programmes compared with controls. Secondary analyses revealed that when pooling the 4 studies applying the FIFA 11 (4 studies) and FIFA 11+ (4 studies), the primary analysis showed a reduction in the overall injury risk. Data sources were SportDiscus and Cochrane Central Register of Controlled Trials, from 2004 to 14 March 2016.

Objective:

To discuss the effect of the FIFA injury prevention programmes compared with controls.

Design:

A systematic review and meta-analysis was conducted, pooling data from all available FIFA 11 injury prevention studies and FIFA 11+ studies.

In 2013, there were an estimated 1.35 million emergency room visits for injuries in the United States. Most of us remember learning about Newton’s Laws, potential and kinetic energy, gravity, and the moon landing. In addition, both Dr. Pat Leary and I successfully transmitted our research findings electronically and in one pdf.
