Brookfield Centre in Real Estate & Infrastructure, Schulich School of Business, York University

The Brookfield Centre in Real Estate & Infrastructure, Schulich School of Business, York University invites applications for a professorial stream tenure-track appointment in Infrastructure at the Assistant Professor level, to commence July 1, 2020. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. All York University positions are subject to budgetary approval.

The Brookfield Centre has established a global leadership role for the Schulich School of Business School in the expanding and evolving fields of real estate and infrastructure, and the increasingly important intersections between them. Located in Toronto, Canada’s largest city, it supports an MBA specialization, a one-year Master of Real Estate and Infrastructure (MREI), and the Sustainable Infrastructure Fellowship program held in partnership with a consortium of global institutional investors. Toronto is a dynamic, diverse metro area playing an increasingly important role on the global stage as a vital hub for finance and technology. It is home to some of the largest real estate and infrastructure investment firms in the world, including many of Canada’s major pension funds that are innovators and leaders in global real asset investment.

A Ph.D. (or a Ph.D. near completion by the start of the appointment) is required. Candidates must show excellence or promise of excellence in teaching, scholarly research and publication and service. We are seeking an individual with a proven track record of outstanding teaching at the graduate and executive education levels as well as impactful applied research and strong industry engagement. While the primary focus of this appointment is infrastructure, the candidate must also be capable of teaching courses in real estate. Preference will be given to those applicants who also have relevant industry experience, a global perspective and a proven ability to link theory and practice. A legal background and familiarity with structuring transactions and private infrastructure investments is preferred. Applicants should have an ongoing program of research and specialize in one or more of the following areas: the infrastructure investment, finance and development field broadly defined, infrastructure as part of the broader real asset class, partnership models from legal and transactional perspectives and business models associated with infrastructure investment and operation. An active record of research accomplishments including conference presentations, working papers and published papers in recognized journals in their field is strongly preferred. The successful candidate must be suitable for prompt appointment to the Faculty of Graduate Studies. The position will involve graduate teaching and supervision. Pedagogical innovation in high priority areas such as experiential education and technology enhanced learning is preferred.

York University has a policy on Accommodation in Employment for Persons with Disabilities and is committed to working towards a barrier-free workplace and to expanding the accessibility of the workplace to persons with disabilities. Candidates who require accommodation during the selection process are invited to contact Jim Clayton, Director of the Brookfield Centre and Chair of the Search Committee at jclayton@schulich.yorku.ca. York University is an Affirmative Action (AA) employer and strongly values diversity, including gender and sexual diversity, within its community. The AA Program, which applies to women, members of visible minorities (racialized groups), Aboriginal (Indigenous) people and persons with disabilities, can be found at www.yorku.ca/acadjobs or by calling the AA line at 416-736-5713. Applicants wishing to self-identify as part of York University’s Affirmative Action program can do so by downloading, completing and submitting the form found at: http://acadjobs.info.yorku.ca/affirmative-action/self-identification-form. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens, permanent residents and Indigenous peoples in Canada will be given priority. No application will be considered without a completed mandatory Work Status Declaration form which can be found at http://acadjobs.info.yorku.ca/affirmative-action/work-authorization-form.

The deadline for receipt of completed applications is November 1, 2019. A letter of application with an up-to-date curriculum vitae, a statement of research and teaching interests, three letters of reference and teaching evaluations should be sent to: Professor Jim Clayton, Director of the Brookfield Centre in Real Estate & Infrastructure, G339...