

Duncan Clark Awardee

Lloyd F. Novick, MD, MPH

2004

Lloyd F. Novick is Professor and Chair of the Department of Public Health at the Brody School of Medicine, East Carolina University. He has served as the Commissioner of Health and Secretary for Human Services of Vermont, Director of Health Services for Arizona and Director of the Office of Public Health for New York State.

Previous academic positions include Professor and Director of the Preventive Medicine Program for SUNY Upstate Medical University, Professor and Chair of Epidemiology at the University of Albany School of Public Health, and Clinical Professor and Director of the Teaching Program in Epidemiology and Public Health at the University of Vermont, College of Medicine.

He is editor of the Journal of Public Health Management and Practice. He is also founding editor of the leading text Public Health Administration: Principles for Population-Based Management and editor of four other books including: Public Health Issues in Disaster Preparedness; Community-Based Prevention Programs that Work; Public Health Leaders Tell Their Stories; and Health Problems in the Prison Setting. He is past president of the Association of Teachers of Prevention and Research (APTR) and the Association of State and Territorial Health Officials (ASTHO).