The Malvern Daily Record is seeking an experienced journalist and editor to manage our five-day newsroom. Candidates should possess a bachelor’s degree in mass communication, journalism or related field, plus at least three years of experience in a daily newspaper environment. Previous experience as an editor is a plus, but we will train the right community-minded person. This is a hands-on management position requiring regular story writing and work beyond 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Must love small town news and value our readers. With proficiency in AP Style and InDesign, you can hit the ground running. Send cover letter, resume and clips to: Ronna Pennington, Interim Editor, Malvern Daily Record, 219 Locust Street, Malvern, AR 72104; email to: mdrecord@sbcglobal.net. (5)

The El Dorado News-Times is looking for someone capable of wearing more than one hat. This opportunity requires experience in using Adobe InDesign as well as good basic editing and proofreading skills. Writing and reporting ability is a big plus. We doubt you would ever get bored with this job because it is such an integral part of our news team operation and very important in making certain that news pages are properly designed and that content is appropriate and accurate. Also involved will be work with the newspaper’s website and social media. Features and some assignment work will be a part of the responsibilities for this position as well. Both night and daytime schedules are involved with this position and candidates will need to be able to work the schedule needed each week. This position will report to the managing editor. The News-Times is a member of a media company with newspapers in three states, so if you are looking for a chance to grow in your career, this could be a good place to start. We offer a competitive salary for this position plus a 401-k plan, profit sharing and provide access to health insurance plus paid vacation and holidays. We are a 7-day community daily newspaper located in South Arkansas with a bustling downtown rich in arts, entertainment and cultural events. To apply, send your resume and a letter about yourself and why you think you would be a good fit for this position to Ronnie Bell at rbell@eldoradonews.com or mail to El Dorado News-Times, P.O. Box 912, El Dorado, AR 71731. (2)

The Virginia Press Association (VPA) seeks a dynamic leader to chart our course for the future. Anticipating the retirement of our long-time executive director, we’re searching for a trailblazer to build on past success, while addressing the challenges facing our members in the 21st century. The next executive director will help define and implement VPA’s mission in a changing business environment. The candidate will work with the board, full-time staff, members, and others to create new opportunities for growth. This position will require detailed business planning skills, goal-setting, establishing measurable objectives, accurate cost estimates, and task deadlines. Duties include: member relations, engagement and development; government relations and lobbying; sales, marketing and fundraising; community and industry relations; public speaking; programming and event planning; staff, P&L and administrative management. Meaningful experience in each is a job requirement, as are strong communication skills, superior organizational ability, and professional polish. We will show preference to candidates with a background in journalism and media issues, association management, or government relations. If interested, please send cover letter, resume and salary history and expectations to Marisa Porto, president, VPA Board of Directors, at mporto@dailypress.com by March 15. (6)

The Arkansas Press Association will assist you with your job search or with filling a staff vacancy. Just email your ad to Tres Williams (tres@arkansaspress.org) or fax it to 501.374.7509. Ads are run for six weeks free for APA members and students, and only $20 for four weeks for non-members. This is an excellent opportunity to get your qualifications out to 124 newspapers.

Arkansas law wisely requires public notices to be printed in your newspaper to let you know about things that affect you in your home, neighborhood, city and state.

Your right to know about the activities of government and private entities is safeguarded in the public notice section of your newspaper. And, now the newspapers of Arkansas have gone one step further, banding together to create a searchable database of public notices at:

The Sheridan Headlight is looking to hire a full-time reporter to help us cover the growing city of Sheridan and the outlying areas of Grant County. The successful candidate will become our general interest reporter, covering a wide variety of stories, from fast-breaking news stories to human interest features, to evening city, county and school board meetings. We are a weekly paper, but we value well-written and researched stories that make our paper a must-read. If you are looking to gain valuable experience while working with editors who have decades of experience, send us a cover letter, your resume and references. Email resume to info@thesheridanheadlight.com or mail to P.O. Box 539, Sheridan, AR 72150, Attn: Millie McClain. (1)

The Starkville Daily News is seeking an energetic and passionate reporter to cover community news, breaking news and various other topics. The Daily News is a seven day publication, reaching more than 8,000 residents with our daily edition. The ideal candidate will work directly with editor and other reporters in a team environment. While some story ideas will be provided, reporters are expected to generate copious amounts of copy on strict deadline and, at some points, under little supervision. We will consider both experienced and entry-level candidates, as long as you are committed to generating news copy and getting the facts. During the week, reporters are required to attend municipal meetings, school board meetings, planning/zoning board meetings and other meetings during the evening hours. Each reporter is assigned to a particular beat and should be familiar with all happenings in their assigned communities and the Golden Triangle Area. Reporters are required to take photographs of events being covered along with other center piece photos to be used in the daily edition. Candidates with their own camera equipment is a plus, but not required. This is not a 9-5 job as breaking news can happen at any moment and anywhere.

Requirements:
• Bachelor’s Degree in Journalism, Communication, English or other related field.
• Must be able to work flexible hours, including evenings, weekends and holidays.
• Must possess excellent writing and communication skills, strong knowledge of grammar, spelling and AP Style.
• Candidates must have reliable transportation and a cell phone.
• Knowledge of Indesign, Photoshop and Internet programs a must.

To be considered for this position, candidates must follow the following instructions: Send resume, writing/photo samples and cover letter to the Editor. Explain in your cover letter why you want the reporter position and what makes you the ideal candidate for the position. Contact: Jim Gaines, Editor, Starkville Daily News, P.O. Box 1068, Starkville, Ms. 39760, email: editor@starkvilledailynews.com. (1)

The Starkville Daily News is seeking an energetic and passionate reporter to cover community news, breaking news and various other topics. The Daily News is a seven day publication, reaching more than 8,000 residents with our daily edition. The ideal candidate will work directly with editor and other reporters in a team environment. While some story ideas will be provided, reporters are expected to generate copious amounts of copy on strict deadline and, at some points, under little supervision. We will consider both experienced and entry-level candidates, as long as you are committed to generating news copy and getting the facts. During the week, reporters are required to attend municipal meetings, school board meetings, planning/zoning board meetings and other meetings during the evening hours. Each reporter is assigned to a particular beat and should be familiar with all happenings in their assigned communities and the Golden Triangle Area. Reporters are required to take photographs of events being covered along with other center piece photos to be used in the daily edition. Candidates with their own camera equipment is a plus, but not required. This is not a 9-5 job as breaking news can happen at any moment and anywhere.

Requirements:
- Bachelor’s Degree in Journalism, Communications, English or other related field.
- Must be able to work flexible hours, including evenings, weekends and holidays.
- Must possess excellent writing and communication skills, strong knowledge of grammar, spelling and AP Style.
- Candidates must have reliable transportation and a cell phone.
- Knowledge of Indesign, Photoshop and Internet programs a must.

To be considered for this position, candidates must follow the following instructions: Send resume, writing/photo samples and cover letter to the Editor. Explain in your cover letter why you want the reporter position and what makes you the ideal candidate for the position. Contact: Jim Gaines, Editor, Starkville Daily News, P.O. SPORTS EDITOR

The Mena Star, a weekly community newspaper covering the historic and picturesque Polk County, Arkansas, is seeking a talented sports writer/staff reporter who would like to take the helm of their own section as Sports Editor. In addition to our weekly printed product we also have various other news and sports mediums in both print and online. The Sports Editor will cover three local high school sports programs and community youth sports, will be able to connect with coaches, write clean and interesting copy and develop game stories and feature articles on everything from football to disc golf. Experience with Macintosh, Quark and Adobe Photoshop helpful. College degree preferred but not required. All associated work experience considered. The ability to catch eyes and tell stories through words and layout a must. Based in the beautiful Ouachita Mountains, Mena offers a quaint slice of Americana and football-loving populace surrounded by an outdoorsman’s dream landscape. A true Sportsman’s paradise where locals boat, fish, hunt, hike and kayak in their spare time in the laid-back atmosphere. To apply, please send your resume, cover letter and work samples to clark@menastar.com. (1)

MANAGING EDITOR

The Banner-News of Magnolia is looking for a managing editor. The right candidate will have at least two years experience in daily newspapers, be familiar with Associated Press style, digital photography, and at least a working knowledge of InDesign and Photoshop. The candidate will cover City Hall, school board and economic development, as well as a variety of night events and photography is required. Management of three reporters; page design of the daily newspaper; assigning and editing stories, and managing digital platforms (including web site and Facebook) are part of the duties of this position. Supervisory experience is preferred. The right candidate will have a bachelors degree in journalism or related field. Submit resume and salary history to Sue Silliman, Magnolia Banner News P.O. Box 100, Magnolia, Arkansas 71753 or email them to ssilliman@camdenarknews.com. (3)

FULL-TIME REPORTER

The Jonesboro Sun is seeking a self-motivated, determined applicant to fill an open full-time reporter position. This position will include general assignment reporting duties as well as beat-specific responsibilities. This position requires coverage of some night meetings. While a bachelor’s degree — preferably in journalism or communications — is preferred, it is not a requirement if the candidate has prior reporting experience at a daily or weekly newspaper or media outlet. The Jonesboro Sun, which publishes mornings seven days a week, offers competitive pay with benefits, including vacation time, health insurance and a matching 401k retirement plan. Jonesboro is a thriving city with a population of about 75,000 in Northeast Arkansas and is home to Arkansas State University, which has a main campus enrollment of about 13,200. To apply, send a cover letter, resume, examples of work and three references to: Chris Wessel, editor, at cwessel@jonesborosun.com or 518 Carson St., Jonesboro, Ark. 72401. (5)

Managing Editor

The death of our managing editor has created an open position at The Ashley News Observer in Crossett, Arkansas. We seek a community newspaper editor, or experienced reporter who is ready to move up. While we emphasize print, we seek a person well versed in the electronic world. Local news is not only our emphasis, it is our life. This position is well suited for a working ME who can report, edit, photograph, and design while representing the newspaper well in the community. Good benefits, great work environment, and opportunity await you. Please send resume, clips, and a cover letter telling us why we need each other. Contact Barney White, publisher, at bwhite@ashleynewsobserver.com. (3)

Reporter

The Advance-Monticellonian, a weekly newspaper located in Monticello, Ark., a growing, family oriented community in Southeast Arkansas, is looking for an energetic, organized, proven reporter to join its newsroom. The ideal candidate must be a creative, solid writer; attention to detail; and flexible enough to help with Web and design duties. Experience with photography, video and social networking are a plus. Knowing the people and having connections in Southeast Arkansas is also a bonus. There will also be opportunities to write for annual magazines and special sections. The pay is negotiable and based on abilities and experience. Other benefits — like health insurance — are included. If you want to be part of an energetic, growing news enterprise and live in a beautiful part of Arkansas, send your resume and writing clips to Publisher Tom White at publisher@monticellonews.net. COMMUNITY NEWS REPORTER

The Pine Bluff Commercial is searching for a community news reporter with digital savvy and a desire to get involved in his/her beat. The reporter must be comfortable with a range of story materials, from feel-good features to the gritty sides of politics, courts and business. The reporter must have a digital-first mentality, engaging readers with timely reporting and social media. Developing relationships within the community will be crucial. They should be able to recognize you before long — it’s not a desk job. While you will work with editors and photographers, you will be independent in your pursuit of story ideas and sources. This is a full-time position with full benefits and is based in Pine Bluff, Ark. Experience with digital cameras, video and social media platforms is a must. Candidates should have a bachelor’s degree in journalism, communications, writing or comparable field. To apply, submit a cover letter, resume and three writing samples — as well as any photo samples — to Managing Editor John Worthen at jworthen@pbcommercial.com. (5)

The El Dorado News-Times, a community daily newspaper located in South Arkansas is seeking an experienced leader to manage and direct our circulation and distribution operations. We are looking for someone to roll up their sleeves and be proactive in developing plans and strategies to grow our home delivery and single copy numbers. El Dorado is one of the most exciting places to be in Arkansas right now with a vibrant downtown, thriving arts scene and well known world class entertainment coming our way. The city currently has an entertainment district underway that will feature a live performance amphitheater, as well as two indoor live entertainment venues. Also, part of the plan calls for an art gallery and children’s outdoor play area. Two brand new hotels are under construction, with a third on the way. Simply put — there’s a lot going on in El Dorado and that means much to report on which translates into well received coverage. If you believe you are that person write me a letter telling me why and include your resume. We are looking for someone who knows how to translate all these assets into circulation growth. You will have a front office staff of four to work with and a good crew in the mailroom for distribution support. All we need is a person ready to lead and direct them to success. If you believe you are that person write me a letter telling me why and include your resume. Email them to Ronnie Bell at rbell@eldoradonews.com or send via U.S. Mail to Ronnie Bell, El Dorado News-Times, P.O. Box 912, El Dorado, AR 71731. We offer competitive compensation including bonus opportunities, paid vacation, paid holidays, 401-k, group insurance and profit sharing. (1)

CIRCULATION MANAGER

The El Dorado News-Times, a community daily newspaper located in South Arkansas is seeking an experienced leader to manage and direct our circulation and distribution operations. We are looking for someone to roll up their sleeves and be proactive in developing plans and strategies to grow our home delivery and single copy numbers. El Dorado is one of the most exciting places to be in Arkansas right now with a vibrant downtown, thriving arts scene and well known world class entertainment coming our way. The city currently has an entertainment district underway that will feature a live performance amphitheater, as well as two indoor live entertainment venues. Also, part of the plan calls for an art gallery and children’s outdoor play area. Two brand new hotels are under construction, with a third on the way. Simply put — there’s a lot going on in El Dorado and that means much to report on which translates into well received quality newspapers produced every day. For a town of just under 20,000 people, it’s an impressive place with a couple of Fortune 500 companies located here. We are looking for someone who knows how to translate these assets into circulation growth. You will have a front office staff of four to work with and a good crew in the mailroom for distribution support. All we need is a person ready to lead and direct them to success. If you believe you are that person write me a letter telling me why and include your resume. Email them to Ronnie Bell at rbell@eldoradonews.com or send via U.S. Mail to Ronnie Bell, El Dorado News-Times, P.O. Box 912, El Dorado, AR 71731. We offer competitive compensation including bonus opportunities, paid vacation, paid holidays, 401k, group insurance and profit sharing. (6)

GENERAL ASSIGNMENT REPORTER

Do you love community journalism? If so, we’re looking for you! The El Dorado News-Times is seeking a newspaper reporter who writes concisely and clearly, can develop relationships with sources, and has an ability to take initiative. This position will be general assignment, and responsibilities will include writing, taking photos, and some pagination, so In-Design skills are a plus. The El Dorado News-Times is a daily newspaper publishing 7 days a week, located in southern Arkansas. The News-Times is the award-winning news leader for the ArkLaMiss region. We are working to develop our digital culture, with a focus on local content and what’s of interest to our readership. Both experienced journalists and new journalists are welcome to apply. Writing samples and photos from college papers are welcome. We will offer training to the right person. New journalists should include GPA information. Your Newspaper and You

Arkansas law wisely requires public notices to be printed in your newspaper to let you know about things that affect you in your home, neighborhood, city and state.

Your Newspaper and the Web

Your right to know about the activities of government and private entities is safeguarded in the public notice section of your newspaper. And, now the newspapers of Arkansas have gone one step further, banding together to create a searchable database of public notices at: PublicNoticeAds.com/AR
