

YOUR REGISTRATION FEES AT WORK

The Pacific Division budgets to break even. A hotel room revenue rebate partly subsidizes graduate student travel. A portion of meeting income goes to the APA general fund to cover meeting-related costs and support association-level initiatives. Surpluses have been used for miniconferences and diversity-related projects.

We estimate that one in ten meeting attendees has not paid a registration fee, costing the division about $10,000 per year – money that would go to improved APA services and funding new initiatives to address challenges facing the profession.

Want a say in the running of the division and the APA? Got ideas for how to put on a better meeting? Come to the Business Meeting or talk to members of the Executive Committee.
