

Geoffrey Sayre-McCord - singled out categories, beyond APA committees

1. Founding Director of the international Philosophy, Politics and Economics Society.
2. Co-Editor of NOÛS for five years, formerly an Assistant Editor for two journals, and currently a member of the editorial boards for six journals.
3. Started the UNC Philosophy Department's APA Award-Winning Outreach Program.
4. With Jan Boxill, and support from the Squire Family Foundation, established the National High School Ethics Bowl, which has its home and headquarters in the Parr Center for Ethics.
5. Organizer of many workshops and conferences, on metaethics, the history of philosophy, and PPE, over the years.
6. Taught and supervised several generations of graduate students, and taught his introduction to ethics course to well over 5,000 undergraduates (so far), winning many teaching awards over the years (including being selected as the Laurance S. Rockefeller Visiting Professor for Distinguished Teaching at Princeton University for 2015–16).
