The Finance Department in the Whitman School of Management at Syracuse University invites applications for a full-time renewable non-tenure track position in Real Estate at the rank of Professor of Practice, beginning in July 2023. The selected candidate will teach undergraduate and graduate-level courses and manage the Kuhn Real Estate Center. The Real Estate program has seen notable growth in recent years and is becoming a source of potential distinctive excellence for the Whitman School. The highly-resourced Kuhn Center leads student-oriented activities and experiential and industry-focused learning experiences for Real Estate students. The successful candidate for this position will be in a strong position to lead the growth and further development of the Kuhn Center in conjunction with a highly dedicated alumni base, strong industry connections in NYC and elsewhere, an advisory board, and growing student demand. This position will also offer the opportunity to assist in curriculum development in Real Estate and collaborate with other individuals and programs at Syracuse University interested in Real Estate. There are staff at the Whitman School dedicated to supporting the success of the individual in this role, including in areas related to marketing communications, corporate relations, and experiential programs.

Qualifications

- The successful candidate for this position will have a proven record of excellence in Real Estate, including demonstrated set of industry contacts, the ability to work well with others, and the development of innovative ideas for growth. A graduate degree in Real Estate or a related field is required. Candidates with prior teaching experience, especially in Real Estate, will be strongly preferred.
- Candidates will be evaluated according to the quality of academic preparation and industry experience, teaching ability as well as the potential to manage, promote and expand a student-focused academic center. The Whitman School is seeking candidates whose teaching and impressive professional background and experience have prepared them to contribute to the School's and the University's strategic commitments to diversity, equity, inclusion, and accessibility.

Job Specific Qualifications

- Completed graduate degree and professional certifications in Real Estate or related field.
- Substantial professional experience and industry contacts in Real Estate, with a preference for network and experience in NYC.
- Potential for high-quality teaching and managing a student-oriented academic center. -- Ability and willingness to contribute to service-related initiatives and organizational leadership in the Real Estate area.
- Collegial, with strong verbal and communication skills, interpersonal skills to work well with students, faculty, and alumni, and with a proclivity for problem-solving and innovation.
- Must be comfortable working with students of diverse backgrounds, including international students.

Responsibilities
- Teach courses at both undergraduate and graduate levels.
- Manage the Kuhn Real Estate Center, emphasizing a set of student-oriented activities, a mandate to develop new student-oriented programming with alumni and industry, and promote the Kuhn Center activities across Whitman and Syracuse University, as well as with industry partners and alumni.

About Syracuse University
Syracuse University is a private, international research university with distinctive academics, diversely unique offerings and an undeniable spirit. Located in the geographic heart of New York State, with a global footprint, and nearly 150 years of history, Syracuse University offers a quintessential college experience.

The scope of Syracuse University is a testament to its strengths: a pioneering history dating back to 1870; a choice of more than 200 majors and 100 minors offered through 13 schools and colleges; nearly 15,000 undergraduates and 5,000 graduate students; more than a quarter of a million alumni in 160 countries; and a student population from all 50 U.S. states and 123 countries. For more information, please visit www.syracuse.edu.

About the Syracuse area
Syracuse is a medium-sized city situated in the geographic center of New York State approximately 250 miles northwest of New York City. The metro-area population totals approximately 500,000. The area offers a low cost of living and provides many social, cultural, and recreational options, including parks, museums, festivals, professional regional theater, and premier shopping venues. Syracuse and Central New York present a wide range of seasonal recreation and attractions ranging from water skiing and snow skiing, hiking in the Adirondacks, touring the historic sites, visiting wineries along the Finger Lakes, and biking on trails along the Erie Canal.

EEO Statement
Syracuse University is an equal-opportunity, affirmative-action institution. The University prohibits discrimination and harassment based on race, color, creed, religion, sex, gender, national origin, citizenship, ethnicity, marital status, age, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity and gender expression, veteran status, or any other status protected by applicable law to the extent prohibited by law. This nondiscrimination policy covers admissions, employment, and access to and treatment in University programs, services, and activities.

Commitment to Supporting and Hiring Veterans
Syracuse University has a long history of engaging veterans and the military-connected community through its educational programs, community outreach, and employment programs. After World War II, Syracuse University welcomed more than 10,000 returning veterans to our campus, and those veterans literally transformed Syracuse University into the national research institution it is today. The University’s contemporary commitment to veterans builds on this historical legacy, and extends to both class-leading initiatives focused on making an SU degree accessible and affordable to the post-9/11 generation of veterans, and also programs designed to position Syracuse University as the employer of choice for military veterans, members of the Guard and Reserve, and military family members.

Commitment to a Diverse and Inclusive Campus Community
Syracuse University maintains an inclusive learning environment in which students, faculty, administrators, staff, curriculum, social activities, governance, and all other aspects of campus life reflect a diverse, multi-cultural, and international worldview. The University community recognizes and values the many similarities and differences among individuals and groups. At Syracuse, we are committed to preparing students to understand, live among, appreciate, and work in an inherently diverse country and world made up of people with different ethnic and racial backgrounds, military backgrounds, religious beliefs, socio-economic status, cultural traditions, abilities, sexual orientations and gender identities. To do so, we commit ourselves to promoting a community that celebrates and models the principles of diversity and inclusivity.
