Mission Statement & Continuing Medical Education Needs Assessment

The Continuing Medical Education Program of the American Osteopathic College of Dermatology will support enhance and advance new models of academic excellence and community health care.

The objectives of this organization are:

- To maintain the highest possible standards in the practice of dermatology
- To stimulate study and to extend knowledge in the field of dermatology
- To promote a more general understanding of the nature and scope of the services rendered by osteopathic dermatologists to the other divisions of medical practice, hospitals, clinics, and the public
- To contribute to the best interests of the osteopathic profession by functioning as an affiliated organization of the American Osteopathic Association

Purpose

The purpose of the CME program is to provide AOA-accredited continuing medical education activities to inform the dermatologist physician. The program will provide a mechanism by which its constituents can improve competency, maintain board certification, and cultivate lifelong learning. CME will provide physicians with the opportunity to further develop their knowledge through individual and group learning activities. The Continuing Medical Education Committee will monitor the quality of all programs conducted by the AOCD.

Content Areas

The content of CME activities produced by the AOCD is determined and initiated by its members. The CME program approves the activities based upon needs assessment data to ensure that all offerings present current, state-of-the-art information. Specific areas of emphasis include:

1. State-of-the-art clinical information
2. Health systems administration
3. Public health issues
4. Educational methodology
5. Professionalism in medicine
6. Cultural proficiency

Target Audience

The primary target audience of the CME activities conducted by the AOCD are the dermatologist physician members. The program serves community physicians, volunteer clinical faculty, academic clinicians, and students affiliated with the AOCD. The program will also actively seek to broaden its audience through developing affiliations with CME providers on the national level.
Types of Activities
The core activities presented by the CME program are live conferences. The program actively encourages members to develop enduring materials as an evolving tool for continuing education. The program is committed to exploring the development of its capacity to expand resources in other educational techniques, including Web-based activities and point-of-care technologies.

Expected Results
As a result of participation in the AOCD Continuing Medical Education program, practicing clinicians will have access in obtaining assistance in the correction of outdated knowledge, the acquisition of new knowledge in specific areas, mastering of new skills, and the changing of attitudes or habits, etc. It is expected that attendees of this meeting will improve their diagnostic competence regarding a wide range of dermatologic conditions. In addition to increased diagnostic competence, enhanced concepts of therapy and treatment in dermatologic care will be gained for implementation in everyday practice. The overall result being improved physician/provider performance and increased positive patient outcomes.

These objectives will be achieved in a setting which is evidence-based, culturally sensitive, and free of commercial bias. The AOCD is committed to the practice of continuing program improvement. The AOCD will actively explore new educational technologies, develop collaborative relationships with other CME providers, and seek to build the capacity to evaluate competency-based outcomes among the clinicians we serve.

Accreditation:
The AOCD is accredited by the American Osteopathic Association.

Meeting Objectives:
The 2015 Fall Current Concepts in Dermatology Conference is a 3-day program designed to provide the practicing dermatologist with a comprehensive update on the diagnosis and treatment of a variety of conditions related to medical, surgical and appearance dermatology that face dermatologists on a daily basis. The conference agenda has been carefully developed to provide pearls of knowledge for daily use to the practicing dermatologist in an intimate environment designed to maximize faculty/registrant interactions. Through daily lectures, panels, live patient workshops, and question-and-answer sessions, the attendee will obtain practical and important information for use in their dermatology practice as there have been significant advances with regard to the diagnosis, management and treatment of dermatologic conditions. Updates for the Dermatologist are necessary in order to obtain optimal patient outcomes with patient safety first and foremost.

Needs Assessments:
The program was developed based upon the needs of physicians within the association identified through: (1) a program evaluation/survey provided to meeting participants at both our annual and midyear meeting, (2) recommendations received through the mail, email, or by phone, (3) recommendations from previous program chair, and (4) new advances in dermatologic treatment identified in major publications or research studies. The Board of Trustees also meets to discuss previous conferences and to provide additional topics and potential speaker contacts.

Faculty Disclosure:
As a sponsor accredited by the AOA, it is the policy of the AOCD to require the disclosure of anyone who is in a position to control the content of an educational activity. All relevant financial relationships with any commercial interests and/or manufacturers must be disclosed.
Disclosure of Commercial Support of CME:
As you undoubtedly know from the national media, there has been much discussion concerning the relationships between CME sponsors, faculty and commercial companies providing support of CME.

Both the American Osteopathic Association and the Committee on Continuing Medical Education have adopted regulations for ethical actions in this area which the American Osteopathic College of Dermatology endorse and have adopted for all our educational activities.

To comply with the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) Standards of Commercial Support on the need for disclosure and monitoring of proprietary and financial interests that may affect the scientific integrity and balance of content delivered in continuing medical education activities under our auspices, the American Osteopathic College of Dermatology (AOCD) requires that all CME certified activities be developed free from the control of a commercial interest and be balanced, objective, and scientifically rigorous. Anyone with the ability to affect the content of an educational activity must disclose relevant financial relationships with health organizations producing, marketing, re-selling, or distributing health care goods or services consumed by, or used on, patients. The AOCD will disclose faculty and commercial relationships at every meeting.

The views expressed and the techniques presented by the speakers of the AOCD-sponsored educational meetings are not necessarily shared or endorsed by the organization. Anyone with the ability to affect the content of an educational activity must disclose relevant financial relationships with health organizations producing, marketing, re-selling, or distributing health care goods or services consumed by, or used on, patients, as well as any unapproved or off-label uses of medical devices or pharmaceutical agents that they discuss, describe, or demonstrate during their presentations. Meeting attendees should use their independent judgment in applying the information discussed in these educational sessions in the treatment of patients.

Please be assured that having an affiliation with a company does not imply in any way that something is wrong or improper; however, we want to inform attendees that such a relationship exists.

Should you have any questions regarding the facilities, handouts, program content, or concerns about CME compliance with the AOA “Uniform Guidelines,” feel free to contact the AOCD representative:

Marsha A. Wise, BS
Executive Director
P.O. Box 7525
Kirksville, MO 63501
660-665-2184
800-449-2623

Unresolved issues regarding compliance with the AOA “Uniform Guidelines” can be brought to the attention of the AOA Division of CME by calling: 800-621-1773, or by writing: AOA CME Office 142 East Ontario Street, Chicago, IL 60611

Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.
