Our 2021 Art Curators Conference will be held entirely on a virtual platform, with panels, keynotes, and workshops, alongside networking and socializing opportunities. The Conference will be held on Socio, a vibrant platform presenting unique opportunities to interact with our audience.

Panels will investigate the appropriation of Native American and First Nation cultures, the identity of Islamic art, loss of self and history in assimilation, and a culture of silence within the curatorial community. We will also have a special feature program on current issues in African Art, and a workshop on active allyship. Keynote speakers include: Elizabeth Alexander, President, The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation and Mabel O. Wilson, Nancy and George Rupp Professor of Architecture, Planning and Preservation, Professor in African American and African Diasporic Studies, Director of the Institute for Research in African American Studies, Columbia University, Suanya Raffel, Museum Director, M+ of West Kowloon Cultural District Authority, and Dr. Porchia Moore, Department Head and Assistant Professor of Museum Studies, University of Florida. In addition to large content elements, we will engage in social elements allowing for more intimate connections.

With 1,300 members from 25 countries on 5 continents, the Association of Art Museum Curators (AAMC) & AAMC Foundation is the organization for all nonprofit curators and our conference is the only of its kind.

Supporting the Art Curators Conference brings you direct contact and connection with the leading curators of today and tomorrow. Our audience recognizes those that are dedicated to the curatorial profession and your sponsorship of the most important conference in the field will be noticed. We anticipate a large gathering of curators from around the world to join us, and we hope you will too.

About Us

We celebrate the curatorial narrative by supporting and promoting the work of art curators at all stages in their career through opportunities for networking, collaboration, professional development, and career advancement. In the ever-changing, non-profit visual art world, the AAMC Foundation is the voice for all curators—regardless of field, experience level, and institutional type. It ensures that the curatorial perspective on art, museums, and educational issues is actively communicated to the public, media, and museum profession.
