During the past year, the Committee on Non-Academic Careers has evaluated several options for contributing to our non-academic colleagues, and decided to create a resource toolkit for philosophers interested in non-academic careers. The toolkit will be aimed at undergraduates, hosted on the APA website (assuming the APA’s permission), and will contain interviews, resources, tips, and strategies. We welcome input from any undergrads or graduate students who would like to participate, provide feedback, or contribute technical skills.